An immense caterpillar tractor weighing 15 tons is being used to haul the gravel from the creek, which is a distance of three or four miles. This tractor is the last word in efficiency as it weights about twice as much as ordinary rollers, thus crushing the rocks and smoothing the road as it goes. It also makes three trips a day at a cost of twenty dollars which is the same amount that a truck costs. And, while a truck can can only haul 42 yards a day, this outfit can haul all the way from one hundred to one hundred and twentyfive yards a day. The gravel is put in cars, which have a capacity of seven yards each, and they are going to have six cars in all, when everything is in running order. Mr. Ayer is also in charge of the work there. If you go down there perhaps Mr. Stiverson, who operates the "cat' will let you ride on it, and perhaps he will let you run it also. The writer had these privileges, also a pair of very dirty hands at the end of the ride

One thing that we noticed all the way down and back, and that was a condition that shouldn't be, but it eems as if it is the glory of all truck drivers to load on four or five thousand feet of lumber and then come gaily on to town, regardless of how much it tears up the road. When such heavy loads are placed on narrowe tired trucks it is impossible to keep from injuring the road to a great extent. It seems as if the truck drivers would be the very ones to want good roads, but the conditions will have to change a great deal on their part, or the roads will always be below par.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Skit Given by '26 Class of Tillamook High School

Last Wednesday the Senior class featured a short vaudeville at the Gem Theatre. As was prophesied the class displayed real talent. The plot was centered around a seemingly insignificant but very important note which was sent to the wrong young man and a general tumult followed. Betty Lantz and Harry Elliott were thoroughly enjoyed as the heroine and hero of the play. Cora Oliver was unusually fine as Mrs. Alicia oxe Wavs

After a loud call for a gas mask we rushed over to the Courthouse to find out what was up, and upon arriving at the County Clerk's office, we found to our surprise that Ike Wells was standing there receiving an enormous check for having killed a cougar, and that the pelt of said cougar was in a sack on the floor. Hence the smell. Roy Andrus, who lives up Trask river, near the John Childers' place had been missing his goats, and found that a cougar had devoured about sixteen of them.
