TELEPHONE RATES TO BE PROTESTED

MAYOR OF PORTLAND ASKS COOPERATION OF LOCAL OFFICIALS

MANY WILL REFUSE TO PAY NEW RATE

Oregon Municipalities Join Hands in Demand For a Rehearing of Rate Case

Much agitation is manifest about the city and county regarding the increased telephone rates granted by the public service commission recently.

Since the new rates went into effect many telephone users have stated that they will flatly refuse to comply with the decision of the commission, evidently preferring to do without their telephones rather than pay what they consider an exorbitant rate for such a utility. The sentiment expressed over this matter is more noticeable than any other thing that has stirred the community for some time.

The mayor of Tillamook this week received the following telegram from Mayor Baker of Portland:

"Recent decision increasing telephone rates not only affects this city but all the cities in Oregon and therefore is a matter of state interest. May I be permitted to suggest that you have your city council authorize your city attorney to cooperate with the city attorney of Portland and join in a petition for a rehearing. Geo. T. Baker, Mayor of Portland."

Mayor Moulton immediately instructed city attorney A. A. Hall to get the authority of the council to act in this matter, which was done, and Tillamook apparently stands back of any movement that might be started for a revision downward of telephone rates.

It is said that about thirty five municipalities of Oregon have started similar action and the combined efforts of these communities is expected to bring about favorable action.

MEETING WILL BE HELD WEDNESDAY

Mayor Issues Call And All Parents Are Urged To Be Present

The contagious disease situation in the public schools has become so serious that Mayor Moulton has called a meeting of the people of Tillamook City to take place in the council chambers next Wednesday night, March 30th, for the purpose of discussing the matter and learning if the people will stand behind the city government in some action to improve conditions. The mayor thinks that proper support has not been given the city officials in their efforts to clean up sanitary conditions.

It has been stated that thirty per cent of the children have been held out of school for the past few months on account of contagious diseases and the situation has been considered too serious to be allowed to continue.

It would be well for all parents especially to be present at the meeting scheduled and help arrive at some plan to improve conditions.

The city council, at the meeting last Monday night, decided to install a wooden culvert for the ditch running through Miller avenue. It was considered that such a structure would be more satisfactory than a concrete culvert, as was at first intended.

The plumbing ordinance is to be submitted to the council for its final action April 5th. This ordinance has been made up from parts of measures in force in other cities of Oregon and is especially suited to local conditions.

A. T. Dolan made a present to the city of two concrete street intersection markers to replace some that had been broken.

THE BOOSTER COLUMN

(By Fred C. Baker.)

It is expected that work on the Bayocean road will start about the first of next month, when the government dredge will be put to work and in about two months one of the county steam shovels be moved there. This will be good news to the property owners of Bayocean who have been waiting so many years to build bungalows there, for it is certain there will be quite a building boom at Bayocean as soon as it is assured that the road is going to be built and no more aggravating delays. As there is considerable property at Bayocean that have not paid taxes for a number of years this is a good time to buy tax certificates and procure good building sites at small cost. It is certain that people in the center of the County will become more interested in Bayocean because it will be only a few minutes drive from this city to get to the beach, and on a water level road. One may expect to see considerable activity at Bayocean from now on, and one thing that will be of advantage to the county, as soon as the road is built there will be no more trouble about collecting taxes.

The wet weather may be a little disagreeable, but Old Bosny does not appear to be raising any objections, for she is getting her fill of green grass in most of the meadows.

Preaching is a poor business -- if it is not lived up to. So it is no good to keep on preaching about "clean up" if some of our citizens take no heed to that kind of preaching. It is pleasing to note that there is some little improvement, but there is so much to be done to improve the city. Make the city clean and attractive, and that means the back premises of business houses and the surroundings of every home in the city.

The operetta given at the gymnasium on Friday evening was a good boost for the High School. The large audience was more than pleased with the young performers, for they did wonderfully well in a somewhat difficult play, and for that reason they are deserving of considerable praise for the excellent, smooth manner in which every detail of the operetta was staged and played. Although credit is due the young folk, one cannot overlook the fact that it took effort, skill and ability on the part of some persons to train the young performer for a play of that character cannot be staged without the controlling influence of some persons gifted with ability along these lines. So in praising the high school pupils, credit is also due those who trained them. The next high school stunt is "Green Stockings."

V. C. Bishop, Woodburn, Oregon, route No. 2, would like the name and address of some reliable merchant or commission house which could handle onions and potatoes. Mr. Bishop is a grower and writes to the Chamber of Commerce that he could give them a good bargain.

Business is readjusting itself more rapidly than most people are aware of after a long tedious delay on the part of the government to bring about normal conditions after the war. The spring there is bound to be considerable general opinion is that as soon as the arable demand for lumber.

LUMBERMEN GET REDUCED RATES

REDUCTION EXPECTED TO GIVE NEW IMPETUS TO COAST LUMBER INDUSTRY

NEW ORDER EFFECTIVE ABOUT APRIL 1

New Rates Only One Cent More At Missouri River Points Than Asked For

W. P. Kenney, vice president and director of traffic of the Great Northern Railway Co., has sent the following letter to the Tillamook Chamber of Commerce, which was in answer to a telegram asking the Western railroads to restore the rate on lumber which existed last August, but whether this will satisfy the lumber men this remains to be seen. The letter follows:

"Tillamook Chamber of Commerce, Tillamook, Oregon.

Dear Sir: Pardon delay in answering your wire of March 5th in regard to lumber rates, account absence in the East.

We feel reduction made to Chicago and Missouri River so close to amount specified by lumbermen as necessary to restore former parity of rates that but little disadvantage will result. We feel certain if we were to attempt to restore comparative rates existing prior to August 26th we could not accomplish same.

The new rates are only one cent more at Omaha and St. Paul than lumbermen request and two and one half cents at Chicago, and inasmuch as rates from West in past ten years on this basis have been advanced but thirty-three and one third per cent, while rates from South have been advanced seventy-one per cent, and difference under new rates will be one half cent at Omaha and St. Paul, and two cents at Kansas City from what they were ten years ago compared to rates from the south, we feel every effort should be made to try and work business on that new basis.

We are not unmindful of needs of Western Lumbermen and hope they will cooperate with us in giving new rates reasonable tryout. We have secured permission to publish them on five days' notice.

Definite date as to when the new rates will become effective will be given shortly. Yours truly,

W. P. KENNEY

A similar letter, although more lengthy was received from J. G. Woodworth, vice-president of the Northern Pacific Railway Co. It covered what is set forth in the above letter, with this additional information in the concluding part of the letter:

"I have just received a telegram from Mr. Blakeley at Washington saying that the Commission has granted authority for publication of the rates on five days' notice, and if they encounter no protest or if the commission will disregard any protest which may be offered we hope to make the new rates effective about April 1st."

F. A. Beltz, secretary of the Coasts Lumber Company of this city, stated that it has been impossible for western mills to compete with the southern yellow pine manufacturers on account of the difference in freight rates since last August, and on account of the lower cost of labor in the southern states. For this reason many mills on the Pacific coast have been forced to shut down until the rates could be adjusted.

Though the rates lately established are still far above those in effect last August when the increase was made, many western mills now intend to begin operations rather than lie idle.

Those present at the theater party given by Hazel and Gertrude Roenicke at the "Rex" theater last Saturday were: Jean Clough, Bonnie Harris, Dorothy Schultz, Helen Schultz, Netra Smith, Dorothy Haberlich, Elenora Phelps, Virginia Watson, Ruth Kurath, Marion Coats, Hazel Roenicke and Gertrude Roenicke. A dainty lunch was served after the show by their aunt, Anna Harris.

Western railroads give the lumbermen a fair rate to the middle west, the logging camps and saw mills will soon be buzzing again and business conditions in general will be good. There is too great demand for new homes all over the United States for the lumber industry to be inactive of the government to bring about normal conditions after the war. The spring there is bound to be considerable general opinion is that as soon as the arable demand for lumber.
