Chautauqua Presents Bess Gearhart Morrison's Company, Featuring Old Melodies

Two musical programs that will thoroughly delight and please everyone in the big Chautauqua tent are scheduled for the third day in the coming of the Morrison Girls. This company has been coached by Bess Gearhart Morrison and every detail of the two programs arranged by this talented woman who so won the hearts of Chautauqua audiences last year. She is sending them out under her name and that is sufficient indorsement to assure everyone of the class of their concerts.

The Morrison Girls will present two programs of infinite variety including costumed songs and sketches, vocal and instrumental solos, orchestral selections, readings and choruses. The charming old songs of the days of long ago will be a prominent feature of their two concerts.

GOT WRONG MAN THAT TIME

College Seniors Made Decided Mistake When They Tried to "Smoke Out" Young Kentuckian.

Tom Honan, former attorney general of Indiana, was talking of his college days at Indiana university. He recalled, with a laugh, how the seniors used to "smoke out" the freshmen in the good old days.

"The big idea was," said Mr. Honan, "for five or six, or perhaps a dozen seniors, to congregate in the room of a freshman and smoke pipes until the smoke made him sick. Usually the fellow selected for the 'smoking out' process was one of these mollycoddle youngsters who had not long been divorced from his mother's apron strings.

"One time we selected a long, lean Kentucky boy. One by one we dropped in, lighted our pipes and began the game. Kentucky fired up his pipe, too, and the evening wore on. The smoke grew heavier with each passing half-hour. Not a window was up, not a door open. Along about eleven o'clock two or three seniors disappeared. They had been shipwrecked. Finally the tobacco began running out, much to the pleasure of several of us. But Kentucky smoked on.

"At last one of us remarked to Kentucky that we'd have to go, as our tobacco had run out.

"No, don't go," Kentucky insisted. "I've got a lot more tobacco. Lawdy, I couldn't think of comin' 'way up nawth heah without some good tobacco."

"Kentucky opened his trunk. One end of it was jammed with old Kentucky long green tobacco. We tore out. We had picked on the wrong bird."—Indianapolis News.

SERKESS FOUND HIS MOTHER

Pathetic Cases Such as This One Reported Have Long Been Common in Armenia.

Bright and early one morning a band of Arabs drove up to the Near East Relief orphanage at Kars, Armenia, bringing with them a forlorn little chap about five years old.

"We want you to take this boy," said the leader of the band to an official of the orphanage. "He has no father, nor mother."

"What is his name?" the leader of the band was asked.

"He is called Serkess," shouted back the leader of the Arabs as they galloped away.

In this way little Serkess became a member of our family. He was an intelligent little chap but seemed unable to remember anything about his home or his parents.

A few days later one of the native women helpers at the orphanage was going through the playground when she suddenly stopped, turned pale and stared unbelievably at one of the little chaps who was playing there. "Serkess!" she cried, and running to the youngster gathered him into her arms. Serkess was her son who had been taken from her two years before by the Turks.

Country of Little Change.

Recently when Professor Williams visited the vice regent of South Morocco, the latter quoted from a charter given by the sultan of Morocco in 1026. The visitor expressed surprise that this ancient parchment still remained in the vault, and the vice regent exclaimed: "Why not? We have never moved!" This incident is said not to be at all remarkable. Wherever one goes in the Turkish empire, he is likely to be confronted with the evidence of age by the traditions handed down from generation to generation. It is no more strange for a Turk to speak of happenings in his family of centuries ago than it is for an old man in this country to recall with pride the exploits of his father or grandfather.

Things That Count.

It is not so much what we say but what we do that wins men to better things; not what we preach but how we act that saves souls and puts the red lifeblood into an anaemic world. After all, the world is quickest touched not by the great building but by the great heart; not by the cold word on printed page but by the warm word as it comes from living lips; not so much by the house of mercy as by the merciful hand laid on the fevered brow; not so much by the house that shelters the wanderer as the beautiful face which enshrines motherhood at whose knees lonely children gather.—Grit.

All Right.

The fourth grade teacher was teaching the children the meaning of several new words, among them being the word "naturalist." She had spoken of John Burroughs and several of our best known nature lovers and then decided to test the children to see whether they thoroughly understood the word. She turned to little Newell. Use the word "naturalist" in a sentence," she told him.

For a minute the little fellow was perplexed and then came a bright thought which brought relief to his face. He said: "That was the naturalist picture we have of my grand father."

Evenly Matched.

"Are they well matched?" "Well, she's his second wife, but he's her second husband, so neither has any talking advantage over the other."

KILLED THE FEUD SPIRIT

"Burns of the Mountains" Educated the Feud Out of the Hearts of Kentucky Mountaineers

It is seldom that we read now of feud killings in the mountains of Kentucky, and the man who did more to kill the feud spirit than any other single person is coming to Chautauqua on the second night to speak on the "Remaking of the Kentucky Mountaineers." He is President James A. Burns of Oneida Institute, more familiarly known as "Burns of the Mountains." An outstanding American of purest Anglo-Saxon lineage, he was born in the Kentucky Mountains and was drawn into the feuds. His amazing story has been printed in some of our leading magazines and told in story by such famous writers as Emerson Hough. His story of the Kentucky mountaineers and their efforts to overcome the handicap of environment is one of the most thrilling told from any platform.

NEW YORK CONCERT TRIO

Three Brilliant Artist Musicians Coming to Chautauqua on the Second Day

The New York Concert Trio, which comes to Chautauqua on the second day, occupies a conspicuous place in the splendid list of musical attractions for the week. Every one of the three members of the company is an artist who has won recognition in their particular fields of musical endeavor.

May Elizabeth Rees, violinist, has achieved concert successes both in this country and abroad. She returned to Europe last year again to play for our boys in France and Belgium. She is unquestionably one of the best artists ever presented to western Chautauqua audiences. Ruth Beverly Cumming, soprano, possesses a voice of pure gold. She is considered by eastern critics as having one of the most promising voices among the sopranos of the younger generation. Lowell Patton, pianist, is a brilliant soloist and accompanist.

Prominent Entertainer Coming

"Man of a Thousand Laughs" Scheduled for Chautauqua on the Fifth Day in Two Programs

A good laugh is a tonic that everyone needs. It drives away the work-day cares and worries. Attend Chautauqua on the fifth day and you get liberal doses of this "easy-to-take medicine." J. Walter Wilson is coming, an entertainer with a thousand laughs wrapped up in his two programs. He is a splendid impersonator and a musician of unusual ability. He sings well, plays the flute, saxophone and most every kind of musical device you can imagine.

The Secret of a Superlative Tire

The whole question of a super-tire is a matter of principles. For there is nothing exclusive in the industry. No patents, no secret formulas prevent a conscientious maker from building the best.

But cost and competition modify ideals. The Brunswick idea is to pay perfection's price and get it.

That has been the Brunswick policy since 1845. And it accounts for the growing preference for Brunswick Tires. Motorists expect the utmost from a tire bearing the name of Brunswick—and get it.

You, too, will be convinced by your first Brunswick, that here is an extraordinary tire, and that more money cannot buy a better.

Better tires of their type are impossible—or better tubes. That we guarantee.

Try ONE Brunswick—learn how it excels.

Dr. Ng Poon Chew

Chinese Statesman and Journalist Comes on Third Night of Chautauqua

Probably no member of the Chinese race in America is more highly respected and admired than Ng Poon Chew, the journalist, humorist and statesman, who comes to Chautauqua on the third night.

The Los Angeles Times of recent date says: "A more brilliant speaker has not addressed a Los Angeles audience in many moons than the Chinese statesman, scholar and editor—Ng Poon Chew. With his wit and wisdom, his eloquence and logic he won round after round of hearty applause and provoked peals of laughter from the audience which filled the big auditorium. Dr. Chew is managing editor of America's first Chinese daily.
