Big Crowd at Rockaway Monday.

The celebration at Rockaway Monday, July 5th, was considered a splendid success. Large crowds came all parts of the country, the road was lined on both sides with cars and all the trains were loaded to their full carrying capacity. Music for the parade and during the day was furnished by the K. P. band, of Tillamook, and everyone enjoyed it very much.

The parade consisted of the band, the car containing the Liberty girl, Louise Krebs, of Rockaway, and a number of private cars which were beautifully decorated. The prize was awarded R. B. Rector, of Portland, for having the best decorated car, and the second prize to C. W. Ross, of Rockaway.

After the parade the crowd gathered around the Band Stand, where a short program was rendered, the chief features of which were the reading of the Declaration of Independence, by Miss Painton, and an address by Atty. S. S. Johnson, of Tillamook.

When the program was over many people had lunch down on the beach, while all through the grounds one would see bunches of picnickers all seemingly enjoying themselves to the greatest extent possible.

The sports started soon after lunch down on the hard sand by the water's edge. The list of winners of the sports were as follows: Boy's race, 1st prize, Melvin Cook; 2nd prize, Vernon Laurensen. Girl's race, 1st prize, Margaret Watt, 2nd prize Doris Evers. Men's race, R. H. Jones. Ladies' race, Marian Buckley. Three-legged race, Lester Kerns and Kellie Margie. Sack race 1st, Arnel Luce; 2nd, John Marklowry. No one climbed the greased pole, although one man made several attempts, using sand and sacks. In the tug of war between the two picked teams, the men from Tillamook won the prize. Roy Anderson won the prize for the pie eating contest, and Lloyd Loomis the prize for the cracker eating contest, and they sure did eat, too.

The baseball game was played in the sun, which made running rather difficult. It was exceedingly good though, even if Tillamook did lose nine to six, to the Portland team.

The picture show at the Princess Theatre was well attended. Every one enjoyed it, especially the vocal solos that were well rendered. Dancing went on all day and late in the evening, at the Rockaway and Saltair Pavilions, and the kiddies found the merry-go-round a source of delight, as always.

There were weinies and marshmallows galore at the bonfire in the evening, which was built on the sand near the sea wall, and everybody felt that it was a fitting end for a perfect day.

It is evident to every body who have been visiting Garibaldi beach that accommodations are inadequate for the large number of visitors, and although it is too late now to remedy a very bad condition, property owners should endeavor accommodations. Conditions demand several large hotels and that Garibaldi beach will soon lose its popularity if it fails to provide them, for people who come to the coast for their summer vacations want and are willing to pay for hotel accommodations. Another thing that is conspicuously noticeable on Garibaldi beach, and that is the lack of a natatorium and other places where people can go and enjoy themselves. It seems to us that a number of enterprising citizens, who have money to invest, should be induced to become interested in Garibaldi beach.

Thelma Hoover Wins Prize for Jersey Calf Club Essay.

The prize of ten dollars which was given by Joe Donaldson for the best essay written by a member of the Jersey Calf Club was won by Miss Thelma Hoover. The following is a copy of the essay.

The Story of the Jersey Calf Club. (Related by the Call.)

You can not imagine my surprise one morning as my sisters, brothers and cousins and I were eating and feasting on the nice sweet hay Mr. Donaldson had given us, when we were aroused by a band of strange boys and girls who came rushing in upon us before we had been brushed down. And, it may seem conceited of me to say so, they paid more attention to me than any of my relations. They all petted me and then went away. We could not imagine what it all could be about. After a while Mr. Donaldson came and led me out beside the house and tied me to a tree there.

Everything had changed so around the house that I hardly knew it. There was a great big long table loaded with all sorts of good things to eat and even ice cream with strawberries on it. Then there was a big sign over the porch saying "Tillamook Jersey Cattle Club. The Home of the Famous Tillamook Cheese." So it convinced me right there and then that they were having a Jersey Club meeting, but I couldn't for the world, think what they were going to do with me.

The boys and girls by this time were out playing and having a big time on a big hand car on which the milk was hauled and which ran on a track between Mr. Donaldson's barn and the cheese factory, but the boys and girls were doing something entirely different, they were hauling each other on it.

Some of children had pencil and paper in hand and I noticed them go into the milk house which was a very nice place. I heard one of them say that it was all whitewashed inside and had a nice cement floor, twenty-four milk cans and a milking machine. There was a big tank in which was an open faucet with water running all the time so that in the evening the milkers could run the milk down on the hand-car, put it in the water and keep it cool till morning, when they put it on the hand-car with the morning's milk and hauled it all right down to the cheese factory which was only a little way from the milkhouse.

I am going to tell you something about the barn which I was in. It had stanchions enough for seventy-two cows, and was all whitewashed. Down the center of the barn was a place for our pen, the machinery and a small mow. The rest of hay mow was up stairs, Mr. Donaldson's office had a telephone in it, which we liked to hear when it rang.

I am sure they all liked my home because they asked so many questions about it, and it is a beautiful farm of one hundred and sixty-five acres.

I guess the boys and girls saw every thing there was to be seen; they even went down and saw the pig's house, which had a big sign on it "The Home of the Chester White Hog."

After all had eaten Mr. Donaldson went out and took a big horn which he called the boys and girls together with and had them all sit around the long table, after the boys and girls had been rested and all was quiet Mr. Donaldson explained why they had met there that day. He had received a letter from the American Jersey Cattle Club saying they were going distribute $2,500 in prizes to the first thirty three Jersey Calf Clubs organized in 1920. Each club should have at least twenty or more members between ten and eighteen, each to be a pure bred Jersey owner. So he had called the boys and girls of Tillamook county together that they might organize this calf club giving me as an incentive to bring the children to this meeting.

Then a lady passed a tablet around which each boy and girl wrote his or her name on. Mrs. Doty wrote numbers from one to forty-seven after which each number was cut out separately. Mr. Donaldson put them in a hat and shook them up, then he had each child from ten to eighteen draw a number. Mr. Lamb wrote a number on a piece of paper and sealed it in an envelope, and after all the children had drawn, Mr. Lamb called out the number. It was twenty-three. Fred Donaldson had been the lucky one. After he had been congratulated he came out and took hold of me while Mr. Donaldson and another man took several pictures of us together.

I have a new home now, and altho I shall miss my old master, I believe I shall become very fond of my new one, who is very kind and gentle to me.
