It is not surprising to read that one May 21. religious denomination has gone on record as opposed to the interchurch world movement. It is our opinion that the affair will soon fizzle out. for different religious denominations don't remain long hitched up tomoney it is aiming to obtain from the people to carry on the work.

The Swedish mission is another religious organization that has taken a crack at the law in regard to foreign language newspapers. It is our opinion that the law should remain in full force, and if those who want to had better get back to their own country and do so there. Most of us know to what extent German propaganda was carried on in foreign language newspapers, and this is sufficient reason why the law should re-

Funny, isn't it. Much to do was made because State Treasurer Hoff make quite a little stake. It is now proposed to change the plans and make the governor, secretary of state and the state treasurer a board to control investment. But the governor is now holding down two of these offices, and if the plan carries the governor will be "It", instead of the at the expense of the property, and

What's the matter with Oregon, anyway, or what's the matter with the governor, that this state of affairs have existed for so long? Perhaps the Oregonian can lighten us, for there must be some reason why the governor hangs on to two public offices like grim death.

We had hoped that the primary nominating election would have passed off without any friction or bad feeling between classes, candidates, or sections of the county, but, unfortunatedly, during the past few weeks political liars have been at work creating hostile feeling. In doing so they have violated the corrupt practies act and ,in our judgment, it calls for a grand jury investigation. We are glad to say that the Headlight has not said a word to injure the reputations of characters of the republican candidates, for the people's choice will be our choice. There is one thing we want to call attention of the citizens to. As we view the stituation, the election to-morrow will show conclusively to what extent the timber and lumbering interest have taken an active part in the election, and whether this is not another wedge for those interests to obtain control of the county affairs.

They do it differently in Tillamook, that is, partly. A man who, said to have been intoxicated, ran over and killed another, was fined $500 and paroled for eight years, which may be termed severe punishment.-Ore-

Probably we do things a little differently in this neck of the woods to what they do in other parts of the state, but we want to say we generally do them right. Maybe, it aldn't be a bad idea for the Oregonian to send a representative over to this progressive and interesting count county to ascertain how our different methods are better than PRIMARY NOMINATING than some of the mossback counties of the Willamette valley, for when Tillamookers get together to accomplish anything they are generally successful, to-wit: the cheese industry and the part it played in putting over the Roosevelt Highway measure.

So far, only one argument has been made against the bill for the propection of higher education in Oregon, -the fact that it will, add From all indications, the Johnson $1.26 to the taxes on each $1000 of faction is now spending a pile of the assessed valuation. Taxes do seem high at this time, and the taxpayer's cries are natural. Neverthe If President Wilson is foolish less the place to reduce taxes is not enough to think that he is going to in education. The man who has pay get Senator Chamberlain's "goat" at $18 for shoes and 25c a pound for the primary election tomorrow he is sugar ought not to take out his grievgoing to be badly disappointed. ELECTION ON FRIDAY

Very Little Interest Taken in Local Candidates

The primary nominating election for Oregon will take place to-morrow (Friday) and from all appearance there is very little interest taken in the election, for it seems that people are too busy and interested in their own affairs to bother, and for that reason it is thought there will be a

From all indications it looks as if General Wood will carry the state for president, and having a large following in this county he will pull a good vote here.

The Democratic party is only taking an active part in the "higher up" offices, for it seems that the democratic party is just kept together for the purpose of electing a few demo-
