High School

Last Friday night the Tillamook High School basketball team won the second game with West Lynn High at the Tillamook gymnasium, 28 to 24. The game was hard-fought and closely contested throughout. The score at the end of the first half was 12 to 11 in Tillamook's favor. West Lynn had a spurt in the second half. Then it came Tillamook's turn and they made the best of it, making 16 points in the last seven minutes. All the spectators and fans agree that it was one of the fastest and cleanest games of the season. The line-up at the start was as follows: West Lynn—Zozic, 2; Mootry, 1; 13; Mussbaum, 2; Allen, 4; McArthur, 1. Tillamook—Matthews, 2; Tucker, 2; Gabriel, 2; Toni, 2; Driscoll, 2; Harris, 2.

The Tillamook High girls team won from the town girls, 14 to 5, in a hotly contested preliminary of the West Lynn game played Friday night. This is the first time the High School girls have played together. They made a fine showing. Tuesday night the T. H. S. basketball team traveled to Cloverdale and came back with a 22-10 victory. This gives T. H. S. the High School championship of this district, also the privilege of representing this district at the state championship tournament at Salem in April. The game at Cloverdale was rough and fast. Many personal fouls were called on both teams. The crowd showed a fine "crabbing" spirit at the refereeing.

Last Thursday night the Junior class presented "The Jonah," a farce in three acts. The play was a success from start to finish. Rodney Farley played the part of the enraged father of the heroine very nobly indeed. James Sharpe, the head-pecked husband, in a like manner, Russell Dark showed his true nature in acting the part of "The Jonah." Everybody sure got their money's worth. The girls in the play were well adapted to the parts given them and put it on in fine style.

The cast was as follows: John Hildreth, Jim Thorpe; John Hildreth, Jr., Art Harris; Jeremiah Jerkin, R. Dark; Augustus Buskin, R. Farley; Henry Jarmen, Clayton Hadley; Hawley, an officer, C. Gabriel; Mrs. Hildreth, Harriet Severance; Emily Hildreth, Blanche Harris.

Arabella McSnatch, Marth Crank; Natalie Buskin, Sarette DeLina; Miranda Ann, Gladys Klinehar. This play is a forerunner of what is to follow in student dramas. In the near future the well known play "Green Stockings" will be presented by the Senior Class, 21, under the supervision of Mrs. Heyd, director of dramas.

Tuesday morning the students were all surprised at finding their books piled neatly on the stage. The morning session was devoted to straightening out the mess. After this followed an entertainment, musical numbers by the students and a talk on "Washington's Life," by Rev. Tucker.

Friday night Tillamook High will play a return game with Newberg High in Basketball on Tillamook floor. This is the last game with an outside team this season. Everybody come and get your money's worth. Girls' preliminary. In the past the fans and enthusiasts of basketball have been handicapped by having to stand. Bleachers will be ready for Friday's contest. Everybody come and enjoy yourself.

On Friday night T. H. S. took part in two debates. Beaverton debated Tillamook here and the Tillamook team debated at Hillsboro. The score in the first debate was Beaverton 14, Tillamook 16; in the second Hillsboro 13 and Tillamook 17. Although we lost both games the teams showed a fine sport and the outgoing team had a fine trip. —H. S. Editor.

U. S. MAINTAINS AIR LEADERSHIP

Good Performances Offset Decreased Production and Contraction of Industry.

LONG FLIGHTS SUCCESSFUL

Clear Federal Policy to Aid Progress of Commercial Flying is Still Lacking—Year's Feats Are Recorded.

New York—America has successfully maintained her leadership in the navigation of the air, so far as heavier than air craft are concerned, despite the lack of aerial laws, landing fields and other such handicaps, according to a review of the year 1920, issued by the Manufacturers' Aircraft association. The review says: "Decreased production and a general contraction in the aeronautical industry generally is offset by the more encouraging records of performance made in American aviation this year. While the last twelve months have not brought the carefully outlined policy of federal jurisdiction required to assure steady and economical progress in commercial aviation, they have witnessed many remarkable achievements by American pilots in American machines."

Year's Performances. Then follows a long, detailed list of performances, among them the following: "Commander A. C. Read, hero of the transatlantic flight in the NC-4, commanded the same flying boat on a noteworthy expedition from Rockaway, L. I., down the Atlantic coast, along the gulf coast and up the Mississippi river to Cairo, Ill. When the NC-4 returned to Rockaway January 27 last it had flown 7,740 nautical miles. Three of the four Packard Liberty engines had operated without trouble during the 118 hours in the air, the fourth more than eighty-two hours. Along the Mississippi the motors were run on commercial gasoline picked up from point to point en route. Road reported that the greatest difficulty encountered was lack of proper maps.

Compared to long-flight attempts conducted by European governments the American venture was particularly successful. In less than four expeditions attempted by the 5,000 miles from Cairo to Capetown, South Africa. Colonel F. Van Rysdwyck and Major C. J. Q. Headland completed their flight on March 30, 1920, in a DH-8 plane sent up by the government of the Union of South Africa after their Vickers-Vimy machine had crashed. They had set out from Cairo February 10. None of the machines that started reached Capetown. "Different success attended the Alaskan flying expedition of the United States Army Air service. Four Gallaudet remodeled DH-4-B planes, each powered with a single Liberty motor, and each carrying two persons flew from Mitchell Field, L. I., to Nome, Alaska, and return in 112 hours flying time, a total distance of 9,000 miles, without a motor missing fire or other accident serious enough to delay the party. Rain and fog caused most of the difficulty in flying over country not even charted on the maps.

Operation of Air Mail Service. "The Air Mail in 1920 operating between New York and Washington, New York, Cleveland, Chicago, Omaha, Salt Lake City and San Francisco, transported approximately one hundred million letters at ordinary postage rates. The system was extended in 1920 from Chicago to San Francisco, from Key West, Fla., to Havana, Cuba, and from Seattle, Wash., to Victoria, B. C. About thirty-five air mail planes are in the air each day flying a total, in round trips, of about 8,000 miles.

Beaver, Oregon, February 12, 1921. (An Answer to Letters) I have received several letters from different parties concerning the sale of my homestead. They all want to know by writing what price is, information regarding conditions, etc. I will not give that, but any one interested and wanting the place must come in person and see and find out for himself. After looking over the place and find that it is what he really wants, then we will come to an understanding. Yours respectfully, Manuel Saures.

Advertisement for Modern Crankcase Cleaning Service. Features a large 'Why' graphic and text: 'Why automobile manufacturers say "clean your crankcase regularly!" Engine operation causes steady accumulation of road dust, carbon, fine metal particles, and other impurities in your crankcase oil. This contaminated oil circulates through your engine, impairs its performance and ultimately leads to rapid deterioration and repairs. Your Instruction Book says, "Wash out the crankcase regularly and refill with fresh oil." But these important instructions are often disregarded; cleaning the crankcase is a job generally neglected. To meet this need, Modern Crankcase Cleaning Service has been established by first-class garages and other dealers, co-operating with the Standard Oil Company. These garages and dealers use Calol Flushing Oil—the scientific agent that cleans out old oil, dirt, grit and other impurities, and does not impair the lubricating efficiency of fresh oil used. The cleaned crankcase is refilled with the proper grade of Zerolene. Look for the garage or dealer displaying the sign shown below,—it means "Better operation and longer engine life," a service promptly given at a nominal cost.
