"The Stolen Kiss" featuring Constance Binney..

For obsorbing drama and delicious numor, touched with flashes of pathos nothing equals Constance Binney's newest Realart production, "The Stolen Kiss," which is scheduled to appear at the Gem Theatre on Thursday, July 22.

"The Stolen Kiss' is a "different" picture. It portrays with quaint charm the story of a little Brooklyn girl with a French accent, who is kept in sheer ignorance of the simplest things in life by her misguided though affectionate grandfather. The story hinges upon the efforts of Felicia Day, who is called "Little Miss By-the-Day" because she hires out to sew "by the day", to earn sent. sufficient money to recover the ownership of her beautiful home, which has been legally entangled by an unfrowsy lodgers who have taken posa group of potential geniusesyoung men and girls discovered by Felicia in the last stages of despair. Under the benign influence of her natchless courage they regain their confidence and succeed in working out their destinies.

Constance Binney is seen in a dual role in this production. She

The robber had entered the premises through a window at the side of the building, which it seems, was partly open, being held down by a stick for ventilation. When Wagner left the Cigar Stand late the previous night, it seems he had only partly turned the lock in the safe, and the robber evidently having noticed this, all he had to do was to turn the lock back. To Wagner's surprise the next morning the safe was minus the box and the money which it con-
