Tillamook county is naturally a fine berry country. Wild varieties grow to perfection, and the tame, cultivated kinds are nowhere better. Loganberries and the several kinds of tame blackberries also yield splendidly. The Evergreen blackberry, which is scattered all over the northwest, is now sought by the canneries, and is put up in gallon tins for sale to restaurants and bakeries all over the United States. It took the war in Europe to discover the food value of the Evergreen blackberry, and to give it a market. In some parts of the state it is now cultivated, but it yields heavily in its wild state. Tillamook county has it everywhere. A few years ago it was considered a nuisance, and was destroyed by farmers when ever possible. Today, it puts nice little sums of spending money in the hands of women and children, and even men can make fair daily wages at the present market price, picking them.

"DO YOU KNOW" COLUMN.

That we are apt to comment upon the other fellows hoggliness without stint? That when it comes to a out stint? That it comes to a free pic free picnic dinner, the best of us always have an eye out for the biggest piece of pie on the plate?

That the fellow who is always stinking up the town by stepping on the gas unnecessarily, deserves to have his auto called "a skunk wagon"?

That the difference between a sow bug and an auto-bug, is too obvious to require explanation?

That a four-in-hand necktie that wont slide handsomely, through a collar, has caused many a weak-kneed church member to temporarily become discouraged by his ir promptu profanity?

That the old red plum and the, colicky green apple are in the market, functioning as the doctors aid society?

That for some people this life runs about as smoothly as a wooden top on the bottom of a corrugated zinc wash-tub?

That many people who are credited with having a mean nature, may be suffering from a torpid liver?

That angling for the edible jack-salmon, attracts lots of our fishermen each Sunday? That as a tackle buster the jack is some Samson?

That Tillamook ought to have an athletic club and pull off a few wrestling and boxing matches this winter?

That Tillamook is surrounded by mountains with a cobalt atmosphere

That it lies, (not intentionally, of course,) like a gem therein?

That the fog and cloud effects on the mountains are worth seeing? That by a stretch of the imagination you can see some beautiful pictures?

That we saw a perfectly nice-to-king young lady buying "Whiz Bang", the other day? That it's an awful one gets out of that bird's periodical?

That if corduroy didn't smell so kind of mused, we'd like to have a suit of it?

That the dance hall boys at the beach are making all kinds of money? That a fellow will dance his head off with a pretty girl for a partner?

That most of us are always looking for the worst in a person, when we ought to be looking for the best?

That we have a whole lot of respect for the memory of the old pioneers and trail makers? That they made our beach resorts possible?

That tons of fine oat hay is going into the barns in this valley? That the boys will have plenty of time to sow wild oats this winter?

That many of the water-fairies will soon pack their grips for the bright lights of the metropolis?

That duck shooting will soon begin? That many of the poor birds will "go west," instead of south?

That mamas who have pastured their kids on their neighbors all summer, will now have a chance to shuffle them off upon the school ma'ms?

That the marine fleet on Hoquat-on slough, at low tide, looks as if it had been hit by a Fritz submarine?

That a sign says: Dump no rubbish in this pit? That some people can't see the sign after dark?

That it's about time to wind up this column, and take a smoke?
