Mrs. George Arenz left for Portland Friday, where she will stay until the schools are out, when she will bring home her small daughter. Mrs. Arenz's husband is connected with the Oregon Contract Co. which is doing street work in this city.

D. L. Irvin, of Portland, was in on special business for the Standard Oil Company, last week. He made trips all over the county with Mr. Boone, and said he enjoyed his stay very much, as it was his first trip here since about a year and half ago.

V. Klusko returned to his home in Hillsboro Friday after having spent a week and a half here in Coates' logging camp. While working there one day last week he was hit in the eye by a limb, which caused serious injury, making him unable to work.

Miss Harriet Severance arrived in Tillamook Sunday, from Woodburn, where she has been attending school for the past year. She is well known here, as she attended High school a year or so ago, and her many friends are delighted to see "Hattie" back home again.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Traxler, of Portland, returned to Portland Tuesday, after having been here since Friday. Mr. Traxler is connected with the freighting business here, but lives in Portland, and will be there for a week or so before returning to his work.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Blanc, of Marshfield, left for their home Friday, after having spent several days here with Conovers and Hanselmeirs. Mr. and Mrs. Blanc were here until about four years ago, when they moved to Marshfield and went into the meat business.

M. F. Lamb has a milk statement from McIntosh & Townsend, for the year 1919, in which he received 15c per pound for butter fat. That was in the days when the dairymen had no organization and they were at the mercy of the creamery men and the cheese buyers.

Wm. Owens and his sister, Mrs. H. C. Keary, of Forest Grove, were in Tillamook this week visiting and while here they attended the Memorial services. Mr. Owens is an old resident of Tillamook, having lived here for thirty years, moving to Forest Grove a couple of years ago.

Say, have you noticed Bob Driscoll's new gait lately? You ask why? Well, it's changed considerably, and if you don't know the reason why, just ask any K. of P. and he'll tell you, for Bob just "jined", not long ago, and he "rid" the goat—and, well, we don't know the rest, only the effect.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wilkes and son, of Prallum, Marion county, were in Tillamook last week, coming in Monday, and returning Friday via Seaside, in their car. While here they visited with their folks, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilkes and Mrs. W. H. Sales. Mr. and Mrs. George Wilkes accompanied them as far as Portland.

About forty persons were present at the dance given by some of the people of Pleasant Valley, at the Grange hall Saturday evening. The music was furnished by the Sunset Orchestra, of Tillamook, and cats were furnished by the ladies. Every one had an exceptionally good time, and hope that another one will be given in the near future.

Owing to a typographical error in the road item for last issue the steam shovel engineer at the Saling Grade was named as Charles Fletcher, but should have been Charles Murphy. As there is considerable competition between the three steam shovel engineers, each man deserves the credit that is due him, and we take this opportunity to correct the mistake.

In the rush last Thursday to give the official count a few mistakes were made. Owing to the ballot boxes of Wheeler precinct not arriving in this city until Tuesday afternoon, this delayed the count, and it was Thursday morning before the figures could be copied. There was a typographical error in Frank Reed's vote at Wheeler which should have been 111.

Dr. and Mrs. Robinson will leave tomorrow (Friday), for Portland. Dr. Robinson will attend the meetings of the Oregon State Medical Association that are to be held there next week. He will also attend the meetings of the Clinics Extension Course of the University of Oregon, and will return in about a week, and Mrs. Robinson will visit for some time in Portland and Mosier.

Oscar Steele of Nehalem, spent the week end in Tillamook with friends. John Gardner, of the S. P. Co., was in from Portland this week. He is the traveling agent for the company and he says that he found business very good in Tillamook. According to Mr. Gardner, the week-end special will run for a while on the present schedule and then be changed to a daily.

The Swastika Club met at the home of Mrs. J. P. Maginnis, Friday afternoon and held their regular business meeting. Refreshments were served and a delightful afternoon was spent by all those present. The invited guests were: the Mesdames Partridge, T. H. Goyne, Gilliam, C. O. Dawson, Morrison and George Arenz. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Hill.

There was quite a large crowd at the old fashion dance given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hushbeck, last Saturday night. It was supposed to have been mostly old fashioned quadrilles, but the spirit of youth prevailed and over ruled, the older dances with the later waltzes and steps. A delicious supper was served, and everybody had a good time, as always, at the "Bun" dances.

We are in receipt of a box of oranges and lemons from D. D. West, who has a fruit farm at National City, Calif. He says "We are just through harvesting our fourth crop of lemons. We had 256 boxes of lemons the picking. We are having ideal weather. I am glad to hear the people are getting good price for their milk." Mr. West was formerly a dairyman of this county and went to California for a change, and he appears to like California and the fruit business.

County Clerk Homer Mason has taken H. S. Brimhall into the Clerk's office as his deputy. Mr. Brimhall won the nomination on the republican ticket for county clerk, and Mr. Mason has done the right thing in allowing Mr. Brimhall to become familiar with the duties of that office, before he becomes county clerk the first of the next year, for six months as a deputy in that office is none too long a time to get next to things that have to be looked after in that office.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Shearer, formerly of Garibaldi, have moved to Portland for a few months. Mr. Shearer was connected with the Watt's Shingle mill at Waco for some time, but is now going into Washington to look after some more mill work. They write that everything in Portland is on the move and that improvements and enlargements of their capacity for serving and that grand stands are being built in readiness for the Rose Carnival and the Shriners' Convention. They also state that the weather out there is much warmer at present than here in Tillamook.

A delightful party was held at the home of Walter Baker last Friday evening. It was held by the Misses Florence Whitcombe and Betty Lantz, in honor of Claire and Edna Small, who were leaving the next day for California. The evening was spent in music and dancing, about a dozen members of the younger set being present. A delicious lunch was served and enjoyed very much by all those present, and when the evening was over the young men returned to their homes, while the girls stayed for a slumber party. The Smalls left Tillamook Saturday evening in their car, driving as far as Portland, and then taking the boat for San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Small returned later.

The Mesdames O. A. and C. H. Shultz and Mrs. Frances B. Stranahan entertained at a charming card party at the home of the latter on Friday evening. The rooms were beautifully decorated with rhododendrons, which had been brought from Sand Lake. About sixty eight persons were present, there being enough for seventeen tables of Five Hundred. The prizes were awarded Miss Mildred Fookner and Joe Franklin, and the guest's souvenirs were given Miss Naomi Scheider, as the affair was held in her honor. The hostesses served a dainty lunch, after which the guests were entertained with music, and every one departed after having had a thoroughly enjoyable time.

The County Court was in Portland this week conferring with the State Highway Commission. As the commission promised Tillamook county 15 miles of hard surfaced road if the 4 per cent state indebtedness measure was on hand but from the news account in the Oregonian, the prospect of obtaining the 15 miles of hard surfaced road this year does not look very bright. It said: "Tillamook county has a promise of 15 miles of paving and inquired when it could be expected. The county has four steam shovels and is making a grade now. The commission stated that the grade will be rock this year so that the road can be used in the winter, but paving is out of the question in the circumstances."

It seems as if all the hunters are out now, and having good luck, too, for last week a cougar was brought in, and this week it was a bear. Three boys, Asberry Miner, Jim Tone and Nelson Paul were hunting for wildcats in the Beaulah Creek region Saturday afternoon. They had a couple of hounds, belonging to Jess Edwards, and after they had hunted for quite awhile they treed something. The boys rushed up, thinking it was a wildcat. It proved to be a brown bear weighing about one hundred and fifty pounds. They killed it and brought the hide home to make a rug of it, but the question which they have been debating is this, they all shot the bear, but don't know who killed him.

Governor Olcott appointed State Senator T. B. Handley corporation commissioner last week, and he assumed the duties of the office at Salem on Tuesday. The appointment did not come as a surprise to most of Mr. Handley's friends, for it was generally thought that he was stated for some political office. It was thought at first that he would land the fish and game warden's job, but the fish squabble having been adjusted, he was given the corporation commissioner job, the governor calling upon Henry J. Schulerman to resign. The latter was a candidate for Secretary of State, and it was during the campaign that Schulerman published some reflecting remarks about the governor and Sam A. Kozier, who run in the primary nominating election for Secretary of State.

Joe Mannix and family left this morning for Astoria, where they will make their home in the future. Mr. Mannix says that he will be back at frequent intervals this summer, and that he is coming back here to live just as soon as he gets rich, so he wasn't saying "good-bye" to Tillamook, but just "so long." Mr. Mannix is succeeded in the law offices here by A. A. Hall, of Salem, and Mr. Barriek, who was formerly with the Cummings Moberly Lumber Co., and he says that he hopes the people of Tillamook will treat them with the same consideration that they have him. The Knights of Pythias of whom he was a member, presented him with a beautiful symbolic ring as a token of their esteem. They also gave him a letter of introduction to the lodge at Astoria, both of which he appreciated very much. We are sorry to see Mr. and Mrs. Mannix leave Tillamook, as they have been some of the best citizens of the town, and have made a great many true friends, but are glad that are coming back again.

TILLAMOOK JERSEY CATTLE CLUB MEETING.

Is Now Highly Interested in Tillamook Jersey Calf Clubs.

The Tillamook Jersey Cattle Club met at the farm of Joe Donaldson on May 27th. The day was a perfect one for the picnic. The tables were set in the yard, and fairly groaned with the picnic lunch furnished by the members of the club, and by the visitors. Mr. Donaldson furnished ice cream and strawberries for his guests, about two hundred in number.

It has long been the talk and the object of the Jersey breeders of Tillamook county, to organize a calf club. Mr. Donaldson invited the children and their teachers to this meeting. After dinner we were called to order by our president and the children were seated around the tables to register their names and be organized. Mr. Donaldson read the by-laws to them, after which the following officers were elected. For president, Edith Miller; Vice President, Agnes Blaser; Secretary-Treasurer, Schuyler Fletcher. The name chosen for this club is "The Tillamook Jersey Calf Club." A membership fee of fifty cents was decided upon. Forty six names were entered as members, and four have since been sent in, making a total of fifty members. After the club was duly organized, the members were given numbers, and corresponding numbers were put in a hat to be drawn. Mr. G. B. Lamb county school superintendent was chosen to select the lucky number which he put into an envelope and held until all was ready to draw the beautiful calf which stood in the yard, tied to a tree, ready to be claimed by a new owner. Before the drawing Mr. Lamb talked to the children, telling them of the good to be derived from an organization of this kind. He urged them to take hold of their new work and make a success of it, to get their calves and be ready for the fair which will be held in September. The boy or girl who wins first prize at the county fair will be given a heifer calf by Mark Bays, Morrison Mills showed a picture of the Shedd's Club taken on the recent Jubilee trip. This is considered the best calf club in the state. Mr. Mills also urged the children to each get a calf and begin work on it at once putting it in readiness for the fair. He says there is no reason why the Tillamook Calf Club can not excel the Shedd's club, as the membership is greater than that of the Shedd's Club. He also urges the parents to help the boys and girls by giving them a calf and helping them to make a success of their new work. The club must consist of at least twenty members who own calves to enter at the fair in order to draw the award of $75.00 which is offered by the American Jersey Cattle Club.

It was interesting to watch the anxiety of the children, each wondering if he held the lucky number which was to draw the calf given by Mr. Donaldson. When Mr. Lamb called out, "Now listen! look at your numbers! who has number 23?" Freddie Donaldson, son of C. E. Donaldson, answered "I have."

Mr. Joe Donaldson is a progressive dairyman and breeder, and has done much for the Jersey breed. A great deal of credit is due him, as a young man who has made rapid advance in the upbuilding of a Jersey herd. Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson showed their ability as host and hostess as every thing was done by them that could be to make the meeting a success.

The meeting adjourned to meet at the farm of Harry Neilson on June 24th, 1920.

Rose Crawford, Secretary-Treasurer.

Celebrate Sixtieth Anniversary.

On Sunday afternoon about fifty invited guests gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Harris and there united in celebrating the sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. Harris' mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Harris, Sr. It had been planned to have a picnic dinner on the lawn, but as the weather was cold and threatening, this part of the program was changed and the tables arranged in the house.

With the honored couple at the head, about twenty-five persons sat down to the table, which was fairly groaning with good things to eat. The second table, which was equally well laden, was occupied by as many as the first. During the banqueting Attorney H. T. Botts and Dr. Robinson gave short talks befitting the occasion, and at the close several good old hymns were sung, thus bringing to a fitting end a very enjoyable wedding anniversary.

The children present were; C. O. S. J. and W. G. Harris; the Mesdames Lulu Robinson and Nancy Craven; six grand children and eight great grand children.

The out of town relatives who attended were; Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Robinson and daughter, Vera, of Siletz; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Latimer and four children, of McMinnville; and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harris, of Vancouver, Wash.

The aged Mr. Harris was born in Missouri, 87 years ago next October and came to Oregon in 1859. Mrs. Harris is also a Missourian, having been born there in 1845, and in 1848 came to Oregon with her parents.

They were married at Monmouth, Ore., living in the Willamette valley for thirty years before they came to Sandlake, where they have lived for the past thirty years.

Those who were in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Harris, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Everson, Mrs. Franz, Mrs. Mary Holden, Mr. and Mrs. Ellison, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Todd, Mr. and Mrs. Lantz, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hoag, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Lance, Mr. and Mrs. Addie Harris, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Trombley, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Botts, Dr. and Mrs. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Will Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Web McCracken, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Robinson, Obe Harris, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Craven, Areta Eyerson, Stonewell Jackson Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Latimer, Myrtle Hall, Alpha Olsen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Disque, Mrs. Adrie, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harris, Thelma, Cecil, Clayton, Leland Harris, Rowena Latimer, James Latimer, Laverna Latimer, Pernell Latimer, Lavera Robinson, and Madeline Andrew.

Justice and Constables.

In the primary nominating election there were four justices of the peace and four constables to be nominated, but only one petition was filed, that of J. J. Spencer, for constable of the first justice district on the republican ticket. He was nominated by a vote of 275. And for justice of the peace of that district, G. B. Nunn, a democrat, received 19 votes on the republican ticket. Although not a candidate to succeed himself as justice of the peace of the second district, E. W. Stanley polled 83 votes. There were a large number of scattering votes for other persons for each justice and constable district.

Memorial Day Observed by High School

Last Friday the student body gave a short program in memory of the heroes of the wars of the United States. Mrs. Stranahan represented the W. R. C. and Messrs. Spear and Drew the G. A. R. The Seniors presented a large flag to the student body of the High School. The program was as follows:

Flag presentation, Betty Lantz. Patriotic Address, Mrs. Stranahan. Star Spangled Banner, Assembly America's Creed, Martha Crank. Vocal Trio, LaVerna Holden, Violet Galsayer and Francis Wilson. Patriotic Address, Commander Spear. Men Who Never Die, Ramona Haltom. Duet, Bertha Blanchard and Valjean Prahl. Gettysburg Address, Clare Small.

The grammar school had a program later in the afternoon and members of the G. A. R. attended.

The Seniors will hold their graduation exercises next Friday evening in the Christian church.

Saw a Phenomena.

We've been worried to death lately, for fear our time has come, and we're trying to get everybody's forgiveness for everything we've done that wasn't according to the law of Hoyle, or Moses, or who was that guy? Well, the excitement started this way, you see John Carroll was at Sand Lake Tuesday, and he happened to look at old Sol, when he discovered something mighty queer.

He tells us in his lurid description of the affair that there was a beautiful rainbow all around the sun and that beneath it was semi-circle of the same hues. Between the sun and the rainbows the sky was dark, and the rest of the sky was clear and cloudless. Outside of the circle around the sun were two circles of gray, which looked hazy, like smokes. These circles crossed the others in what seemed to the same manner as the path a comet crosses the path of the earth.

It was a very beautiful sight, but it seems rather queer that no one noticed it around Tillamook, although Mr. Carroll says that Mr. Farmer and several others around Cloverdale saw the same thing, so he says that no one can accuse him of having found a still around Sand Lake some place, for he swears that he hasn't had a drink in these many months. He said it was mighty lucky that it didn't happen before the twenty sixth of March, for the people down there would have jumped into the bay, thinking that the Day of Judgement had at last dawned. R. C. Jones and two or three others say that they saw circles answering the same description around the moon that night.

A Come Back on "Our George".

"Our George" appears to have sprung a joke on M. F. Leach, or somebody else did, for it was freely discussed in the Headlight office on election night that G. W. Kizer had bet M. F. Leach that Mason would win the nomination for county judge. Most everybody who heard the report believed it hence the item in these columns. Now Leach has turned the joke on "Our George," for he says he never made the bet and was backing Mason. It is up to "Our George" to explain, for no one has ever known Maurice to squirm when it comes to paying a bet. It wouldn't be out of place for us to relate a little joke that was played on "Our George" a few years ago. A subscription list was being circulated to raise money for a 4th of July celebration. As "our George" was not around when the list was circulated, someone suggested putting his name down for $5.00. This was done by a person who knew George's signature, which was a correct copy of his writing. When the money was being collected and "Our George" was asked for his five bucks, he said he didn't remember subscribing, but he must have done so, for that was his signature, so he willingly coughed up the money.

"Old Lady 31" a Charming Play, With Emma Dunn As Its Star

Unqualified praise for a performance of rare sweetness and charm is the verdict of large audiences that witnessed "Old Lady 31," the Metro screen production starring Emma Dunn, will be shown as the feature attraction at the Gem Theatre, Friday and Saturday, June 11 and 12.

In "Old Lady 31" which was adapted by June Mathis from Rachel Crother's celebrated stage play, Miss Dunn gives her thoroughly delightful impersonation of "Angie" Rose, the wife of the imprudent seafaring man, Abe Rose.

The story which relates the experiences of Abe and Angie in an old women's home—he as "old lady 31"—is replete with charm and an abundance of comedy touches. There is many a heart throb in the narrative, also. Especially when Angie and Abe bid farewell to their old dwelling, with its honeysuckle vines, and Angie hesitates to pick a few flowers asking if she still has the right, now that the house is to be sold over their heads.

The antics of the quaint characters in the old women's home are delicious and provoke gales of merriment. Henry Harmon scored a success as Abe. He played the same role on the stage.

Ora Carew in "Under Suspicion"

Small town life was too dull and uninteresting for Betty Standish when she attained her twenty-first birthday and came into possession of her father's fortune. The big city called to her and she answered its summons. But in the same large city dwelt a young man who was self-reliant with the gay life and the endless grind of social obligations to which he was forced by his position. So while Jerome Kent left his sumptuous bachelor quarters in New York to seek solace in the mountains, Betty moved into his apartments, the transaction being accomplished by a valet who saw a chance to earn an "honest" dollar. Circumstances cause Kent to return home unexpectedly, and he is perplexed to find evidence of feminine habitation all over his bachelor chambers. The plot thickens a few moments later, when Betty and her aunt return from the theatre, and a strange man in the apartment, and mistake him for a burglar. And thus begins an almost endless chain of amusing complications and thrilling adventures involving society matrons and debutantes, crooks, real and imaginary, and all the rest of the motley array of characters that appear in "Under Suspicion," the Universal photoplay, announced for Monday, June 7, at the Gem Theatre.

Old Opera House Goes Up in Smoke.

Last night at twelve o'clock the people of Tillamook were startled out of peaceful slumber by the fire which broke out in the old opera house building burned to the ground. The fire was supposed to have been started intentionally, as several persons mentioned having seen the whole building burst into flames at once, and there was a strong odor of kerosene about the place. The fire department rushed to the scene of the disaster, but were unable to save the building. It is thought that there was no insurance on the building and the box making material at all, making it an entire loss. Some time ago the machinery had been removed which was a very lucky move for the owners.

This morning at seven-thirty the second alarm was turned in. The people were very much excited, as two fires in the same night is quite a bit for Tillamook, that has only had three in the last six months. The fire at Dr. Shearer's home burned out, causing very little damage, as the fire boys put out the fire before it had got a start.

Miss Bernice Ripley spent a few days this week at Nehalem with her sisters.
