TILLAMOOK, OREGON, MAY 12, 1921

NUMBER 28

NO CHANGE IN CHEESE PRICES

No improvement is noted in the cheese market this week, according to report from the office of Carl Haberlach. Wisconsin prices, as fixed by the Plymouth market, are 13 cents for twins, 12 1/2 for daisies and 12 1/2 for longhorns. These figures vary only slightly from the prices established the previous week. Tillamook prices are being held at 19 cents for triplets and 20 cents for Young Americas and Langhorns. It is said that cheese from other sections of the Coast is selling at several cents below these prices. For the most part, buyers are taking on only such stocks as they require from week to week so as not to be caught by possible further declines. This is the natural result of the recent rapid declines and may be expected to continue until Wisconsin market show more strength. In view of the losses they have sustained this spring, buyers want to feel sure that the lowest levels have been reached before they place cheese in storage.

At this time all Tillamook cheese being available is being shipped when available and none has been placed in storage by the Association.

Carl Haberlach left Tillamook for San Francisco and Los Angeles where he is making a personal investigation of conditions and prospects. He is expected to return on Monday.

The following message was received from him today:

"Los Angeles, May 12, 1921.

"Working trade here three days. Order three cars for next week also one for San Francisco. Unless Wisconsin declines, believe can hold our price. Necessary store some June and July, possibly May. Home Monday. Glad came down, several matters straightened out." — Carl Haberlach

BRIGHTON NOTES

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Remember to save Saturday afternoon, May 21st, for the County track meet.

The children of the grades are hard at work practicing for their operetta, which will be given the last of this month.

The Wheeler High School baseball team will cross bats with the local High School boys Saturday, May 14th, at 2:30 P. M. at the Fair Grounds.

FEDERAL WATER POWER

The federal water-power act is far from perfect, but it is at least a beginning toward an end which must count largely the economic life of the nation during succeeding centuries. Statesmanship, both political and utilitarian, looks beyond the horizon of the present to the exigencies of a distant future. The act is at least a warning to invisible mercenaries that the sum of publicity is hereafter to shine upon their operations and that there is a well-defined purpose to conserve to all the people something of their remaining heritage therein.

Fundamentally the congressional purpose appears to have been to permit private capital to develop power upon government lands, reservations and navigable rivers, but at the same time to insure federal control of all operations through a system of licenses and permits. The rules and regulations of the conduct of the plants as well as of their preliminary survey and inspection, are not declared by the statute, but are to be formulated and adopted by the federal power commission, which consists of the secretaries of war, interior and agriculture. These rules are now in process of systematization, and the representatives of the leading power companies have recently met in Washington to participate in the discussion of the framework of these rules. When the scheme of operation has been fully worked out the public can judge more clearly as to the probable value of the statute to the people as a whole. Its administration cannot be safely allowed to drift to the fold of special interests. It possesses teeth, if they be not drawn. There are, however, some very capable legislative and legal dentists in our industrial life.

The law fortunately is comprehensive enough to permit development of any project by the central government itself, whenever in the judgment of the commission public interest demands. In express language the act prohibits the approval of an application presented by any citizen, association, corporation, state or municipality when the United States, in the opinion of the commission, should undertake the work, that is, when the welfare of all the people of certain peculiar governmental functions are involved. In such cases it is made the duty of the commission to cause to be made surveys, examinations, reports and plans, to itself make formal findings and to submit all thereof to congress with proper recommendations.

It is by virtue of this mandate that navigation canalization of rivers at points where hydraulic energy exists, generation of electric power for pumping water upon irrigable lands and the utilization of hydro-electric sources for railroad electrification and other purposes in which the nation may have a direct or indirect interest, are all made possible. For instance, the whole population is vitally interested in cheap and rapid transportation. The distribution problem has become both vexatious and menacing. If the engineers in any preliminary survey locate a power site anywhere on navigable waters, public lands or government reservations, through which neighboring rail lines may be electrified at moderate cost, it thereby becomes the manifest duty of the commission to decline any private application for license, to make its own survey and investigation and to submit its findings and recommendations to congress. So also as relates to improvement of navigation and to the reclamation of any considerable body of arid lands.

BEAVER NEWS

On Tuesday night the Odd Fellows and Rebeccahs gave an entertainment and banquet at the I. O. O. F. hall. The committee in charge was: A. R. Drake, Emil Wooly and Otis Curl.

A cheese factory at Beaverton visited by Yambill Oregon. Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Green of Portland visited with Mrs. Ira Green a few days last week.

A. R. Drake met with a painful accident. He was taken to Tillamook hospital where he spent several days in Tillamook last week.

Dr. J. J. Goldsworthy has been quite sick for the last few days.

Mrs. Goldsworthy and friends met at Hebo Wednesday of last week.

F. J. Welsh our local postmaster spent Sunday of last week in Tillamook. Sunday was Mother's Day and a special program was given in observance of that day. Mrs. Goldsworthy had charge of the singing which was unusually good.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY SUCCESS

Green Stockings, the English play put on by the senior class of Tillamook High School April 29, was declared a great success by all who saw it. The play showed the trials of an unmarried daughter who invented a lover and could not do away with him when she so desired.

Every person who witnessed this play voiced the opinion that each player starred in his own part. Glen Anderson, as the light headed young swell, Robert Tarver, kept the house roaring from the first curtain to the last. Emma Groat as Aunt Ida, made a wonderful old lady. Leland Bester as Wm. Faraday represented the true English father. Eida Archibald as Phyllis Faraday, the sweetheart of Tarver was a charmer. Mrs. Bochsler as Admiral Grice, captured the house with his roaring command.

The Seniors express their appreciation of the public for their support, and to Mrs. Heyd, who devoted so much time and patience toward making the play a success.

Tillamook Dairy Cow Records

Standing in three adjoining stalls at my Highland Grove Farm barn are three beautiful show cows, one a grand champion cow. The records of these cows are as follows:

No. 1—Lady Aggie Ormsby of Rock: Butter 100 lbs. week, sixty days after freshening, 27 lbs. Fat in 10 months, between 700 and 800 lbs. Best day's milk, 107.5 lbs. Siml-official yearly test will be complete in July.

No. 2—Chimicum Wayne Monarch Cornucopia: Butter for one week, 28.6 lbs. Best day's milk 107.7 lbs. Butter for 10 months, approximately 800 lbs. Siml-official test not yet completed.

No. 3—Tillamook Lola May De Kol: Butter for one week, 28.5 lbs. Best day's milk, on strictly official test, 110.1. Now on semi-official yearly test.

Cows No. 1 and 2 are the dams of two young bulls, one ready for heavy service and one for light service, both by proven sires, one by Judge Segis; these bulls are very typy and beautifully marked, more white than black. Their dams as indicated above have made and are making fine records.

If you are interested in a herd she you are invited to come and visit us; stay for a day or two. You will be welcome. See the dams of these young bulls milked, weigh the milk and take samples and have them tested. Study the herd sires and our pedigrees. You are entitled to know the facts and we invite the fullest investigation. Chas. Kuntz, of Nehalem, the veteran Holstein breeder, after making a canvas of the state, selected his sire from our youngsters.

F. B. BEALS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Cleugh left Monday for a few days business trip to Seattle.

MOHLER NEWS

Mohler, May 11.—(Special)—Ray Thompson, who has been employed as a boom man at Camp 4 by the Brighton Mills company, was drowned in the Nehalem river last Friday afternoon. When he did not return home in the evening his wife became worried and a search was started. His coat was found in a row boat and his pikepole was discovered floating in the river. After about two hours spent in dragging the river, the body was recovered.

The deceased is survived by his widow, and 6 year old daughter Ada May, also three brothers, James, Herbert and Sam, all of Nehalem, and four sisters, Mrs. W. Norris and Mrs. H. Larson, both of Nehalem, and Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Aivin, of Spokane and Seattle respectively.

The funeral services were held at the burial at the K. P. cemetery at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with Nehalem.

Rudolph Zweifel made a business trip to Tillamook Saturday.

The Mohler Postoffice has been located in the Sam Tomlinson house since the fire.

Miss Bessie Knight, former postmistress here, has returned to her home at Nehalem.

Mr. and Mrs. August Gray moved to Tillamook last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis were Tillamook business visitors Tuesday.

On account of illness of Rev. Lein Kaemper there were no services held at the Mohler church last Sunday.

High School Picnic

The annual high school picnic was held at the North Fork of Wilson River, last Saturday. About 50 students attended and all reported a good time with plenty to eat. The truck chartered from the City Transfer, left the High School building at 8 o'clock with a load of about 30 boisterous students. The rest followed in their own cars. On the arrival the camp ground was cleared, so all would be ready for the big feed, which was held at noon.

During the morning, visits were made to an old mine, also several deserted cabins in the vicinity. Others were climbing the mountains while those disciples of Frank Walton, who accompany every party, spent their day along the banks of the river. Among this latter class was our smiling Prof. Bennett, who landed an eighteen inch trout. The crowd returned about 4:30 and all reported a good time.

DEMAND FOR OREGON FRUIT

Washington, May 3.—There will be tremendous demand for the tree fruits of Oregon this year because of the crop failure in other parts of the United States. Senator McNary today confirmed reports that the crops in Oregon of apples, peaches, pears and other tree fruits are heavily set and the yield in the great Rogue River, Hood River and Willamette valleys will be at or above normal.

In a few days the bureau of market estimates of the agricultural department will issue a survey of the tree fruit crop of the country and will report that generally half a crop may be expected. It will show that in the plains states as far west as the Rocky mountains there has been great damage to tree crops and that in the states of New England, Atlantic coast and Great Lakes the crop has been badly injured.

The total appraisal of the country by the bureau of markets will be half a crop for the fruits which Oregon will produce so bountifully.

EXHIBIT VISITED BY HUNDREDS

Several hundred patrons visited the May Day exercises and the annual exhibit of the local schools last week and were unanimous in pronouncing the affair a success. The exercises in the gymnasium were under the direction of Miss Eye Beekman, and everything went off smoothly from the entrance of the May Queen, Nedra Smith, with her diminutive pages, to the winding of the may pole by the high school girls. Bryan Morgan, as Jester, and Katherine Lamb and Bonnie Harris, as Milkweed seeds, captivated the audience. Minuet, blacksmith chorus, Spanish Folk Dance, etc., were well received. The large crowd was especially interested in the gymnasium drills given by the high school students.

The exhibits in the school buildings seemed exceptionally well balanced. The food exhibit looked especially tempting, and every thing was sold a short time after the opening. Many expressions of praise were called forth by the excellent work shown in the sewing department. Some of the manual training work rivaled in appearance the best commercial out put. Altho the work in the above departments lends itself more readily to exhibition purposes than others, unusually good exhibits of the regular high school and grade work earned much favorable comment from the visitors.

Chas. Kuntz, the pioneer Holstein breeder of Tillamook County and a man who has done more to promote the breed than any other man in Tillamook County, paid a visit to F. R. Beal's Highland Grove Farm last week for the purpose of inspecting the young Holstein bulls that are being offered for sale by Mr. Beal. Mr. Kuntz was highly pleased with the youngsters and purchased a yearling bull for $500.00, sired by Mr. Beal's herd sire, Maplecrest De Kol Beauty, a proven sire and a sire that from a standpoint of ancestral production, has few equals. He is a brother of four cows that average close to 1200 lbs. of butter and six better than 30 lb. cows. His grand sire is the sire of six better than 1200 lb. daughters and six better than 30 lb. daughters. In these groups are several cows that have the distinction of having made world records. The dam, and A. R. O. cow, is of excellent conformation and has made a creditable 365 day record and is again on semi-official test. The youngster, Highland Grove Beauty Von Hollingen No. 323065, purchased by Mr. Kuntz, is a beautiful show animal, having been awarded first prize in the Tillamook County show ring by Prof. Brandt, of O. A. C. second at the State Fair by John L. Smith, and second at the Pacific International by Moserpr. This young bull possesses in a pronounced way the qualities that are most to be desired in a dairy animal, namely, type and production.

I. E. Keldson, cashier at the First National Bank, left Sunday for a few weeks visit at his parents home, San Diego, California.

CLUB NEWS

(By Elizabeth Burr)
The State Club Leader, Mr. H. C. Seymour, paid the county a brief visit this week, coming in on Monday evening and leaving Wednesday morning. Such a short visit made it possible for him to reach only a small number of club people. On Tuesday afternoon, May 10th, he met with the Holstein-Friesian Calf Club at the home of Mr. John Schild. In addition to Mr. Seymour's address, Lily Schild read an excellent paper on the History of My Calf. Mr. Filks and Mr. Schild had charge of livestock judging work. Following the program, refreshments were served by Flora, Lily and Rosa Schild.

Miss Helen Cowgill, assistant State Club Leader, will arrive in Tillamook next Sunday for a week's visit to the Home Economics Clubs of the county. M. Tillamook Cookery and Sewing clubs have program, Misses Heffley, La Bare and Swallow local leaders. The public is invited to attend the exercises.

Last Saturday, May 7, the Tillamook Jersey Calf Club met at the home of the president, Joseph Maxwell, and made some plans for a talk on How I feed my Calf. Those writing essays on the subject "Why The Jersey Cow is the Best Dairy and Cheese Cow" are requested to have their 200 word essays in Mr. Lamb's office by May 25. Mr. Albert Krake and Mr. Joe Donaldson have offered $25.00, 15.00 and 10.00 for the best essays and the best essay will be read at the Jersey Jubilee program on Friday, June 3rd. Every Jersey Calf Club member should submit an essay on the subject to County Supt. Lamb.

The Busy Bee Cookery Club recently organized at Yellow Fir under the leadership of Mrs. R. J. Watt will hold a box social on Saturday evening, May 14, at the schoolhouse. The funds raised will be used to purchase cooking materials and to send a delegate to the O. A. C. Summer School. A special meeting of the club was held on Monday afternoon May 9th.

The Nestucca Jersey and the Nestucca Valley Guernsey Calf Clubs will hold a joint meeting next Saturday, May 14th. The meeting is called for one o'clock at the Cloverdale Grange Hall and after a business program the young people will visit a farm for live stock judging. Work A teachers' meeting will be held at the Cloverdale school on the same day.

In these days of lavishly screened motion pictures, the society novel subject W. Chambers make excellent photoplay material. "The Danger Mark" was transferred to the screen a few days ago. "The Fighting Line," was one of Irene Castle's last pictures. Now comes "The Fighting Chance," which is probably Mr. Chamber's most celebrated novel. New York's smart set figures as the principals in this story and, against this society background, the author advances some entertaining questions about the power of love to overcome hereditary weaknesses. The picture, which is a Paramount Artcraft, will be shown at the Gem theatre Sunday and Monday, May 15th and 16th.

BEAR ATTACKS DREDGE EMPLOYEE

Ed Johnson an employee aboard the government dredge now working on the Bay Ocean road just below the shipyard, while ashore Tuesday evening about 7 o'clock, was attacked by a large brown bear. S. C. Chance, the cook, and Fred Diggs, fireman aboard the dredge, hearing Johnson's cry for help armed themselves with 30-30's, went to his rescue and soon killed the bear, which to Johnson's relief, as he was in very close quarters.

He is now carrying a couple scars as evidence of the struggle. The Bruin stood three feet high and measured 6 feet 6 inches from tip to tip weighing approximately 400 lbs. John Carroll and a party of county officials who were out Wednesday looking over the work, stated it was one of the largest of this specie they had seen in some time.
