

CONTEST BRINGS OUT 800 ESSAYS

The results of the essay contest conducted by the Merchants Credit association recently have been announced and the prizes awarded. The school children of the county were eligible to the contest and about 800 participated, the grand prize going to Alma Ellen Keating of Bay City. The subject of "Why we should trade at home" was well and thoroughly covered. Other prizes were distributed as follows:

Eighth Grade—First Prize, Rowena Hanson, Dist No. 9 Tillamook. Second prize, Nellie Douglas, Dist. 31, Bay City Oregon.

Seventh Grade—Alma Ellen Keating, Dist. 31, Bay City, Oregon. Second prize, Joseph W. Heyd, Dist. 9 Tillamook.

Fifth Grade—Ethel Blazer, Dist. 48, Wheeler, Ore. Second prize, Corinne Stranahan, Dist. 9 Tillamook.

Sixth Grade—First prize, Ouida Davidson, Dist. 48, Wheeler, Oregon; Second prize, Mina Ott, Dist. 13, Hebo, Ore.

Miss Keating's prize winning essay follows a good line of argument and presents the case quite clearly. The essay follows:

"There are a good many reasons why we should trade at home, but only two reasons to justify our trading elsewhere. By home I mean my home community. I should trade at home because in so doing I am doing my best to help build up my community.

The merchants of my home town are called on to give liberally to Church, School and all other charitable purposes. If I spend my money elsewhere, another community will prosper and my home town merchant is left with more stock on his shelves and that much less ready cash in his till to help the worthy causes of the community and to build up his own business.

Especially in the small community this is true. But if few people go to the neighboring city to trade the community must suffer not alone the merchant.

Every good and loyal citizen should be loyal to his home community. If our business men have to bear the communities financial burden it is no more than right that they should be given the loyal support of every citizen. Our home merchants have to invest large sums of money to accommodate us with the things we need. We ought to show our appreciation by trading at home.

The two reasons that justify us trading elsewhere are, First, When our home merchant cannot supply us with the article needed, and Second, When our home merchant is not satisfied with a reasonable profit and is inclined to be a profiteer I believe in trading at home."

Preventative Medicine.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventative measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or an attack of the grip. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy can be obtained for a trifle. adv.
