What the Editors Say

There is further evidence that the women will eventually invade all occupations. Miss Jean Durrel of Corvallis has been appointed "cow testing" supervisor for the state of Oregon, under direction of the dairy department of the state Agricultural college. She is as pretty as a premium-winning Jersey if there is anything in that.—Telephone Register.

The Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen has announced a new minimum wage scale of $4.50 for common labor in the Willamette district No. 2. The L. L. L. scheme of settling labor disputes is working out better than anything yet devised. It so far has prevented strikes, assured equitable wages for all mill and timber workers and created a happy, contented host of employes who can do more and better work than they would be able to do with some walking delegate constantly stirring them up and filling them full of unrest and class hatred.—Gazette-Times.

As a source of conflicting stories Mexico is surely the liar's paradise. All sorts of rumors emanate from that revolutionary country and the world never knows the truth of any of them. A few days ago the Mexican dispatches declared the fleeing Carranza, the presidential dictator who found the Mexico City climate too sultry for his continued stay, had been cowardly assassinated by his guard while in a mountain camp. Now a new angle is attached to this report and Carranza is said to have committed suicide rather than be taken by his enemies. It may not be improbable that Carranza is still alive and still fleeing from Mexican atrocities.—Sheridan Sun.

How little intelligence the average voter uses in voting was again evidenced in the election last Friday. Many who cast their ballots for Wood at the same time voted for the Johnson delegates to the national convention; and some who voted for Johnson expressed a preference to have the Wood delegates represent them at the convention. Then there was that bill providing for the successor to the governor. After having twice refused to create the office of lieutenant governor, who would be the successor to the governor in case of death, resignation or removal of that official, they now adopt the measure providing that the president of the senate, who is originally elected to the legislature by a lone senatorial district, shall be the legal successor hereafter to the highest office in the state. Now isn't that consistent?—Polk County Itemizer.

There must be a rather extensive Washington county "sucker list" in circulation, judging by the quantity of promotion literature for oil stocks and all other kinds of schemes which clutter up the mails daily. The editor receives on an average two pieces of mail of this kind in each delivery, and while he may be a sucker he has never invested in anything but ink, paper and machinery, but some one must be rising to the bait, for the volume received at the postoffice keeps increasing. Washington county people are known to be rather hard-headed, and it is well known that they must be shown before they invest. But there are exceptions, and perhaps it might be well to remind them that there are too many chances to make money at home to make it necessary, to send funds to strangers at a distance. And the further fact should be kept in mind that the owner of a rich old field or producing well is not usually a philanthropist, and if he has a good thing he keeps it to himself, or may perhaps let a few friends in. As to the excuse of getting money for development, there is plenty of capital available if prospects are what the prospectus claim and the fact that promoters seek to peddle stock to strangers a thousand or two miles away may, to say the least, cause doubt to the one who gives the matter a thought. If they don't think, in the great majority of cases, they might as well kiss their money good-bye and not waste time in deciding on the kind of automobile they will buy with the promised dividends.—Hillsboro Independent.

Requiem.

Who killed the treaty?

"I," said Woodrow.

"I," with my No!

I killed the Treaty."

Who saw it die?

"I did," said Hi,

"Squashed like a fly,

I saw it die."

Who'll lay it out?

"I will," said Lodge,

"I will not dodge,

I'll lay it out."

Who'll send it roses?

"I," said George Moses,

Nice prickly posies,

I'll send it roses."

Who'll toll the bell?

"I," said Bill Borah,

"She'll be a roarer;

I'll toll the bell."

Who'll build the box?

"I," said Phil Knox,

Something that locks,

I'll build the box."

Who'll give the oration?

"I," Reed from Missouri!

"Hell's bells and fury!

I'll give the oration."

Who'll dig the grave?

"We," said the people,

"If we would save

What the Lord gave

We'll dig the grave."

Naturally the Democratic politicians think the present Congress is a failure. It isn't spending money half as fast as a Democratic Congress would.

A Continuous Performance

"I have not missed a single milking since I installed the EMPIRE Milking Machine May 23rd, 1915," writes E. F. Gentry of Wallace, Idaho.

We quote Mr. Gentry, not because his experience is anything unusual but because it is like that of all users of

It is very important in buying a milking machine to select one that has this record, for a milking machine is used twice a day, and one that is not so constructed that it will be constantly "on the job" means loss of milk, time and money.

EMPIRE Milking Machines are simple and efficient—gentle and natural in their action, and above all, they milk the SAME WAY EVERY DAY—more uniform in action than even the calf. They safeguard the condition of valuable cows.

Let us tell you ALL the benefits they offer you. Write for Catalog #1 and also ask for information regarding EMPIRE Cream Separators, Gasoline Engines and Electric Plants.
