Sixty thousand Apply for Driver's License

Approximately 60,000 Oregon residents who operate motor vehicles had applied for the state license up to close of time of the secretary of state's office Friday evening. At the rate of permits for the past few days it is expected that the 100,000 mark will be sight if not exceeded by the end of this week. A dozen extra girls arranged in checking over the applications and making out the licenses. Even with this extra assistance it will be a physical impossibility to clear the application files for at least three weeks. In view of this fact it is not expected that any attempt will be made to enforce the law which comes operative today until about August 1. By that time it is believed applications will be taken care of as fast as received, leaving no one for a driver to be without the required state permit. Under the provisions of the law no person, who the owner of an automobile is, is permitted to drive a car without a state license. Licenses will be issued to all persons applying who are more than sixteen years of age and who had at least six days experience in the operation of a motor vehicle. Special learners permits are also provided for those without the required five days experience. The licenses, to which a fee of twenty-five cents apply, are perpetual except that they may be revoked upon the recommendation of a peace officer for violation of traffic rules or for reckless driving or incompetency.

Imported Cows Go High.

Eighteen imported heifers and two Tillamook bulls were sold at the Guernsey sale Friday at Dr. Reedy's Cattle Exchange. The sale started at 11:45, with an address by Roy C. Jones. He told of the prominence that the Guernsey Club had obtained, also of how he had drawn the eighteen head of cattle from the fifty-eight that had been obtained from the island by Mr. Kerr, for the Oregon State Guernsey Club. Mrs. Hughes, wife of the auctioneer, drew the lot for Clackamas county. Col. G. W. Hughes, who was assisted with the auctioning by Ira Lance, followed Mr. Jones's address with a very interesting talk.

After lunch, which was served at 12:45, Mr. Webster, a prominent Agriculturist of Montana, addressed the audience in a very interesting manner.

The highest price paid was $1150, by Ira G. Lance, the next highest being $750 by Chas. McKillip.

The heavy buyers were: W. Glick, who paid $1665 for three head; Charles McKillip, $1560 for three head. The average selling price of the cattle was about $700, the lowest being $325, with the exception of a 4 month old bull that was offered by Dr. Reedy, which went at $250. It seems strange that the people thought that if the cattle were imported they were so much better than the ones raised in Tillamook. There is not one iota of difference in them, as the ones offered that were raised here had pedigrees that were just the same as the others.

After the sale a picture of the crowd was taken, upon the request of the National Cattle Club.

The following is a list of the cattle sold, with buyer's name and the price paid for them:

Railroad May Extend to Tillamook City.

Apparently there is more to the building of the railroad from Willamina to Grand Ronde than was mentioned in last week's Observer.

The road is rapidly being built by a crew of men from Chicago, and within a short time it will be in operation. It is quite probable that the same company will extend the roadway from Grand Ronde into Tillamook, which would accommodate the tourists of Polk and Yamhill counties.

The building of this new road will only be a matter of time, as the workmen are now excavating and blasting out the mountain preparing the bed for the new road. The railroad will run along the side of the present traveled highway.

A few miles from Willamina the workmen have erected barracks and a wooden city has sprung up over night. These buildings are only temporary and can be moved to another point when that portion of the road is completed.—Polk Co. Observer.

OREGON'S DUAL SYSTEM OF LEGISLATURE.

Eleven Measures to Go On Ballot Including Single Tax.

A total of eleven measures will demand the attention of Oregon voters who visit the polls at the regular general election next November. Two of these measures will be on the ballot by virtue of the action of the 1919 legislature in referring them to a vote of the people, one is up for consideration because of the invocation of the referendum on an act of the 1919 legislature, and eight of the measures are being initiated through petitions filed prior to closing time on the last day for filing.

Four measures for which petitions have been circulated throughout the state failed to qualify for a place on the November ballot at the last minute, although Secretary of State Kozler stuck to his office until midnight to give stragglers a chance to file. These four measures are D. E. Frost's attempt to prohibit the sale, use or possession of cigarettes in Oregon; the minimum wage law proposed by J. E. Medley of Portland; the proposed amendment to the fish and game laws, giving to each county exclusive jurisdiction over fish and game within its own boundaries; and a measure which would prohibit the use of seines, traps or fish wheels in Oregon streams.

The two referred measures are the compulsory voting and registration amendment involving the automatic resignation of all qualified voters within the state and the privilege of voting by mail in the event of inability to visit the polls, and a proposed constitutional amendment regulating legislative term from forty to sixty days with restrictions on the introduction of bills the last forty days in order to eliminate the eleventh-hour rush experienced under the present system. It would also increase the pay of legislators from $3 to $5 per day and increase the mileage from ten cents to fifteen cents per mile.

The oleomargarine bill around which the most bitter battle of the 1919 session was waged has been revived through the aid of the referendum invoked by the Associated Industries of Oregon. The measure provides for the regulation and licensing of sales of oleomargarine, nut margarine and similar butter substitutes.

The eight initiated measures up for consideration, their initiators and their support are as follows:

Single tax constitutional amendment initiated by Oregon Single Tax league, provides that all necessary revenues for the maintenance of state county, municipal and district government shall be raised by a tax on the value of land irrespective of improvements in or on it.

Fixing terms for certain county officers, initiated by Herbert B. Dewart of Portland and R. J. Green of LaGrande provides for the election of county clerks, treasurers, sheriffs, coroners, and surveyors for a four year term instead of for two years as at present.

Part of Portland dock commission consolidated bill, initiated by committee of fifteen, Portland, provides for purchase by port of property from city of Portland for promotion of shipping interests also for issuance of bonds not to exceed five per cent of valuation of port.

Anti-compulsory vaccination bill, initiated by Public School Protective league, Portland, provides for the abolition of compulsory vaccination in public schools.

Fixing legal rate of interest, initiated by J. F. Albright of Oregon City, provides for legal rate of interest in Oregon not to exceed four per cent per year except that a rate of five per cent is permitted through contract.

Roosevelt bird refuge measure, initiated by Roosevelt Bird Refuge association, provides ceding of Malheur lake, Harney county, to the federal government for use as a bird refuge to be named the Roosevelt Bird Refuge in memory of former President Theodore Roosevelt.

Divided legislative session constitutional amendment, initiated by State Taxpayers league, proposes a session of two periods with a recess between, the first period of forty days introduction and consideration of bills and a second period of not to exceed ten days for final action on measures, no amendments to measures being permitted during this session without consent of four-fifths of the members of both houses.

State market commission act, initiated by State Taxpayers league, creates state market commission with a state market director at salary of $5,000 per year to assist in the economical distribution of products at fair prices. The measure would also require the market director to disseminate information concerning market conditions, encourage co-operation among producers, distributors and consumers; mediate disputes when requested; supervise markets and co-operative associations, issue labels in certain cases, inspect products in storage, warehouse and common carriers. An appropriation of $50,000 for the administration of the measures through 1922 is carried in the measure.
