A movement has been started by a number of poets of the American Legion to have the body of the unknown American soldier, to be brought back from France, buried under the dome of the National capitol instead of in Arlington National cemetery. The George Washington post has appointed a committee to formulate a and have introduced in Congress a resolution changing the place of burial.

Members of the American Legion in Louisiana, Mississippi and Florida have been notified that their efforts to exclude a colony of Mennonites from those states have been successful. The Mennonites are going to Mexico. Members of the legion opposed the settlement of the Mennonites because they evaded military service on religious grounds.
