

Big "7" Programs at The Gem

SATURDAY, January Fourteenth Widow By Proxy

It was night! The house fairly reeked of ancestors. The youthful little "widow," in her nightie, was prowling about the heirlooms. She was an imposter. She was also in love. She shuddered to think that if he caught her—she did catch her! Yet things soon brightened for her "dead husband" arrived, and she went right ahead and married. Astonishing!!! Simply scandalous—till you understand it. Come!

Society News

The O. E. S. Kensington held their regular monthly meeting on the regular date.
Their being an average attendance the club now has thirty seven members and all seem to take a good personal interest.
The hostesses Mesdames Plank and Reedy served a dainty luncheon. The meeting adjourned to meet again in February.
A GRAVE HEALTH MENACE
Whatever view one may take upon the straight question of vaccination, it would seem, after careful perusal of the so-called "Anti-Compulsory Vaccination Amendment," on the ballot for November 2, that it should be defeated by an overwhelming majority because of its iniquitous over-reaching provisions, cloaked under a misleading title.
Competent authorities, both legal and medical, who have gone into this bill, declare it to be all-inclusive as to its effect, if adopted by the voters, on the subject of prevention of diseases, no matter of what nature. That it robs the authorities, duly constituted, of power to act, even in an epidemic emergency, is the declaration of men and women who have given it the most careful scrutiny.
Read carefully the following excerpt from this bill and determine for yourself what it means:
"No form of vaccination, inoculation or other medication shall be made a condition in this state for admission to or attendance in any public school, college, university or other educational institution; or for the employment of any person in any capacity or for the exercise of any right, the performance of any duty or the enjoyment of any privilege."
Under the provisions thus stated, if the English language means anything, compulsory vaccination, even in the gravest emergency, would be prohibited in the case of typhoid, paratyphoid, rabies, tetanus (lock-jaw), bubonic plague, whooping-cough, and any other disease, including the most dangerous and loathsome venereal disorders.
In short, it would absolutely render powerless the hands of the authorities in every city and county of Oregon, if it became a law.
A worse calamity could scarcely be conceived.
This more or less innocent-sounding title is No. 213 on the ballot, labeled "Anti-Vaccination Amendment." Vote it NO in capital letters.
All of the armies and navies of the world have found vaccination and inoculation of untold value in saving life, but the framers of the misnamed "Anti-Compulsory Vaccination Amendment," to be voted upon at the election November 2, discount all of that experience and testimony.

Only 14, But Is Very Busy Boosting Harding

Here is a picture of James Duncan MacGregor, Jr., age fourteen, who is the publisher of The Weekly Press of Stamford, Conn. In a recent issue of his newspaper he said: "The editor of this paper wishes to my the object of The Weekly Press is to publish facts, and do my part in helping the United States get into office good, honest men, men who love their country first of all. As I am only fourteen years old, I cannot vote, but I appeal to all voters to cast their ballot for Senator Warren G. Harding and Governor Calvin Coolidge.

James numbers his accusers among the signers of the Declaration of Independence and always has been a reader of biographies of great men. Roosevelt is his hero. Harding is his idea of the kind of a man the country should have for President.

Senator Harding, observation leads us to believe, has created a strong impression of earnestness, sincerity and high sense of duty. His utterances are marked by a studied moderation; he exhibits no arrogance of opinion, and has made no extravagant promises of a millennium to be created by pro-temation; he seeks rather to express the national spirit than to impose a doctrine of political infallibility. And there is an unmistakably a growing view that Governor Cox is a shifty opportunist, superficial in thought, reckless in appeal and irresponsible in statements.—Philadelphia North American.

W. L. Campbell, formerly sheriff of Tillamook, and A. W. Pierce of Salem tried to drive to Portland from Salem yesterday, but gave it up as hopeless when they arrived at Oregon City. North of Oregon City the highway is covered with several feet of water, making progress by machine out of the question. Mr. Pierce
