

Charles E. Hughes Joins Actors In Paying Tribute to Harding

On the same day that sixty members of the Harding-Coolidge Theatrical League journeyed from New York to Marion to greet Senator Harding, Charles E. Hughes dropped off the train at the now famous Ohio town to visit the Republican nominee for President. Al Jolson, president of the league, immediately elected Mr. Hughes a member, and together they played an important part in the day's program. Here we see Senator Harding, Eugene O'Brien, motion picture star, and Mr. Hughes.

The Cloverdale paper appears to have taken place at Kalamah recently, when a large number of persons were roasted alive when a large frame building, used for hotel purposes, caught fire, is liable to be repeated in this city at any time, for we have exactly the same fire traps in this city as they had at Kalamah.

One of our business men was hot in the collar after he made a visit to Bayocan. We are not going to repeat the exact words, but he said it was a -- well, an outrage that those people were deprived of a road. We heartily coincide with the business man and he only expresses the opinion of the entire community.

For the edification and comfort of those who claim that Governor Cox will carry Ohio, at the recent primary in that state 280,000 republicans and 125,000 democrats participated. Does that look as though Cox will carry Ohio? And in regard to California there are 780,000 republicans and 283,000 democrats enrolled.

Senator Chamberlain is for Governor Cox for president, and both being democrats, it is perfectly proper that the senator is wanting to see Cox elected. So our George is a full fledged democrat this year and republicans who are going to vote for Harding for president should also vote for Stanfield for United States Senator if they want a republican administration and a republican senate to back up a republican president. It can't be done by republicans voting for Chamberlain.

So the false accusations made by Governor Cox that the republican party was raising a slush fund of $15,000,000 to buy the presidency has fizzled out and proved to be only another democratic lie. Governor Cox and his running mate commenced the accusations and mud slinging, and now that the senate investigation committee have proved that they were uttering falsehoods, they keep on making the false accusations against the republican party. The investigation, however, proved one thing, and that was that the liquor interests were giving their support to Governor Cox.

How funny. Governor Cox in his political speeches abuse United States Senators who voted against Wilson's league of nations, overlooking the fact that Senator Chamberlain was one of the senators in the last vote in the Senate who flopped over and voted for the league amendment. Where George stands today, one guess is as good as another. He is not out of place to ask him, if he is now in favor of the Wilson cabinet, or against it, for the Democratic platform is in favor of it. Yet one cannot tell after George does say which side of the fence he is on whether he will stay there. Seeing that he is now for Governor Cox and the Governor is for the Wilson league, and George being a democrat he must be for the Wilson league.

Some twenty-five years ago, when the initiative and referendum agitation first started in Oregon, the editor was called a moss-back, non-progressive and a back number because we opposed the initiative features of the proposed constitutional amendment. We took the criticism in good part, knowing full well that some day the people of Oregon would realize that they were making a mistake. The 4 and 5 per cent interest rate bill to be voted upon next November simply shows that the initiative law can be worked by some scheming person to injure the financial and industrial life of Oregon, which was one of our contentions when the agitation was first started. We think we are entitled to an apology from the editors who called us a moss-back, non-progressive and a back number.

Eight years ago Bro. Trombly was strong on democratic political slush, for he tooted his horn that if the democratic party was returned to power the high cost of living would come down. Alas, it has gone up from 200 to 300 per cent. Four years ago, Bro. Trombly tooted another tune "He kept us out of war," and in a few months the country was plunged into the world war that President Wilson kept us out of. Now the democratic party has another bright idea. It is preaching "wet" in the East and "dry" in the West, with a wet candidate for president having the support of Tammany and the liquor interests. But we guess that Ed, like a good many more democrats in the county will swallow the high cost of living they promised to reduce without saying one word, and in some mysterious manner swallow the "wet" candidate, and Tammany as well, for if Cox is elected, Tammany will reign supreme again in New York and at the White House.

The action of the Tillamook County Creamery Association on Monday in passing a resolution condemning the 4 and 5 per cent interest rate measure to be voted on in November should be the action of every farmer's organization in Oregon, as the Tillamook Association represents the best and most successful co-operative association of farmers in the state. And when that organization goes on record as opposed to any initiative measure it means that Tillamook county is going to swat the interest rate bill good and hard in November. And it will be the dairymen who will do it. It seems that some people are laboring under a false idea about the measure, for they freely predict that they will be able to borrow money at 4 and 5 per cent if the measure carries. We want to disabuse their minds of this erroneous impression, for they will not be able to do so. It is just as well to admit it that the measure is aimed to cripple the financial and industrial life of Oregon and will drive money away from the state.

Oregon is advised to do what Maine did the first part of the week when it rolled up a big vote in condemnation of the democratic party, which wasted the people's money like a lot of drunken sailors. The Maine election is convincing that there will be a republican land slide all over the country in November. And Oregon is advised to send a republican senator to Washington to help the republican president. To do so republicans must quit voting for Chamberlain and this year Robert N. Stanfield is the republican nominee for United States Senator. A large number of democrats have deserted Senator Chamberlain and will not vote for him, and as Oregon is supported by a large number it should have a republican to represent the state, who will have influence with the republican administration. By giving Robert N. Stanfield your support and vote for United States Senator, Oregon will do the same as Maine did in September.

"His (Cox's) nomination would make the democratic party the leader of the lawless element of the country and his selection, if such a thing were possible, would turn the White House over to those who defy the government and hold law in contempt. * * * There is no chance of his election if nominated, but why should any democrat be willing to support a man whose nomination would insult the conscience of the nation?"—William Jennings Bryan, in a statement issued before the San Francisco convention.

On Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays Franklin Roosevelt says the republican campaign fund is $30,000,000 and on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays Governor Cox says it's $15,000,000. What's a few millions more or less to representatives of an administration that has been spending billions with as much abandon as is ordinarily employed in letting loose of anikel at Coney Island?

The report for the month of August of the Nestucca Valley Cow Testing Association is as follows: Average pounds milk, 626; average pounds butterfat, 28.92 number of cows tested during the month, 608; number of cows producing over 40 pounds fat, 55.

The three high grade herds are: Joe Sheiber, 21 cows, 910 lbs. milk, 44.10 fat. M. N. Bays, 22, 735 lbs. milk, 37.32 lbs. fat. J. C. Dunn, 18, 825 lbs. milk, 35.96 lbs. fat.

The high pure bred cow was Yukon's Golden Glow, a Jersey owned by M. N. Bays. Her record is: 973 lbs. milk and 47.7 lbs. fat.

The high grade cow was Nellie, also a Jersey, owned by Joe Sheiber. She gave 1212 lbs. of milk with 54.5 lbs. fat.

HAVE ANIMALS SIXTH SENSE? Hard Otherwise to Explain How Wild Beasts Knew That the Great War Was Over.

Frightened by the noises of battle the wild beasts of East, Central and West Central Africa went scurrying north and south, traveling sometimes hundreds of miles in their fright and taking refuge in localities entirely new to them. But just as the ruins of northern France have drawn human beings back to them—men and women who dwell there before the German occupation, some have claimed the wild animals and most of them are now back in their native haunts.

How did the wild beast know that the war was over? The elephant, gorilla, giraffe, antelope, buffalo, rhinoceros, lion, leopard and porcupine are certainly all perfectly aware of the fact.

Human beings have their various avenues of sending news, chief among these the newspapers, the post and the telegraph. Whatever the method of communication, the wild animals certainly got the news quickly.

Peace was no sooner accomplished than the African natives began to see the homeward migration of whole companies of wild beasts through their territories, animals never familiar in these particular communities and obviously passing through.

Four years previously they had come crashing through the underbrush, bound in an opposite direction. They were in great haste then and possessed of fear; and pachyderms and carnivora traveled together, the age old war of the jungle forgotten in a common plight.

Birds may become accustomed to the sound of firing, but wild animals loathe it. Fear of strange noises is instinctive with them. Animals born in captivity invariably show this instinctive dread. And it is a well-known fact in zoological parks that apes can be controlled instantly by the display of a musket, even when as far as is known they have never seen one spit fire.

Women's Rights in China. A personal government in the province of Huhsh China, is endeavoring by official action to bring the women to order and reason. In the matter of "dresses" and "clothes" are permitted to wear extraordinary "clothes," runs the official order which the police have been instructed to enforce.

An extraordinary story comes from Shanghai (China) of a find by some railway men at Harbin. A box car addressed to Colonel Bullock, who is the Russian representative at Harbin, was found in the part of the order which states that the importance of bearing and clothes is to be recognized. In view of the fact that women are playing an important part in modern politics in western countries, and there is sufficient reason to believe that this awakening of the gentle sex will soon be extended to the far East.

Money. After having studied the careers of many of our richest men, and after having obtained from many of them an outpouring of their inmost thoughts, my conclusion about money is this, says a writer in Forbes Magazine: "Money is a very desirable thing, even a lot of it. Its possession enables one to do a great many things which are impossible if one lacks it. There is no such potent material instrument for enabling one to do worthy deeds in large numbers and on a large scale. Money, indeed, is so desirable, so useful, so rich in possibilities for worthy accomplishment, that one should exercise every honorable effort to acquire every dollar of it that one can earn, but there is not enough money in the world to compensate one for turning even one sharp corner, for never have I known an instance of ill-gotten money to have yielded true happiness to possessor and his offspring."

Bird Protection Important. Preserving birds is game is only one part of the duty of the government. They are even more valuable as enemies of noxious weeds and insects. They are the farmer's best friends, though he is too often oblivious of the fact, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. Those who care nothing for their beauty of plumage and song must recognize the circumstance. Yet the birds have been too long the prey of their human hunters. Some species have been wellnigh exterminated in consequence. To protect them in the United States and Canada will accomplish much, though to make the protection of many of the migrants complete Mexico and Central American countries should join in the work.

Seal Herds Increasing. The protective measure adopted by the government for the benefit of the seals in our waters has been entirely successful, as indicated by the great number of animals seen to be migrating to the Arctic sea. The migration was three weeks earlier than usual, and an unusually large amount of animals were noted on their way to the north.

CONDITIONS NOW AND IN 1865 According to General Sherman's Memoirs, History Seems to Be Merely Repeating Itself.

A single page in the story of the Civil war, the Memoirs of General Sherman, carries observations by two Ohio men prominent in that war, General Sherman himself and Secretary of War Stanton, that have a strangely familiar sound now amid the distressing conditions that have followed the World War here.

General Sherman has arrived with his story at the opening of the year 1865, and he is dealing with the closing scenes of the Civil war. He is at Savannah and the secretary of war is there, partly on an official visit and partly for recreation. The policy of enlisting slaves is under discussion and the order giving the freed slaves the right to occupy seized lands is agreed on.

"He professed to have come from Washington for rest and recreation," writes General Sherman, "and he spoke unreservedly of the bitterness and jealousies at the national capital, of the interminable quarrels of the state governors about their quotas and more particularly of the very existence of the government itself."

"He said that the price of everything had so risen in comparison with the depreciated money that there was danger of national bankruptcy, and he appealed to me, as a soldier and patriot, to hurry up matters so as to bring the war to a close."

"I was quite impatient to get off myself, for city life had become dull and tame, and we were all anxious to get into the pine woods again, free from the opportunities of Southern women asking for protection, and of civilians from the North who were coming to Savannah for cotton and all sorts of profit."

High prices, weariness of the war conditions, eagerness on all sides for the return of peace, swarms of people at Washington—official and private citizens, with axes to grind, and speculators from the North pushing right down to the battle lines in promoting their profiteering enterprises. But we came through it—Columbus Dispatch.

Cured by Gold Injections. The very latest post-war discovery is the curing of certain ailments by means of injections of diluted gold. This very expensive method of restoring lost health was discovered by a French doctor who has completely cured a wealthy Parisian of a complaint similar to shell-shock. Although gold is very scarce at present, a limited supply is available for medicinal purposes. The price for one injection of good quality gold sometimes reaches the fifty-pound mark, while in one or two exceptional cases gold injections have cost over a hundred pounds each. Consequently, only very rich persons can at present undergo this gold treatment, which has been successful in rescuing several cases of complete nervous breakdown. It should be remembered, however, that the gold itself is of no great value as a tonic. The idea in making the injections is to live up to the patient and prevent him or her from brooding too seriously. This done, doctors believe that half the battle is won. Strange to say, the injections are not made through the usual type of syringe, but generally through a conical-shaped tube of pure platinum costing over twelve hundred dollars.
