American Legion Notes

Russell C. Gross, of Philadelphia, who filled Slacker Bergdoll's place in the army and who was killed in action in the Argonne after winning a citation for bravery, will be honored by the Overbrook, Penn., post of the American Legion, whose members have decided to name their projected community house for the hero. The Overbrook post will in the future be known as Russell C. Gross post.

Members of the American Legion in Lyon county Kansas, have agreed that if the state of Kansas or the federal government give a bonus to former service men, they will donate a part of the amount they receive to the payment of a debt on their new clubhouse to be erected at Emporia, Kansas, at a cost of $15,000.

To give unemployed veterans of the world war an opportunity to work, the welfare committee of the American Legion at St. Louis, Mo., is arranging to clear 1100 acres of timber land near Cahokia, Ill. The men will be paid from $2 to $5 a day according to their ability as woodsmen.

Sgt. Alvin York, famed for his individual war record has enrolled as a member of David King Summers post of the American Legion at Chattanooga, Tenn. York was present at the organization meeting of the legion in France, in 1919, but did not join the organization until a few days ago.

A war against "goldbrickers" has been declared in Los Angeles county, Calif., by thirty-six posts of the American Legion. "Goldbrickers" are defined as men who pose as ex-service men and prey upon the public purse as beggars or solicitors for non-existent "veteran publications"

Members of the American Legion at Anthony, Kansas, have contracted to shock 500 acres of wheat. Crews of 18 to 25 legion men will go to the wheat fields each evening and work until dusk. They will receive approximately four hundred dollars for their work and this will be used for equipping clubrooms.

The unidentified body of a young man killed by a motorcycle at St. Paul, Minn., recently escaped burial in the Potter's field when among his possessions was discovered a small gold locket containing a likeness of the man himself in the uniform of a United States soldier. Members of the American Legion took charge of the body and the burial was with full military honors. Efforts are now being made by legion men to establish identity of the victim.

The Blue and Gray association of Oklahoma has announced that it will turn over its grounds and buildings, formerly used by civil war veterans, to the American Legion post at Bridgeport, Okla., September 1, 1921.

It's hard to think of Rockefeller riding in a flivver, but such is the truth. William G. Rockefeller, of the fashionable Greenwich, Conn., summer colony was awarded one recently at a carnival given by the Greenwich post of the American Legion. It cost him $15. John D. Rockefeller will supply the gasoline 'tis said.
