SALEM, Ore., Jan. 20. (Special.)—During the months of October, November and December, ninety-one permits to appropriate water and eight permits to store water were issued by State Engineer, Percy A. Cupper. These permits contemplate the irrigation of a total of 3395 acres of land, the construction of ninety miles of canal lines, the development of 7156 horsepower and the appropriation of water for mining, municipal, domestic and various other purposes, at an estimated cost of $415,000.00. The reservoirs are expected to store 8160 acre feet of water at an estimated construction cost amounting to $119,000.00.

In Tillamook County, a permit was issued to J. H. and H. H. Rosenberg, of Tillamook, covering the appropriation of water from an unnamed creek for domestic water supply, which includes the construction of one-half mile of pipe line. The probable cost of the installation will amount to $1500.00.

A Relic of Pre-Historic Days

Tillamook, at last, has suddenly found herself in the limelight, and all because of the exhibition of some sort of a pre-historic animal. We were to look it over this morning but have been unable to find a name for the monster. And we advise all Tillamookians to avail themselves of any opportunity that presents of viewing this great freak. County Agricultural Agent Pine, has this great and rare animal on exhibition in his office. It resembles, well, we don't know what it resembles, the whole thing just naturally has us baffled. It's beyond description and explanation. Looking at it from one angle it may at one time have been a bird; from another it resembles nothing so much as a lizard. And looking at it from directly in front it gives one the shivers and makes cold chills play hide and seek up and down the spine.

When we were kids long ago, playing on the old homestead, ghost stories used to make us hide our face and cover our eyes, but the thrills of a ghost story are as nothing compared with sensations that the sight of this spooky have caused.

As near as we can find out it is a cross between a whippersnapper and a wampus cat, whatever they are. We have advised Mr. Pine to send the thing to the Smithsonian Institute and find out what it really is.

Anyway, Pine, we don't understand how you can stay in the same office with the darn thing.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Jan. 19. (Special.)—Who's Who in America for 1920-1921 contains the names and brief sketches of 133 Oregon citizens as being "living Americans whose positions or achievements make their personalities of general interest." The books gives a total for the whole country of 23,443 names.

Twenty-five Oregon towns are represented in this big biographical book of prominent Americans. These towns and the number of the citizens included are: Albany, 4; Carlton, 1; Central Point, 1; Corvallis, 6; Dayton, 1; Deer Island, 1; Eugene, 10; Forest Grove, 2; Halfway, 1; Hillsdale, 1; Hood River, 2; Jacksonville, 1; Klamath Falls, 1; McMinnville, 1; Medford, 1; North Portland, 1; Oregon City, 1; Parkdale, 1; Pendleton, 1; Philomath, 2; Portland, 73; Rock Spur, 1; Roseburg, 2; Salem, 18; and The Dalles, 1.

The names of nine faculty members of the University of Oregon are given. They are President P. L. Campbell; Dr. James D. Barnett, head of the department of political science; Dr. Timothy Cloran, head of the department of romance languages; Dr. F. G. Schmidt, of the language department; Dr. H. D. Sheldon, dean of the school of education; Dr. W. D. Smith, head of the geology department; Prof. F. G. Young, dean of the school of sociology; Dr. George Rebec, director of Portland extension center and dean of the graduate school; and Dr. H. B. Torrey, director of medical research.

The next edition of Who's Who will be published next May. The last edition contained 2,514 names which had never previously appeared in the book. It will be interesting to see what citizens of Oregon have found a place among the new names of the next edition by reason of their accomplishments during the past two years.

Every head of a family who had a net income of $1,000 or more, during 1921 must file a return in the office of Clyde G. Huntley, Collector of Internal Revenue, although he is entitled to the same exemption of $2,500 allowed married persons, providing his net income does not exceed $5,000. The head of a family under the law is defined as a person who supports in one household one or more relatives by blood, marriage, or adoption.

Station Operating

The wireless telephone and telegraph station recently installed by Walter J. Mead in Nehalem is now working and he is prepared to send messages by wireless.

The station has a wide range. Messages from as far north as Dawson and as far south as San Diego have been picked up. Telephone communications between San Diego and Catalina Islands can be heard. It is now possible to communicate with the outside world regardless of storms and wire trouble.—Wheeler

NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS

I wish to call attention of all owners of dogs in Tillamook County to a recent decision by the Supreme Court, holding the dog license law constitutional. This law provides that all owners shall procure a license for their dogs during the month of January of each year. Failure to comply with this statute, is a misdemeanor and subjects the owner to a fine and any unlicensed dog is to be killed under the provisions of the law. License can be secured from the County Clerk and you are respectfully urged to attend to this matter without delay.

JOH ASCHIM,
Sheriff of Tillamook County, Oregon.

Prospective Mothers

Proper care of mother when Baby comes is vital to her future health and baby's as well. Each has the right to the very best attention and scientific skill, something that is impossible at home.

But here, at this wonderfully equipped, modern fire-proof maternity home, every care is extended to mother. Graduate nurses, who know and love babies and are specially trained for maternity work, are in constant attendance here day and night. The nurses in charge are graduates from Chicago Lying In Hospital, conducted by Dr. Joseph B. De Lee, America's greatest authority on obstetrics.

Come a week or so before Baby is expected and board at the hospital. The cost is much less than if you remained home under a nurse's care—and worries are eliminated.

All information and pictures of the hospital will be mailed in a plain envelope on request.

Another Royal Suggestion

Banana Cake with Jelly Sauce

From the NEW ROYAL COOK BOOK

SOMETHING new for dinner tonight — something easy to make—something economical!

It is a new Banana Cake — only one of many novel suggestions for different desserts that you will find in the New Royal Cook Book.

Banana Cake with Jelly Sauce

1 cup flour
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
4 bananas
1 egg
Sift the flour, baking powder, sugar and salt into a bowl; add the milk and well-beaten egg; mix well. Peel and scrape the bananas; cut in halves, lengthwise, then across. Pour batter into greased shallow pan, place the bananas on top and sprinkle with sugar. Bake in moderate oven 35 minutes. Serve with jelly sauce.

Jelly Sauce

1 tablespoon jelly
1 cup water
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon cornstarch
Put water into saucepan; bring to a boil; add jelly and sugar; stir until dissolved; then add cornstarch wet with a little cold water; boil 3 minutes.
