

SEVENTH ANNUAL TILLAMOOK COUNTY FAIR.

The following special prizes have been offered :

- By the 1st National Bank of Tillamook $15.00, $10.00 and $5.00 for the best three calves exhibited by boys and girls of Tillamook County.
- By the Tillamook County Bank $20.00, $15.00, $7.50, $5.00 and $2.50 offered as prizes in milk test.
- By Nehalem Valley Bank, silver cap for best set of sire, Jersey, Holstein, Guernsey.
- By Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bays, of Cloverdale, a pure bred Jersey heifer calf for the best Jersey calf exhibited at the fair by boys and girls.

Tuesday, September 14th, 1920
OPENING DAY
BASE BALL GAME
BEAVER vs. TILLAMOOK
1.00 P. M. Sharp

Horse Racing Following the Ball Game

Speaking in the Evening at 8 O'clock

Wednesday, Sept. 15th, Stock Judging Begins

AFTERNOON SPORTS: Big Base Ball Game at One O'clock

HORSE RACES

View the Exhibits and Listen to the Band Concerts Afternoon and Evening

Thursday, Sept. 16, Childrens' Day
All School Children Admitted Free
JUDGING

Sports in Afternoon: Ball Game, Horse Racing, Foot Racing

Awarding of Medals in Watson Essay Contest. Come and See This.
24 Medals Awarded to Boys and Girls. Awards by O. M. Plummer of the Pacific International Stock Show.

Band Concert Afternoon and Evening

FRIDAY, SEPT. 17, Big Pure Bred Stock Parade

See Boys and Girls Club Exhibit, Calves, Etc.

Band Concert Afternoon and Evening

BIRDS IN COMBAT

Feathered Creatures Sometimes Battle to the Death.

Contrary to Pretty Theory, Perfect Peace Does Not Always Reign Within Those "Little Nests" as Sung by Poet.

"Birds in their little nests agree," wrote Doctor Watts. If the eminent preacher had chanced to witness an incident similar to that which I saw the other day, says a writer in the London Daily Mail, he would never have penned that libel.

I was walking across a London golf course when two sparrows shot past my head, chattering violently, and, coming to ground a few yards away, set to fighting so furiously that I was actually able to pick them both up in my hands.

I let one go at once; the other I carried a little distance before liberating it. Will you believe it?—a moment later the two were at it again, beak and claws.

Almost all birds fight furiously in the springtime. Even turtle doves, those emblems of peace, will go for one another in the mating season.

The various methods of offense adopted by different birds are interesting. Sparrows use their powerful beaks but hold one another with their claws. Starlings fight in exactly similar fashion. Their combats are at times most desperate. A friend saw one cock starling actually kill another.

Pigeons use their wings but rarely do one another much harm. Swans fight with their wings, and their strength is so great that their battles sometimes result fatally. I have, however, seen a swan apparently endeavoring to hold the head of a rival under water, but I was not near enough to make out what happened.

Some birds have spurs on their wings. The spur-winged goose, which is a small, long-legged bird and rather resembles a duck on stilts, has extraordinary wing power. One of these geese went for a gardener who had gone into its inclosure in the "zoo" and gave him a blow on the knee that laid him up for a week. The crested screecher has actually double spurs on its wings and is a very awkward customer to tackle.

All the birds of prey use their talons as their principal weapons. The strength which lies in the talons of even a small hawk is almost incredible. As for an eagle, one has been known to drive its claws clean through the skull of a large tomcat into the brain, killing the animal instantly.

The pheasants are the only family of birds provided with spurs. Our domestic fowls are, of course, members of this genus, and it is in the game fowl that the spur is developed to the greatest perfection. These leg spurs resemble the horns of cattle, in that they have a bony core protected by a smooth sheath of horn.

The guinea-fowl, again, is singular in that it has a blunt horn upon its head which it uses as an offensive weapon.

I have never seen two herons fight, but if they did they would use their beaks and their beaks alone. The driving power of the long, sharp-pointed beak of a heron is immense, and when a heron is hawked you may see it endeavor to spit its smaller assailant upon its beak.

An ostrich farmer tells me that he has known an ostrich to pierce a sheet of corrugated iron with one tremendous kick.

Novel on a Sheet of Paper.
The publishing house of Bailey Balliere in Madrid is publishing complete novels, each printed on one large sheet of paper, folded once, about the size of a four-page newspaper. The type is arranged in book-size pages, so that by folding the sheet several times and cutting the pages the purchaser has an unbound book. The first novel thus published—"Jose," by A. Palacio Valdes—was sold for five centavos, or about 1 cent.—From the Writer.

Two in One.
Recently the six-year-old son of the family attempted to take up the question of future habitation with his three-year-old brother with the following result:
"Where are you going when you die, Billy?"
"In my grave."
"I mean are you going to heaven too?"

Slow.
"Well," said the genial old gentleman, "are you getting ready for the next war?"
"I should say not," replied the former doughboy. "Why, I haven't written a book about the last war yet."
—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The statement of Secretary Baker that American boys dying on the field of battle in Germany were consoled in their last moments by the thoughts that they had given up their last moments by the thoughts that they had given up their lives for the league of nations is just about the most asinine bit of political bunk yet exploded in the Coxonian pitiful barrage.

Governor Cox has been appealing to the vets, or perhaps, as was remarked to Samuel Welliver, it should be "spelled with a 'we'."

Novel on a Sheet of Paper.
The publishing house of Bailey Balliere in Madrid is publishing complete novels, each printed on one large sheet of paper, folded once, about the size of a four-page newspaper. The type is arranged in book-size pages, so that by folding the sheet several times and cutting the pages the purchaser has an unbound book. The first novel thus published—"Jose," by A. Palacio Valdes—was sold for five centavos, or about 1 cent.—From the Writer.

Two in One.
Recently the six-year-old son of the family attempted to take up the question of future habitation with his three-year-old brother with the following result:
"Where are you going when you die, Billy?"
"In my grave."
"I mean are you going to heaven too?"

Slow.
"Well," said the genial old gentleman, "are you getting ready for the next war?"
"I should say not," replied the former doughboy. "Why, I haven't written a book about the last war yet."
—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The statement of Secretary Baker that American boys dying on the field of battle in Germany were consoled in their last moments by the thoughts that they had given up their last moments by the thoughts that they had given up their lives for the league of nations is just about the most asinine bit of political bunk yet exploded in the Coxonian pitiful barrage.

Governor Cox has been appealing to the vets, or perhaps, as was remarked to Samuel Welliver, it should be "spelled with a 'we'."

Novel on a Sheet of Paper.
The publishing house of Bailey Balliere in Madrid is publishing complete novels, each printed on one large sheet of paper, folded once, about the size of a four-page newspaper. The type is arranged in book-size pages, so that by folding the sheet several times and cutting the pages the purchaser has an unbound book. The first novel thus published—"Jose," by A. Palacio Valdes—was sold for five centavos, or about 1 cent.—From the Writer.

Two in One.
Recently the six-year-old son of the family attempted to take up the question of future habitation with his three-year-old brother with the following result:
"Where are you going when you die, Billy?"
"In my grave."
"I mean are you going to heaven too?"

Slow.
"Well," said the genial old gentleman, "are you getting ready for the next war?"
"I should say not," replied the former doughboy. "Why, I haven't written a book about the last war yet."
—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The statement of Secretary Baker that American boys dying on the field of battle in Germany were consoled in their last moments by the thoughts that they had given up their last moments by the thoughts that they had given up their lives for the league of nations is just about the most asinine bit of political bunk yet exploded in the Coxonian pitiful barrage.

Governor Cox has been appealing to the vets, or perhaps, as was remarked to Samuel Welliver, it should be "spelled with a 'we'."

Novel on a Sheet of Paper.
The publishing house of Bailey Balliere in Madrid is publishing complete novels, each printed on one large sheet of paper, folded once, about the size of a four-page newspaper. The type is arranged in book-size pages, so that by folding the sheet several times and cutting the pages the purchaser has an unbound book. The first novel thus published—"Jose," by A. Palacio Valdes—was sold for five centavos, or about 1 cent.—From the Writer.

Two in One.
Recently the six-year-old son of the family attempted to take up the question of future habitation with his three-year-old brother with the following result:
"Where are you going when you die, Billy?"
"In my grave."
"I mean are you going to heaven too?"

Slow.
"Well," said the genial old gentleman, "are you getting ready for the next war?"
"I should say not," replied the former doughboy. "Why, I haven't written a book about the last war yet."
—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The statement of Secretary Baker that American boys dying on the field of battle in Germany were consoled in their last moments by the thoughts that they had given up their last moments by the thoughts that they had given up their lives for the league of nations is just about the most asinine bit of political bunk yet exploded in the Coxonian pitiful barrage.

Governor Cox has been appealing to the vets, or perhaps, as was remarked to Samuel Welliver, it should be "spelled with a 'we'."

A Bank That's Squarely Behind Business
 Of the many forms of co-operation afforded by the First National Bank, perhaps the most striking is that which has been contributed to the upbuilding of the industries of Tillamook County. It would be hard to find an important activity in which our services have not figured.

"NATIONALIZED" ACCOUNTS.
DIRECTORS.
 JOHN MORGAN, C. J. EDWARDS,
 A. W. BUNN, B. C. LAMB,
 HENRY ROGERS, W. J. RICHERS,
 C. A. MCGIBB

The First National Bank
 TILLAMOOK, OREGON

FREE!

Pennsylvania
AUTO TUBE
"TON TESTED"

Cut down your tire and tube expenditures by anticipating your Spring and Summer requirements and getting—
Absolutely FREE
 one "Ton Tested" Tube, of corresponding size, with every Vacuum Cup Tire bought at our store. Act quickly. This offer is LIMITED. Once it expires, it will not be renewed. Early ordering will avoid disappointment.

WILLIAMS, & WILLIAMS,
 Tillamook City, Oregon.

Chiropractor Locates in Tillamook

Dr. Forest L. Howard, Chiropractor, formerly of Portland, Ore., has opened an office at 211 Tillamook Bldg.

Portland-Tillamook Stage Line.

A new Portland-Tillamook stage line has been established here. The stage will leave Tillamook on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, at 7:30 a. m., arriving in Portland at 2:30 p. m.

For Sale.

Hercules hot water and steam heating plant and fittings, in good shape. Sealed bids to be received by district clerk within thirty days from date of notice. Reserve right to reject, any or all bids.

July 8, 1920.
Ruby S. Lommen, Dist. clerk,
Dist. No. 24, Balm School.

Notice to the Public

Having bought out Mr. Sutton's interest in the Sutton & Loll Meat Market, I wish to inform our patrons they will receive the same courteous treatment in the future as they have in the past.

Restaurant Open at Rockaway.

The Elmore Annex Restaurant, next to the Elmore Hotel, is now open for the season. Chicken dinner served Sundays from 1 to 5 p. m. Special attention given parties on reservation. "Quality our Motto."

But, Somehow, They Can't Live it Down

An amusing incident marked the visit to South Bend, Ind., of Governor Cox the other day. The stand from which he spoke in front of the courthouse was elaborately decorated. It was discovered however, that there was no picture of President Wilson among the flag bunting effects. Democratic attics were searched, and finally a large picture used four years ago in the campaign was located. It was prominently hung at the very front of the stand.

The picture had been in place several hours when a word got around that the South Bend Republicans were having a great laugh and had gone so far as to have photographs of the decorated stand taken. Upon investigation the Democrats found that under the Wilson picture of 1916 vintage was this inscription: "Peace with honor. He kept us out of war."

Forthwith the big picture was hauled down, and after another search a smaller picture, sans inscription, took its place.

All Animals.

"Every one in our family is some kind of an animal," said Jimmy to the amazed preacher.

"Why, you shouldn't say that!" the good man exclaimed.

"Well," said Jimmy, "mother's a dear, the baby is mother's little lamb, I'm the kid, and dad's the goat."

"Man Cannot Make a Worm."
An Ohio newspaper editor spent a few days in New York and while there somebody asked him how he liked the big town.

"I care for it very little," replied the editor. "Did you ever think of this: Suppose you lived in New York and wanted to go fishing. Where would you go to dig a can of worms?"

THE UNIVERSITY OF OREGON
 —is maintained by the state in order that the young people of Oregon may receive, without cost, the benefits of a liberal education.

The University includes the College of Literature, Science and the Arts, the Graduate School, the School of Physical Education, and the professional Schools of Law, Medicine (at Portland), Architecture, Commerce, Journalism, Education, and Music.

High standards of scholarship are made possible by an able faculty, well equipped laboratories and a library of nearly 400,000 volumes.

Supervised athletics are encouraged and every attention given the health and welfare of the students.

With a heightened confidence defined by the recent expression of public support, the University is now entering upon an era of large development and extended usefulness.

For a catalogue or for any information, address:
THE REGISTRAR
 University of Oregon
 Eugene, Oregon

DR. J. E. SHEARER
DE A. C. CRANK
 Drs. Shearer & Crank
 Medical & Surgery
 National Building
 Tillamook - - - Oregon.