THE EDISON POLICY

THE prices of the New Edison, "The Phonograph With a Soul," have increased less than 15 percent since 1914. A large share of this increase is war tax.

Edison sacrificed millions of dollars in profits, which he might have made. Why and how he did this are explained in the circular, "What Did Edison Do During the War?" Call, or write, for a copy of this interesting circular.

Should the Government increase the excise Tax on Phonographs, it will be necessary to increase the price of the New Edison. We hope that no additional tax will be placed upon music, which Napoleon said "is the art to which legislators ought to give the greatest encouragement."

Even without an additional tax, the Edison Manufacturing Laboratories would have had to increase their selling prices, if they had not been able to maintain a full time operation in their Phonograph Works. Accordingly, they worked full force, until the close of the year, and are now selves, are preparing their orders for 1921.

There will be no increase in Edison prices, if it can be avoided. On the other hand, we guarantee that the selling prices of the New Edison, in 1921, will not be reduced.

The manufacture of Edison Re Creations is being increased, and a special department is being installed for the rapid manufacture of timely selections.

Ask your banker about the Edison policy, whereby you are able to buy a before-the-war value with an after-the-war dollar.
