

A PERSONAL MESSAGE To Every Dairyman of Tillamook Co.

To reach the largest number of Dairyman in the most convenient and shortest time possible I take this means of advising you of HARTFORD LIVE STOCK INSURANCE protection. This is a personal matter and concerns you more than it does me; hence, I would ask that you read carefully this message, then its up to you.

Did you ever stop to think how much your cows were making you?

Have you ever stopped to think how much it would cost you to replace any one of your cows, should you chance to lose one?

You probably know—and should know—how much each individual cow is making you and the total of your milk check received from all of your cows is very easy to determine.

You, no doubt, as a matter of good business carry Fire Insurance on your buildings, hay, feed and the contents of your dwelling. But do you carry ANY INSURANCE ON YOUR LIVE STOCK which makes possible your income from month to month and year after year?

THE HARTFORD INSURANCE COMPANY has at this time made it possible for you to insure your live stock against death from any cause AT ABSOLUTE COST of carrying such a risk. Through many years of experience tables the HARTFORD has at last determined the general average of MORTALITY or EXPECTANCY, that a dairy cow will produce and re-produce year in and year out. The average life thus determined is but 8 years. The HARTFORD for many year writing live stock insurance has now determined that they can carry your "Full Coverage" insurance at a annual cost of but $6.00 on each $100.00 of insurance carried. This would average a cost per month of but 50 cents or at a daily cost of less than .01 and 7-10ths cents; with milk selling at say $1.70 per 100 lbs it would take less than one-pint of milk per day to insure the cow for $100.00—can you afford to take chances and be without this HARTFORD PROTECTION?

Think this over, NOW, TODAY, and get in touch with us. We will be glad to talk this over with you in detail and without obligation.

We are no further from you now than the telephone or mail box.

MANY FAMILIES FORCED TO MOVE

early staging days in Southern Oregon, when each passenger walked up the hills, and also carried a fence rail to help pry the stages out of the adobe church holes on the level.

Gail Buell's house north of town had about 18 inches of water on the floor, while that of Alfred Reynolds had between 2 and 3 feet on the first floor. In some cases families took refuge on the dining tables, or where there were upper stories went up higher. Monday morning saw many families brought out by boats Chas. Smith and wife were surrounded by water in their house in the south part of town and were taken out by a boat during the night.

W. A. Church's father and mother north of town, had two feet of water on the floor, but went up stairs when the water came in. They were taken out Monday morning.

Shiff Aschim and others kept busy all night, looking after beleaguered townsmen, who had more water than they needed on their premises. Several families in the south-west part of town moved out to safer quarters during the night. Cows and chickens in some cases were moved to higher ground during the night.

Wilson river went out of its banks Sunday night and threatened to cut a channel across the road near the Hushbeck place. Large areas of bottom land were overflowed. No damage of importance was done, however.

The water came into the engine room of the Coates mill, and wet a number of electric motors which had to be taken out and dried. The lumber yard was overflowed and scattered some loose lumber about.

Loss of hogs, chickens and turkeys are reported by the rapid rise of the rivers. In one case, a half a dozen tame ducks were caught in a coop and drowned. Some flood when it drowns ducks?

Old timers say that, while the rise of Sunday night was one of the most rapid ever seen here, it lacked a great deal of being the highest flood ever had.

Long distance telephone lines are working. The Mutual reports little damage done to that line.

Many cases of water-surrounded stock were reported Monday morning. It is feared that in some cases cattle were drowned. The water was over the dyke west of town, and a number of the farmers had flood experiences they will not soon forget.

The late flood did one good thing. It cleared the rivers of old logjams of long standing. The bay is full of logs, snags, brush wood and other accumulations that were torn loose by the raging rivers.

The S. P. train ran as far as Enright Sunday, turned around and came back to Bay City, stopped by a mud slide at Juno.

All through the gloom of Sunday night's flood, the city electric light plant kept the cheery lights glowing. Engineer Snodgrass on the last shift, in hipboots waded through water in the engineroom and salvaged wet wood as it floated about, and kept the "home lights burning" until daylight. At times the rising water spluttered in the fire grate, but Snodgrass thought of the water surrounded houses, of the boat deliveries of women and children, and by hard work kept up the power and it was appreciated.

The Coates Lumber company reports the loss of about 200,000 feet of saw logs by the breaking of their big boom in the Tillamook river Sunday night. Efforts are being made to recover some of the logs stranded along the river and bay, which may reduce the loss somewhat.
