

Camels are made for Men who Think for Themselves

Such folks know real quality—and DEMAND it. They prefer Camels because Camels give them the smoothest, mellowest smoke they can buy—because they love the mild, rich flavor of choicest tobaccos, perfectly blended—and because Camels leave NO CIGARETTY AFTERTASTE.

Like every man who does his own thinking, you want fine tobacco in your cigarettes. You'll find it in Camels.

And, mind you, no flashy package just for show. No extra wrappers! No costly frills! These things don't improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons.

But QUALITY! Listen! That's CAMELS!

The development of Motor Transportation

There have been many contributing factors in the development of motor transportation; the perfecting of the motor car in comfort and dependability; the construction of smooth durable highways; the production of a motor fuel—Red Crown gasoline—which meets every test of power and mileage; and finally, the Standard Oil Service Stations at convenient locations, making Red Crown gasoline readily available to motorists.

Look for Standard Oil Service Stations and for the Red Crown sign at garages, service stations, and other dealers. There you will be able to get good service with Red Crown gasoline.

"AMERICANS SHOULD BE PROUD OF WORK BY NEAR EAST RELIEF"

Says American High Commissioner. Congress Is Told of Great Accomplishment

Washington.—The annual report of the activities of the Near East Relief organization, filed with Congress by Charles V. Vickrey, General Secretary, constitutes the modest history of one of the greatest pieces of philanthropic work ever undertaken and carried through by American men and women, according to well-informed persons in the capital. Admiral Mark L. Bristol, United States High Commissioner to Turkey, for example, declares: "I have been closely associated with the work of the Near East Relief committee for about 22 months. On the whole the work of this relief committee has been such that Americans should be proud of this great humane effort. The Near East Relief here in Constantinople is run more like a business organization than any relief organization with which I have ever come into contact."

CHARLES V. VICKREY

Charles V. Vickrey's summary of the activities of the Near East Relief shows the disbursement of over $60,000,000.00 in cash and supplies, contributed by the American people to the salvaging of the Christian populations of the Near East. 711 American and Canadian men and women relief workers have been engaged in this huge task on little more than a volunteer basis. 63 hospitals, with 6,522 beds, and 123 clinics; 11 rescue homes, where young girls rescued from lives of shame in Turkish harems are taught to forget their sufferings, and to begin life anew, self-supporting and independent, are maintained.

110,000 Little Children

The most remarkable feature of the work of the Near East Relief is, however, the salvation of tens of thousands of children who have lost parents and relatives during the past six years. For these little ones American generosity has provided, through the Near East Relief, 299 homes—one in Alexandropol, Armenia, housing 18,000 children—where, last year, 54,600 children were housed, clothed, fed and taught, while an additional 56,039, outside the Near East Relief orphanages, were saved from starvation and death by food and clothing sent them from the United States.

Mr. Vickrey's report states that approximately 2,790,490 Armenians are still living in the Near East, out of a pre-war population of over 4,000,000 and estimates that had it not been for the aid given by the American people through the Near East Relief, fully half of those now living would have perished. Food was furnished to 581,970 homeless refugees during a large part of 1920, while 200,000 garments, comprising 1,500,000 pounds of clothing sent out from the United States were distributed to barefoot and rag-clad wanderers, all the way from the Mediterranean to the Caucasus mountains.

Work Must Continue

Commenting on these figures Mr. Vickrey stated that "this distinctively humanitarian relief work, as an expression of brotherhood, should help to mark the beginning of a new era of peace and inter-racial good will in the Near East." "The tremendous task undertaken by the American people in saving the children of the Near East is one which cannot be left unfinished. We have an investment of over $60,000,000 in human life, that America has saved. If we falter or pause now, that investment is imperiled, or may even be lost altogether. Most of the children we have saved from death are still too little to take care of themselves, and conditions throughout the Near East are still too uncertain to let them shift for themselves. It is morally sure that for at least five years, and until these little ones that we have snatched from a terrible fate are able to support themselves and enjoy an even chance of life as useful citizens, the American people who have rescued them must see them through.

"It is the purpose of the Near East Relief to do just this, and we appeal to the generosity of the American people to see this noble work is carried out in the spirit of mutual helpfulness and Christian charity which is so essentially characteristic of the American ideal." Contributions to the work of the Near East Relief may be sent to Cleveland H. Dodge, Treasurer, 1 Madison Ave., New York City.

DO YOU KNOW COLUMN?

Do you know:

That the business part of town and the S.P. Depot ought to get near or together?

That the growths of grass and sidewalks in some parts of town ought to have a hair cut?

That sewerage is the only system? That it costs money, but safeguards health?

That a building boom should be about due for Tillamook? We must provide housing if we want more people?

That some of our side walks play in xylophone solo, when a person walks over them?

That the fellow who insists on doing all the talking, forces you to be a good listener?

That a man told us a story the other day on the street? That he had his jaw full of plug tobacco? That when he laughed boisterously at his own story, he sprayed our listening face with the desiccated weed? That we didn't have time to back up? That we see him edging close up to us with a new story, we shall raise our umbrellas?

That some people gossip about others to turn attention from themselves? That all of us like to be flattered especially if the other party can make us believe he means it?

That a blue huckle berry pie will knock out a diet sheet in one short round?

That Lot's wife was turned into a pillar of salt for looking behind her? That a fine bunch of dairy salt was wasted on that woman?

That the aviator should be forgiven for feeling above us?

That the chap who fails to honk his horn going around the bend, may later wake up in a hospital?

That the auto cuss who fails to dim his light, when meeting another car after dark, certainly believes in letting his light shine?

That the Tillamook cow is a tryant, and forces the dairyman to get up too early to milk her? That the dairyman has the laugh on bossy, when he draws his milk check?

That when a fellow tells you there is no hereafter, just ask him to explain to you how came a clam?

That some people joy-ride all night and sleep all day? That they must prefer moonshine to sunshine?

That "Tillamook" bay ought to have a fleet of lumber coasters, coming and going?

That some folks think this life is just one proxy round of taking off one's clothes at night and putting them on in the morning? That it is a good old world after all? That it all depends upon how you view it?

That Tillamook should have a merchant marine fleet? That we should also be a seaport town?

That Tillamook has some mighty pretty homes?

That some of our dairy barns are nowhere equalled in the State?

That a fellow told us the other day that some of our beach resorts needed sanitation and sewers? That he said he could locate some of 'em a mile away with his eyes shut? That he must have quite a nose-ey nose?

That we haven't had the prevailing, but unpopular local epidemic? That we come of a very hardy parentage, who—Gosh, All Hemlock! Where's the woodpile?

That women love to look in at the store windows, but when they get ready to buy, they pick out the store that advertises? That the man who advertises only in his show windows, never has to make more room in his cash register before closing time?
