Loyal Legion Votes Pay Decrease

At a well attended 4L meeting Dec. 8, the proposition of the men taking a voluntary cut of 15 and 20 per cent in wages was voted on, and adopted by an overwhelming majority.

The men felt that the lumber market was in such shape that some relief had to be given the Wheeler Lbr. Co., one of the few mills operating at the present time.

The new scale, to go into effect Dec. 15, is the same as paid some time before March 1, 1919, and the minimum scale is now $4.40 per day for common labor.—Wheeler Reporter.

TILLAMOOK CHEESE MARKET CONTINUES IN FINE SHAPE

Creamery Association Has Contracted For Alfalfa Hay For Patrons

The Tillamook cheese market is still in fine shape, reports Secretary Haberschlag of the Creamery Association. All Tillamook cheese up to December 10th is sold. The Wisconsin market remains unchanged except for a 1c decrease in Daisies. Seattle condensaries are said to be now paying $1.70 for milk.

Several matters in Los Angeles requiring the attention of the Creamery Association, E. J. Clausen, will leave for the south Friday to take care of them.

Mr. Haberschlag states that the Creamery Association has contracted for more alfalfa hay to sell to the patrons.

The milk checks are expected to be out about the 8th of January.

WASHINGTON SERVICE MEN'S BONUS PAID IN FEBRUARY

For the information of Washington ex-service men who have applied to the Tillamook County Chapter Red Cross to obtain the bonus granted them by that state, the local chapter is informed that the bonus will not be paid before February or March. The ex-service men will be paid for the number of months they served, but the maximum is 31 months. The bonus for the ex-service men who served that length of time will be $465.00, and the minimum $15 for 16 days' service. It is expected that the Oregon legislature will pass a similar law.

Motorists Disregard City Laws

The city authorities have had considerable trouble with motorists who insist on breaking the traffic laws. Quite a few have been fined during the last week for not parking their cars close enough to the curb, and on Wednesday, while the fire engine was being used to flush out the mud near the fire ditch, several motorists drove across the hose line laid along First avenue.

AT THE GEM THEATRE

Most people do not wish to see or hear anything more of the world war so recently finished. The trials and tribulations that they were compelled, through circumstances, to undergo, has made it a thing to be forgotten. But most people are willing to admit that there are post-war problems that it is necessary to take notice of. Henry C. Rowland, author of Tom Moore's latest Goldwyn starring vehicle, "Duds," deals with one of these problems in his story. "Duds" is a discharged U. S. army officer who cannot settle down in his pre-war job. He is continually seeking a position that will give him the excitement and thrills that he desires. He finds that for which he is seeking, and it is worth your while to see this picture when it comes to the Gem Wednesday December 29, and see how "Duds" makes good.

Tears vie with smiles in the story of "Homespun folks," Thomas H. Ince's tremendous triumph for the Associated Producers, Inc., which will be shown at the Gem Friday and Saturday, December 24 and 25. Perhaps in no American-made photoplay of recent years has there been such a vast wealth of appeal, combining human interest, comedy and melodrama. The new Ince picture contains heart throbs, romance and pathos, in addition to numerous comedy touches. It tells of a country lawyer's fight against crooked politics, and as a modern picture of small town life holds the mirror truthfully to the real thing. These are the high lights of "Homespun Folks"—its realism, its truth and its simple honesty. The characters are real, the plot is a story of human people and the direction is chock full of master touches.

Fighting a full-grown, blood-thirsty lion with no other weapon than one's bare hands, is not exactly a pleasant deed to undertake. That is exactly what Gene Pollar, who plays the hero in "The Return of Tarzan" is called upon to do. And let it be understood once and for all that said lion was young, lusty and rather hungry—not, as you might suppose, suffering from the last stages of senile decay. The fight upon the screen is only one of the tremendously exciting moments in an amazingly thrilling photoplay. "The Return of Tarzan" will be shown at the Gem Tuesday, December 28.

Mr. James, who was in the auto accident last week, is nursing a broken leg at the Boals hospital. Mrs. James is at home, but is still in a very critical condition.

NEW PAVING ON FIRST AVE. IMPERILED BY HIGH WATER

Only Prompt Work on Part of City Officials Saves Street Surface

The new pavement laid on First avenue to the water at Hogwart was in danger of being lost Tuesday night.

The government dredge, under the direction of Captain Groat, had been on the workings last week opening the ditch for the fire engine. In doing this a considerable quantity of soft mud was piled up on the east side of the new street. When the heavy rain started Tuesday afternoon the mud began to slide and forced the new pavement westward.

Several cracks appeared in the surface of the street and only quick work on the part of some of the city officials saved the piece.

Wednesday the fire engine was connected up and the deluge set was used on the mud in the hopes that it might be washed away. This was fairly successful and the pressure has been greatly relieved by the sluicing.

MILL WORKERS FIGURE IN AUTO WRECK KAT PORTLAND

Wednesday's Oregonian contained the following account of an auto accident in which several Tillamook county men were the victims:

A tangled heap of wreckage worthless even as junk, except for the lighting system, is all that remains of the large touring car, which plunged over the embankment at the foot of Hamilton avenue, at 1 A. M. yesterday, when the driver lost control on a steep grade. No serious injuries resulted to the five occupants and only one remained in the hospital.

The car, according to the occupants, was inbound from Tillamook. Besides R. A. Anderson, the driver and downer, William Wise, J. Carter, S. B. McGillicuddy and J. Skie were in the car. All had been engaged in mill work near Bay City and were coming in for the winter.

I. O. O. F. ITEMS

It takes some mathematician to figure out a way to pick two second degree teams of 14 members, out of a lodge attendance of 35 brothers, unless as was the case last meeting all are willing to do the best they can, which they did, and after choosing two judges to chalk up all mistakes, Bros. G. P. Winslow and staff took the chairs and conferred the degree on Bros. John Schinzing and C. B. Stanley, which was followed by Bro. C. Coe and staff who conferred the same degree on Bros. Roscoe Barker. Both teams are a credit to any lodge, but one team picked from these two expect to go to Grand Lodge in Albany next May, and carry off the honors in competition with all the lodges in the state. Brothers, if you have the honors of your lodge at heart, and would like to see your lodge placed at the head of the order in the state in putting on the second degree, come out to lodge meetings and help.

Brother J. A. Smith has so far recovered from his recent sickness that he was able to come to Tillamook this week.

Brother F. B. Culbertson is taking an enforced layoff. Having taken a notion to split some wood for his wife, and not being in the habit of using an axe, as that is not needed in making cheese, he made it necessary for Dr. Shearer to take nine stitches to sew his hand together.

Brother Dudley of Carleton lodge, who is confined to the Boals hospital, having had his foot amputated says one Odd Fellow has visited him since his misfortune. Brothers have you all forgotten your obligation to visit the sick and look after the needy? Will you be the first to kick if not looked after when misfortune overtakes you?

Watch these columns. Joint installation of officers soon after Jan. 1, 1921. Something doing at that time.

All Encampment members notice Patriarchal decree conferred Thursday evening, Dec. 23, 1920 Christmas.—F. F. Conover, Secretary.

FIRE DEPARTMENT AND CITIZENS MEET

Activities of Local Department Are Thoroughly Discussed At Session

CHIEF COATES AND OTHERS PRESENT AIR THEIR VIEWS

Much Preparation and Work Necessary For Successful Fire Fighting

A meeting of the members of the old and new city councils, the water commission, the Chamber of Commerce and the fire department was held in the City Hall Tuesday for the purpose of getting a better mutual understanding between the fire department and the taxpayers.

The local fire department has existed for years without a great amount of appreciation being shown for their efforts in preventing loss to our property owners. Lately they have progressed wonderfully but they felt that the citizens did not quite understand just what kind of problems they have been up against.

After a talk by Chief Coates, in which he called attention to the necessity of having the entire co-operation of the whole community in combating hazards and safeguarding property, several of those present expressed themselves as having been entirely ignorant of the methods of firefighting and the handling of fires. They had not realized before that those in charge of a fire department must have the whole town laid out in districts and have plans made for combating fires in every possible place and manner.

Chief Coates also spoke of the necessity of people watching their own fire hazards; the law does not entirely cover every danger that exists. Public buildings should be provided with the proper exits, which should be marked by certain signs.

Some of those present were H. H. Harris, W. T. Oatthout, M. R. Hanenkrat, Fred Christensen, J. C. Holden, Elmer Hoag, W. A. Hill, F. C. Baker, W. J. Riechers, C. E. Trombley and G. B. Lamb.

Society News

Mr. and Mrs. David Kuratli entertained the employees of the Tillamook County Bank at dinner last week. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Burr Beals, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Stanley, Miss Ruth Partridge, Miss Elizabeth Coates and Miss Buelah Rogers.

O. E. S. Kensington was entertained at the parlors of the Masonic Temple with Mesdames Heyd and Henkle as hostesses. There was a large attendance and about six or eight guests to enjoy the "doings" of the club. Everything bode the Christmas spirit and even Santa Claus was there with his "tinkling bells." The dining room was lovely in its green and red and over the table tiny glistening stars twinkling. The "cats" were typical of the good cooking always enjoyed by the members and displayed by the hostesses. The January meeting will be on the regular date.

Saturday evening, December 18, Mrs. J. W. Heyd and Miss Lelia Stutze entertained for the teachers and a few friends, fancy work being the feature of the evening. A delicious lunch, consisting of salad, sandwiches and coffee was served. Those present were Mesdames Stutze, Steinback, Beltz, Frank Heyd, De Boer, Hoskinson, Frank, Misses Hefly, Wilson, Barry, Beatman, White, Brackel, Starr and Stutz.

Credit Bureau Sues Merchants Credit Bureau vs. R. C. Craven is a suit filed in the circuit court this week in which the plaintiff demands judgment for the sum of $204.13, said to be due on various accounts at Dallas.

Married

Married, on Tuesday at the Methodist church parsonage, Guy Anderson and Mrs. Rosa Alvold, both of Tillamook. Rev. C. L. Dark, officiated.

M. E. Langston of the Whitney Lumber Co. was in town this week returning Thursday to attend to his duties.

Chas. Moore returned from Portland Thursday.

FRIENDS ATTEMPT TO STOP COMMITMENT OF INSANE MAN

Charles Sears Adjudge Unbalanced After Complaint Is Filed By Wife

Charles Sears, who was brought in from Blaine a few days ago and adjudged insane, was the cause of some little excitement Tuesday afternoon and evening.

It seems that Sears, who was recently married, was brought in on complaint of his wife with the request that he be sent to the state asylum for confinement. A number of his friends, believing that Mrs. Sears had come mercenary motive in doing this, resolved to stop the proceedings. They arrived in town, obtained an attorney and got the commitment delayed for one day. However, after due deliberation they decided to allow the law to take its course, but it is understood that an effort will be made to have the marriage annulled.

Sears is about 65 years old.

GOVERNMENT REMEMBERS VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR

Wm. S. Page, a veteran of the civil war, who lives at 421 Pitzer street, this city, was notified late last week that his application for an increase in pension had been allowed by the government, and beginning with Oct. 23, 1920, the old soldier will receive $72 per month owing to the fact that he is blind from experience undergone in 1861-1865. Following his enlistment in Company C, 29th Wisconsin infantry, Mr. Page served three years. He was with Grant's army for six weeks at the siege of Vicksburg, and also in many other engagements of that war. Mr. Page came of a family of fighters, his father serving in the Seventh Wisconsin, one of the companies of the famous "Iron Brigade." A younger brother was drummer boy in his regiment and another brother, only 15 at the time of his enlistment, a member of the 23rd Wisconsin Infantry, was drowned during the war. Mr. Page, now 79 years of age and blind, is the only surviving member of his father's family. Being somewhat of a musician, he passes much of his time playing on his violin, harp or fife, and varies these with the drum sticks. He played and sang for the public during the armistice day parade, and often plays for the G. A. R. or W. R. C., to which he and Mrs. Page belong.—Roseburg News-Review.

Mr. Page will be well remembered here by the old timers as the proprietor of a second-hand and shoe store. He left Tillamook about 14 years ago going to Oakdale, Washington, where he was in business about nine years, from there he went to Portland and finally moved to Roseburg about one year ago. Two sons, Eugene and Allen, still reside in Tillamook.

TILLAMOOK TRANSFER CO. GETS STREET CONTRACT

Bids were received by the city council last meeting for the improvement of Miller avenue from the south line of first street to the city limits by grading from first street to the city limits and paving with curb and sidewalks from first street to the south line of 8th street.

The bid of the Tillamook Transfer Company, being the lowest, was accepted. It calls for grading and paving at $27,950.44.

URGENT ATTENDANCE AT STATE MEETING OF COMMERCE BODY

A wire was received from the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce Thursday urging the local organization to have a good delegation present at the annual meeting of the State Chamber next Tuesday and Wednesday.

W. S. Cone Building Fine House

When the new residence of W. S. Cone on the Kilchis river is completed it will be one of the finest buildings in the county. The house is of the bungalow type with four gables. A large porch extends across the entire front. The walls are of tile construction and in the present roof with a tile roof.

The house will be equipped with two bath rooms, two fire places, a gravity water system and an electric light plant.

The work is progressing rapidly under the direction of Contractor Frank Mathews.

Chas. Griffith of Garibaldi was in town Wednesday to have some dental work done at the Eastman hospital.

YULETIDE REFLECTED IN STORE WINDOWS

WOULD DO JUSTICE TO CITY SEVERAL TIMES LARGER

Camping Scene in Garage Window Attracts Interest of Passersby

(By Headlight Reporter) The big time of every year is nearly upon us, the time when sterner things give way to the beautiful sentiments and customs of the season of giving, and hard hearts are softened for the moment and contemplate the joy of being alive.

Your reporter, feeling this change taking place in those about him, sauntered forth this week to find out just how much the business houses were affected by the season. We found many beautiful and seasonable decorations in nearly all instances, but some deserve special mention.

The Sunset garage has turned their salesroom into an outdoor winter camp. In a setting of forest trees are seen three fine cars, taking up the background. They are all equipped for winter travel for warm auto robes are seen folded on the seats to keep the campers from getting cold. In the foreground is a tent, and a fire gleams under a kettle preparing a meal. The campers selected for their site a place near a frost covered creek which comes from an equally frost covered waterfall. Camping in the woods may be alright for some at Christmas time but we prefer to be home, for we dislike melting icicles for water to make our coffee with.

Dawson's grocery store has one window furnished with a tree on which are all the good things to be found in a grocery. The other window contains a scene of a log house in a forest of fir and cedar.

The occupants must have been fishing part of the time last summer for they have not cleared their place entirely yet. Maybe the stumps are left for ornamental purposes. However they laid in a supply of wood for the winter and keep it handy beside the house. A very clear lake not far from the house probably furnishes the dwellers with water. They have prepared a Christmas tree and Santa Claus is on the roof getting ready to descend the chimney and distribute presents.

Loll & Poland have for their display the 25 pound turkey which they intend to give away Friday to the one guessing nearest to the number of beans in the jar in their window.

The Coast Power Company has a Christmas tree, electrically lighted, on which is a large assortment of electrical gifts, useful about the house. The other window has various electrical gifts apparently suspended in the air by some spiritual power. We suspect that they are being held up by strings.

Williams Garage also have a tree in their window with a splendid display of accessories to delight the enthusiastic motorist.

The drug stores, the drygoods stores, the grocery stores and others are all showing the spirit of the season, and we recommend anyone who is down-hearted to take a walk about town and get a view of the Christmas spirit that prevails.

Port Commissioners at Metropolis

Frank A. Rowe, treasurer of the port of Nehalem commission, and C. J. Edwards, treasurer of the Port of Tillamook commission, are registered at the Multnomah. Mr. Rowe is also mayor of Wheeler, on Nehalem bay. I. B. Cushman, president of the port of Sluslaw commission, is also in the city. The smaller ports along the Oregon coast are co-operating to see if it is possible to have a dredge assigned which will so from harbor to harbor adding a few feet to the depth of the channel.—Oregonian.

New Parking Ordinance Passed

An ordinance to prohibit the parking of vehicles on 2nd avenue east and 12th street, which is the curve near the Tillamook Creamery, was passed by the city council last Monday evening. The ordinance provides for a fine of not more than $10 nor less than $5 for violation.
