THE LITTLE BROTHERS OF THE NATION

There is no phase of the achievements of our government more creditable to us than that dealing with the acquirement and handling of our outlying possessions.

A foreigner speaking of the United States colonization work says: "There never was a colonizing power which set out so fast to teach and educate the native races with which it came in contact. One great fact in development which citizens of the United States understand is that money spent on essentials is bound to pay itself back."

An interesting account of our insular and other outlying possessions is given in the latest booklet of the series on Our Government being issued monthly by this Institution. Are you receiving them?

Uncle Walt's Story

BEING A SUNBEAM

"WE HEAR and read a great deal about optimism," said the stranger, "and we go around telling our friends not to worry. The advice is good enough, but we don't pause to reflect that optimism is a mental attitude that can be reached only by study and training. What shall we study? I have here, madam, a little book entitled, 'How to Be a Sunbeam,' which answers the question fully and completely. It was written by—"

"I don't care who it was written by, or whether it is endorsed by all the statesmen and prelates in the country," exclaimed Mrs. Curfew. "I don't want to be a sunbeam, experience having taught me that I can get along better and have less trouble and tribulation, when I look as much like a metastax as possible."

"Last evening before I went to bed I was reading a book called 'Sunshine Susan.' It was about a woman who just made up her mind to be happy no matter what happened. Then her husband was brought home with a broken leg, and the two children had a number of measles simultaneously, and the house burned down, and the bank in which she had deposited her savings closed its doors, and in spite of everything she went around singing and dancing."

"If I had thought it over I might have realized that it was too good to be true. No human woman could be gay and happy in the midst of so many calamities. But I was in a sentimental mood, and when I turned out the light and went to bed I thought that I ought to be ashamed of myself for not being like Sunshine Susan, and I made up my mind I would turn over a new leaf first thing in the morning."

"So I came downstairs smiling, and I was singing all the time I was getting breakfast, and when Mr. Curfew came down he said it warmed up his whole being to see me in such a cheerful frame of mind. It reminded him of him of the time when I was sweet seventeen, and as pretty as a red wagon. Then he gradually drifted into a story to the effect that he had a great opportunity to make the finest horse trade of his career. All he needed was $7 in cash to close the transaction, and he would make at least $15 by it."

"He knew I had $7 put away in the clock to buy myself some clothes I need the worst way. I had saved that money, a nickel and a dime at a time, and was looking forward to the time when I would have enough to go shopping and buy myself an outfit good enough for the queen of Sheba."

Mr. Curfew had been trying to borrow my savings for a long time, offering to give me his note as security, and before I read that Sunshine Susan book I always refused him, and nearly snapped his head off doing it. But that morning I was anxious to make everybody happy, so I handed him the money, and he went and made his horse trade and brought home an old crooked bit that has been sick ever since, and he spends all his time out at the barn, feeding it pills and powders, and I can't get him to do any of the chores around the place."

"The same morning Mrs. Turpentine heard me singing in the back yard, and she thought it would be a good time to borrow my patent electric washing machine, and came over for that purpose. She had asked for it a dozen times before, but I always told her to go to. Being full of sunshine on that occasion, however, I told her she could have it and welcome, and I've never been able to use it since. The man who sold it to me says it will cost $6 for repairs, so you see what Sunshine Susan did to me."

"No, mister, I don't want any recipe for being a sunbeam, and you can take your book along to Mrs. Turpentine, in the yellow house across the street. She's the champion middle weight pessimist of this neighborhood."

Explained.

"Do you see the man yonder? Well, to my certain knowledge he is leading a double life."

"You don't say so?"

"Yes; he is a professional contentist."

After American Stylemakers.

French creators of feminine gowns and hats have appealed for a law to prohibit the indiscriminate photographing of their models at the race tracks. They claim that American and other clothing designers are stealing fashion points from the pictures.

Close Call.

"It was a near thing, but I made it." "The operation, you mean?" "Yes. In another twenty-four hours the patient would have recovered without it and walked out on me."

From The Benedictine Sisters

The following from the Benedictine Sisters, Holy Name Convent, San Antonio, Fla., is of value to every mother: "We have just received shipment of Foley's Honey and Tar. It is a household remedy. We have used it since we knew of it, for our children especially, and always found it beneficial. Sold Everywhere."

American Legion Notes

F. W. Galbraith Jr., National Commander of the American Legion, has ordered the Kansas Department of that organization to make a thorough investigation of the recent outrage at Great Bend, Kan., in which two organizers of the Non-partisan League were tarred and feathered. Although the mob of residents of that vicinity included a number of ex-service men, there was no organized support from Legion posts, according to press correspondents. Colonel Galbraith ordered all Legion posts to refrain from interference with political activities of the Nonpartisan League several months ago.

The increased cost of railroad fare will not trouble the members of Superior, Wis., post of the American Legion, who will attend the next Legion state convention at Eau Claire in box cars. We traveled Franciscan side door pullmans and we believe that we prefer the Yankee type of box cars to riding the velvet at present prices, the Legionnaires said.

Graves of 150 Civil War veterans will be provided with markers by Kent Voyles Post of the American Legion at Elizabethtown, Ind. To raise funds for the undertaking, the Legionnaires will give a banquet of "slum" prepared by former Army cooks belonging to the post. Elizabethtown Legion members are also backing a movement to establish a public library.

Aroused by the greed of landlords in Shreveport, La., the local post of the American Legion has placed its self on record as opposed not only to the hardship placed upon renters living in homes and occupying office and business buildings owned by rent hogs, but as pledging its aid in seeking a remedy for the evil.

Nebraska American Legion members are backing an endorsement bill in the state legislature, which provides that the state buy two million dollars worth of liberty bonds and use interest thereon for sick and disabled ex-service men. The Nebraska legislature has forwarded a resolution urging the United States Senate to pass the Fordney five-fold bonus bill, which is backed by the Legion.

Oklahoma boards of county commissioners are authorized to lease, rent or donate any room in their control for use of the American Legion, according to the terms of a bill passed by the state legislature.

Lyn Fox, a Seattle typo, has sent the following reply to a party who advertised for a Jap chauffeur: "No doubt you are the gentleman who waved the biggest flag; who cheered the loudest and the most; and never failed to brag about our gallant soldiers eating up the Bosch in France—yet you hoped the war'd continue while you made their coat and pants."

No doubt you were a speaker in the victory loan campaign; (yet kept your dollars working where they netted greater gain). No doubt, while fired by noble thought, to Uncle Sam you sent an offer of the coat and pants at cost plus 10 per cent!

But now the war is over and we really can't expect a guy who made it pay like you to offer to protect Or help a mere ex-service man by giving him a job— It takes a Jap in livery to satisfy a snob!

—From the Typographical Journal.

More than 24,000 new claims of veterans for compensation and other government assistance had been filed by the middle of February as a result of a service contest among Illinois American Legion posts, which started last Armistice Day under the auspices of a Chicago newspaper and for which prizes were offered. Similar Legion campaigns to obtain just compensation for the disabled are in progress in Montana, North Dakota and many other Legion departments.

From Columbus, Wis., comes a story of how members of Lange Ostrander Post of the American Legion aided a member of the post when his blacksmith shop was destroyed by fire. Twenty-four hours after the fire, post members met and voted unanimously to help their buddy rebuild the shop. Legion doctors, dentists, lawyers, merchants and trade-union members worked for three days under the direction of carpenter members of the post, and the result was a much better establishment for the unfortunate ex-service man. During the progress of the work, a local bakery provided the toilers with food.

The click of the bones was heard in the headquarters of the New Orleans American Legion Employees and Service Bureau.

"Up little Joe, get your pap that job!" The vic, rolled noisily on the cement floor.

There are so many more men than jobs that the choice between veterans with similar qualifications had to be entrusted to the ivory cubes, the Legion officials explained.

How to Fail in A Dairy

Sometimes the best way to show how to do a thing is to tell how it should not be done. Then the way to succeed will be clearly evident. With this plan in view a West Virginia farmer gives some rules on how not to succeed with cows, a copy of which has just been received by the United States Department of Agriculture. The farmer humorist says: "Don't weigh your milk for then you might have to figure and think."

Feed the cows timothy hay—it is good for race horses.

Cow-testing associations are needless, they show how to save and know.

Keep the barn hot—cows are like woodchucks.

Don't have many windows in the barn—the hired men might look out.

Keep water ice cold—shivering gives the cows exercise.

Avoid heavy milkers—they consume too much valuable time.

This Woman Suffered

Mrs. H. A. Leaman, Sturgis, Colo., writes: "I suffered with bladder and kidney trouble for years. Foley's Kidney Pills helped me so much I feel fine now. Suffered so it seemed I hardly could live. I recommend Foley's Kidney Pills to all who suffer from kidney trouble as I did. Sold Everywhere."

A Friend of the Family

Over fifty years ago a young physician practiced widely in Pennsylvania and became famous for his uniform success in the curing of disease. This was Dr. R. V. Pierce who afterwards established himself in Buffalo, N. Y., and placed one of his prescriptions, which he called his "Golden Medical Discovery," in the drug stores of the United States so that the public could easily obtain this very remarkable tonic, corrective, and blood-maker. Dr. Pierce manufactured this "Discovery" from roots and barks without alcohol—a corrective remedy, the ingredients of which nature had put in the fields and forests, for keeping us healthy. Introduce pure red blood into the system, and health is assured. When you feel run-down, out of sorts, blue and despondent try the energizing influence of this reliable tonic. You can obtain Golden Medical Discovery in tablet or liquid form at all drug stores, or send 10c for a trial package to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Buffalo, N. Y.
