

The World's Largest Tire Factory

Building 30x3, 30x3½ and 31x4-inch Tires

Owners of the smaller cars can enjoy the same high relative value in Goodyear Tires that gives utmost satisfaction to owners of big, costly motor carriages.

They can take advantage of that tremendous amount of equipment, skill and care employed by Goodyear to build tires of extraordinary worth in the 30 x 3-, 30 x 3½-, and 31 x 4-inch sizes.

They can secure these tires without waiting, despite the enormous demand, because, in addition to its larger sizes, Goodyear builds an average of 20,000 a day in the world's largest tire factory devoted to the three sizes mentioned.

If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or any other car using one of these sizes, go to the nearest Goodyear Service Station Dealer for Goodyear Tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

30x3½ Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread..... $23.50

30x3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread..... $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are thick, strong tubes that reinforce casings properly. Why risk a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of less merit. 30x3½ size in water-proof bag..... $4.50

Electrical Engineer a Visitor.

M. Vestal, an electrical engineer from San Francisco was in Tillamook last week. He said he had been in Oregon about two weeks and had heard that Tillamook was such an interesting place, and that it was such a beautiful trip over the mountains that he decided to come over and see for himself. He says that his expectations were more than fulfilled, and that he found hunting and fishing great.

Mr. Vestal talked very interestingly of his trip throughout the Western states, and told some very interesting things about Arizona, in particular. He said that there had been five inches of rain there this year, which was the heaviest rainfall in fifteen years, the average being from two to three inches. Flowers have sprung up all over the desert, conforming in into a veritable garden of Eden. It seems rather strange that those seeds would germinate, after having lain dormant for fifteen years, but there had not been sufficient rainfall for them to grow again since that time. He said that he and his companions had found a species of the orchid, or a sort of pitcher plant that lures insects by means of its fragrance and then coats the victim with a sort of sticky substance which makes escape impossible. The plant then consumes the insect as food. They found a live bee in one of these plants, and liberated it. After they had returned to California they were talking to a professor in the California University about it, who said that he would have given them one hundred dollars for the specimen, as he had been trying for the last twenty years to find just such a case where the insect was still alive, as he wished to find out whether the fluid secreted by the plant really stupefied the insect, or whether the tentacles of the plant prevented its escape. This would be a good way for naturalists to get rich, to hunt for live bees in that particular plant in Arizona.

Just think what is going to happen to the d. o. p. when all the energy Republicans have been dividing in the presidential nominating campaign is turned full force on the common enemy!

Coaxing You to Smile.

Husbands
 Visitor—And how is your newly married daughter?
 Mrs. Brown—Oh, she's nicely, thank you. She finds her husband a bit dull; but then, as I tell her, the good 'uns are dull.

Up to Date if Nothing Else
 Fortune had dawned for him at last; he was rich. With tears of joy in his eyes he rushed to the wife of his bosom and told her the news.
 "We will move to a better house," he finished; "you, my dear, will be able to have some decent clothes at last."
 "I'll do nothing of the sort!" retorted the lady sharply. "I'll get the same kind that other women are wearing!"

The High Cost of Language
 "Hey Bill!"
 "What is it?"
 "Your doctor's out here with a flat tire."
 "Diagnose the case as fluency of the perimeter, and charge him accordingly," ordered the garage man.
 "That's the way he does biz."

His Only Fear.
 "Have you ever thought of going on a strike?"
 "Never," replied Senator Sorghum.
 "The only thing I have ever feared in connection with my job is a lock-out."

Fool Proof
 "Henry, an agent came to the house this morning with a new brand of can-opener to sell."
 "Well?"
 "He said it was fool-proof."
 "Ah! That's pretty good. Any brainless woman can use it, eh?"
 "Perhaps. But the point he made was that husbands who open cans for their wives can do so without cutting their fingers, spilling the oilcloth on the kitchen table, splattering the walls with gore and shocking the neighbors with profanity."

Pecuniary Problems
 "Are you going to take any boarders this summer?"
 "No," replied Farmer Cornstossel.
 Everything the boarders eat goes up in value so much that we feel we could have done better if we had let 'em stay in town and pay the market prices."

The Woman Juror
 "Madam, why can't you serve on this jury?"
 "Why, Judge, I have a bridge engagement this afternoon."
 And she said it so positively that the Judge subsided.

Just a Step
 "Tis but a step from the sublime to the ridiculous."
 "Yes, that's just the distance between the minuet and one of these outlandish new trots."

He was in Doubt
 Jenkins was sitting down to breakfast one morning, when he was astounded to see in the paper an announcement of his own death. He rang up friend Smith at once. "Hallo, Smith!" he said. "Have you seen the announcement of my death in paper?" "Yes, replied Smith. "Where are you speaking from?"

Not Yet Hardened
 "Will you allow me to step into your office a moment?" said the man who was buying gasoline at a service station.
 "Why, certainly," replied the gasoline merchant. "You look upset. Anything wrong?"
 "Not particularly. I noticed my grocer coming down the street, I'm three months behind with my bill and I lack the gall of some people. I can't snap my fingers at my grocer and go right on indulging in a luxury I can't afford."

Not So Careful Now
 Red—You know men change as the years go by.
 Green—What now?
 "Why I remember the time when Black wouldn't kill a flea."
 "Now he's gone and bought an automobile."

The Only Safe Place
 "Why," asked a Missouri paper, "does Missouri stand at the head in raising mules?"
 "Because," answers another paper, "that is the only safe place to stand."

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge has read in the Senate press dispatch from Paris concerning the interallied financial conference which has been called by the league of nations to meet in Brussels at the end of May. In commenting upon it, he stated: "It is admitted by both the English and the French authorities that there is going to be an effort to amend the league, if it needs amendment, to form a combination for taking care of the war debts by a pool. They failed to do it in the treaty. They are now going to make another effort. We shall be brought face to face with it. Of course, not being in the league, we shall not be rendered liable unless we voluntarily join in a treaty to pool all debts. It is to my mind a very great danger to the whole American people. If we should be drawn into such a treaty it would mean a burden of taxation which it would be difficult to estimate."

The paper money of the world has increased since the war began from seven billions to fifty-one billions exclusive of the bolshevist currency, which aggregates thirty-four billions. Now is the time for Col. Bryan to rise up and point with pride.

The Point that Strikes You about this Stradivara Talking Machine is its exquisite tone and elegant appearance. Some phonographs have tone without artistic finish; others are gems of the cabinet-maker's art, but lack musical sweetness. Ours is a happy combination of both. Hear your favorite record on this beautiful talking machine.
