Each student rendered his or her part of the program with perfect ease and with skill and each and every number was duly appreciated by the audience. They showed a willingness to study and to comply with all that was required of them.

The original compositions by Pearl Anderson and Carolyn Haberlach Haberlach were very sweet and pretty and would have done credit to older and more experienced musicians than they.

MOONSHINERS CAUGHT

Raid Made on Largest Still in County

Saturday evening the speed cop rounded up and arrested a bunch of moonshiners who were on their way to the dance at Rockaway with about ten gallons of moonshine in their car. There were five men in the bunch: J. M. DeLillies, Wm. Hogue, Elmer Davis, Earl Garrish and Joe Belcher, two of them getting away at the time, but were caught later.

The authorities had been notified that there was a still in the woods near Dolph, and that a bunch of the men who operated it were coming through town that evening, so Deputy Sheriff W. E. Noyes was commissioned to get them. He was told to watch for a car that had a Montana license, but it was not the right car and it was only by accident that they were caught. They must have been feeling rather guilty, for they turned off the lights of the car in an attempt to sneak through town. Mr. Perkins, the speed cop, was hot on their trail for driving without lights, but the men in the car thought it was because of the drink, so they went around the loop and started back south. On this side of the South Prairie Cheese factory they thought it would be safer to get rid of the evidence, so they threw several bottles and a small keg along the side of the road. They were stopped, and by the time Mr. Noyes arrived on the scene, Mr. Perkins was there and had them lined up along the road. He said that he had surrounded them but had been unable to hold all of them, for two jumped out of the car and disappeared.

Officers searched in the woods near Dolph, Sunday and found the largest and most completely equipped still ever found in this county. There was also about four hundred gallons of mash and quite a bit of meal, molasses and other materials.

The men were inmates of the county jail until Tuesday, when they were given a hearing. They pleaded guilty and were fined, then released. Two of them paid three hundred dollar fines, two two hundred dollars and one of them two hundred and fifty dollar fine.

Cloverdale to Celebrate.

The citizens of Cloverdale have decided to celebrate the National holiday on July 3rd, as the 4th comes on Sunday this year, and they are making arrangements for a regular old-time Fourth. They extend an invitation to all parts of the county to meet at Cloverdale this year and although nothing big will be attempted, it will be a splendid opportunity for the citizens of other parts of the county to get better acquainted with the wide awake people of the south part of the county and celebrate together. The Headlight is assured that Cloverdale will offer the glad hand of welcome to all who go there to celebrate.

The committee in charge is arranging a nice program and there will be fun for young and old.

Academy Commencement Exercises

There was a large attendance at the City Hall Tuesday evening to witness the exercises of the graduating classes of the St. Alphonsus Academy. The students receiving diplomas for having completed the Commercial grades were: Mary Fitzpatrick, Rose Portmann, Caroline Portmann, Laura Dodge, Mae Parke, and Ruth Benson. Those passing from the eighth grade were: Anez Fitzpatrick, Dorothy Jacob, Ruth Kuppenbender, Faye Van Nortwick, Kenneth Martin, Alton Mathieu, Leo Plasker and Laurence Fitzpatrick. A class of seven received their final certificates for having completed the A. N. Palmer course in penmanship, they were: Rose and Caroline Portmann, Nellie Hester, Margaret Shearer, Elizabeth and Bernice Stone. Several pupils receiving honors for having attended regularly and on time.

The entire program was well rendered, and showed conscientious work on the part of the pupils and the Sisters. Each part was rendered to the best of the player's ability, and nothing more could be expected.

The cantata, entitled "Dorothy," which was the principal feature of the evening was especially well rendered and made a decided hit with the audience. Ruth Benson took the leading part as Dorothy, a sweet Christian girl who was devoted to her smaller sister, and who was bent on doing her duty as she saw it, in spite of the discomforts it caused her. Cleo, the darkey who was devoted to her mistress, and who dubbed herself as "Miss Doroty's waltin' maid," to fetch and tote for her" was the life of the play, with her quaint antics and funny sayings. Elizabeth Stone played the part to perfection, and it is to be complimented on her splendid acting. Laura Dodge also made a hit as Mrs. Seaberry, who was always getting summer boarders, soap and hair oil delightfully mixed. The other parts were also very well played.

There was a solo by Wm. Plasker, a recitation by John Blazer, a pantomime by the girls, tableau by a large class and a farce by the Junior boys were the principal other numbers besides the play. Each one of these were very much appreciated and enjoyed, also the beautiful musical numbers, by girls of the different classes. The younger students were exceptionally good in their choir practice, and we are sure that the audience fully appreciated their wonderful singing qualities.

A short address was made and the diplomas presented by the Rev. F. Martin, of the Sacred Heart parish. He spoke of graduation as being the step over the threshold of life.

The conferring of the graduation honors was followed by the commencement address, which was delivered by the Rev. F. Victor, Rector of the Mt. Angel College. He spoke very interestingly on the subject of moral education and training with the other subjects taught, and congratulated the students on having completed their courses.
