BIG PLANS MADE NINTH ANNUAL CO. EXPOSITION

PRIZES HAVE BEEN INCREASED ON STOCK TO FIVE—NEW ARRANGEMENTS ARE BEING MADE ON GROUNDS.

The ninth annual Tillamook fair will be held on September 12, 13, 14 and 15th of this year, one day earlier than the initial date of last year. The management hope to make it the best fair ever held here, and will bend its energies to that end, with the cooperation of the public. Much responsibility will rest upon the public, as it will have to furnish the exhibits, and it is hoped that every one will have something in stock, farm products, poultry, culinary or other exhibits. The school exhibits will also form an important part in the display.

An important change this year will be found in the increase of the premiums for stock. Where formerly there were three prizes, this year there will be five, and the first prize will be increased from $8 to $10; and so on in the same ratio down the list, the fifth premium being $2. In the awards for young stock the first prize will be $8, and the fifth prize $1.

The milking contest has been eliminated for this year, and the money will be used to increase other prizes.

In the vegetable and horticultural departments, a sweepstake prize of $25 will be offered to the person or persons taking the most premiums in those departments; this means that if the exhibitor or exhibitors take $19 worth of premiums, and more than other exhibitors, the winner will get the $25 plus and additional to the regular premiums offered, which should be an additional inducement for good-natured competition.

In the textile department a total of $100 will be offered for prizes; $50 for the first prize, $25 for the second, $15 for the third, and $10 for the fourth. They will be judged as to display, quantity, quality, and as to neatness and arrangement.

In the floral department, some of the money has been taken from premiums heretofore offered which included flowers not widely grown in this country and this money has been added to premiums representing flowers of more importance in the coast section.

It has been hinted that Fred C. Baker might take over the matter of the business men's concessions, and it is believed that such arrangement with him would result in a creditable display by the local business men of their goods and industries. The fair will receive added impetus and importance should the business men decide to make a general display, as the one held at the last fair session was a decided attraction.

It is understood that there will be but one main entrance from the road to the fair grounds this year, instead of two, as was the case last year. The new gate will be near the center of the enclosure. The gate for stock, and for the feed trucks will be changed so as to divert all such traffic through an open field direct to the stock sheds, thus not interfering with the crowds, and lessening the dust clouds.

It is also rumored that a purebred stock sale will be had at this year on the last day of the fair, but this has not been definitely settled. The fair book is now ready for the printer, and it is hoped that this year's books will be available by the first of July, as there would then be two months in which to study the premium lists before the fair.

MISS EDNA ELY

Miss Edna Ely of East Beaver died the latter part of last week in a Portland hospital, where she had been taken for treatment. The remains were brought to this city last Sunday, where services were held by Rev. Dark of M. E. church, followed by interment in the Odd Fellows cemetery, the burial rites being conducted by the local Rebekah lodge of Odd Fellows.

Mrs. Stranahan, city recorder, is in Tacoma, Washington, attending the national parent-teachers association, which is in session in that city.

SALVATION ARMY IS IT DESERVING?

The purpose of the Salvation Army can best be expressed by the motto of the organization: "The world for Christ and Christ for the world," as well as by the charge given by its founder to go for souls and go for the worst. Touched by the awful conditions of the masses of darkest England, and later of all lands, General Booth believed the salvation of God to be the only panacea for existing conditions.

The results accomplished during the intervening years justify the claims of the Army that the solution of present and social and industrial evils is to be found in the application of the principles advocated by the lowly Nazarene, which is first, loving God, and second, loving your neighbor.

The spread and growth of the Salvation Army since its inception in 1865 has been nothing short of miraculous. From the lonely figure standing on Miles End waste in London, dedicating his life to God and the saving of mankind, it has spread to all the corners of the world.

Without previous plans, men and women touched by the same spirit, but moving from England to their parts of the world, continued their work for "OTHERS" thus planting the Army's flag. It was the Shirley family of London, having settled in the City of Brotherly Love, who started the Salvation Army in the United States, in a deserted chair factory, and who finally induced General Booth to send a small party of his officers to officially open the work on this side of the Atlantic; the start of this work on other continents was accomplished in similar ways.

The Salvation Army operates today in 73 countries, and colonies and preaches the gospel in 42 different languages. It works in 11,000 different cities and has more than 18,000 commissioned officers in its ranks. Truly it can be said that the sun never sets on the Salvation Army.

It should be borne in mind in considering the growth of the Salvation Army that it was accomplished in the face of much and serious persecution. The privilege enjoyed today by the Salvation Army, of preaching on the street corners of the cities of the world, and doing its great work among the poor and fallen was gained only by enduring the hatred of the mob as well as the contempt of the so-called respectable element.

It was nothing new in the early days to be covered with mud from head to foot, to be stoned while marching the streets, or having every window of their halls and buildings smashed by the angry mob. To be stoned while doing good was a new experience, and in some instances, members of the Army gave their lives while trying to help the helpless. To be in prison and sent to work on the rock pile was enjoyed by many of the Salvationists. In spite of all this opposition and persecution the Army was able to advance.

What may not the future hold in store in the matter of progress with a generous and sympathetic public to stand by and assist with money and time so much needed.

May 18, 19 and 20 have been set aside as donation days to this worthy organization. The Central Committee of Tillamook County, of which Sheriff Aschim is chairman, requests that every one contribute what they can. The money so contributed will be used only for work in the State of Oregon. A committee for every district in the county has been appointed, and will call on you. Every one contributing will be given a receipt and button. Give whatever you can, help the Army that helped win the war.

MAY OPERATE PLANE AGAIN

The big bi-plane owned by Lieut. L. C. Smith may fly from Tillamook along the beach again this summer. Last summer the machine was quite an attraction, and L. C. is negotiating with a pilot of Portland to take charge of the plane during the summer, but probably will not fly himself, as he is attending a Portland dental college, and wants to get through with the course. Lieut. Smith is a son Dr. L. M. Smith of this city, and saw service with airplane squadrons in France. Last summer he started to Eugene with a passenger, and when over the summit of the coast range his engine stopped. Smith dropped the machine down several hundred feet, when the propeller began to turn, righted the plane and sped on his way without further incident.

GUERNSEY FANS PLANNING FOR A BIG TIME

JUNE 1, 2, 3 HAVE BEEN SET FOR GATHERING FROM ALL OVER THE STATE WHICH WILL MEET HERE SOON.

The Guernsey Galettes program is all set and ready to happen on the 1st, 2d and 3d of June. County Agent Pine and associates have worked out the program, which, of course is subject to slight change, as are all programs, but so far as known now, it will stand as the official program. The event is one of yearly occurrence, and is regarded in this county as a time for social mingling, and hitherto has proved to be a very pleasing occasion.

On the first day there will be a big dinner at the home of Hon. C. L. Hawley at his farm in Polk county, where the Galettes will assemble. This will be followed by a banquet at the Tillamook hotel at 8:00 p. m., which is looked forward to with pleasure by the Galettes folks and their friends.

Another feature will be the beach dinner at Netarts on June 2d, when baked crabs and clams, with coffee and sandwiches will be served by a local chef of skill. The Galettes will finish their yearly three day meet at Cloverdale on the third day, with a lunch at McKillop's, and then disband. A complete program will be published next week.

BUILDING BRISK IN CITY HAMMER AND SAW KEPT BUSY

The welcome racket of the saw and hammer are heard in this city after the alapse of war times. Mrs. Alex McNair is building a new bungalow at the corner of 5th street and First avenue. Dave Martiny has broken ground for his new residence on 7th street and First avenue east. Roy Henkle is pouring concrete for the foundation of his new residence near the undraining parlors, and Emil Heusser's new residence is well along, and in the shingler's hands. I. E. Keldson's new home is progressing in the builder's hands. Other buildings are being completed, and still others are being talked of by home builders.

WANTS TO PUT ON STEAMER

A Portland man here this week advising with Tillamook business men relative to putting on a little freight steamer between Portland and Tillamook, and bay ports. It is understood that he will expect some financial encouragement from business of the city, aside from regular patronage.

MISS ISABEL WOOD

Miss Isabel Wood of this city died last Saturday night at a local hospital. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Wood of this city, and unmarried. The remains were taken to Corvallis Monday for interment in the family lot of a cemetery in that city.

KU KLUX KLAN LECTURE NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT

Information from Portland comes that John A. Jeffrey of that city, will deliver a lecture here on the aims and purposes of the Ku Klux Klan. This will afford an opportunity for the people of Tillamook to learn first hand from a lecturer of the order what it stands for. The organization is attracting much attention, and is said to be growing very fast all over the coast, and naturally there are those who would like to know about it. The lecture is scheduled for the 16th of May, at 7:30 p. m. at the city hall auditorium, and is free. The public generally has been invited to attend.

BAR TUG FROM SEATTLE EXPECTED SOON IN BAY

The Whitney mills at Garibaldi Cove will soon be exporting lumber by water, if reports from that section do not need confirmation. It is learned that a big bar tug is soon expected to arrive for the use of the company from Seattle; and it is also stated by a resident of that city that steam schooners for lumber carrying trade will follow in the near future, and be ready to take cargoes of lumber to the southern markets. When this occurs the bay will take on new activity, and add interest to life along the water front of the cove, and important to shipping interests of our harbors. It is understood that the tug will remain here to escort the ships in and out of the bay entrance. Verily, Tillamook bay's one time shipping prestige bids fair to come back, good and strong.

INDORSES WATSON

The Oregon Voter in its last issue pays Rollie W. Watson of this city a high compliment in a column and a half review of his candidacy for the nomination for representative. The Voter is reviewing the several candidates for the primary nomination in the state, and incidentally places Rollie in the "he will do column".

LOST HOMING PIGEON VISITS STANLEY COATES

Stanley Coates has been interested until last year in racing homing pigeons. But he has been too busy for a year or more to pay further attention to this pastime. Wednesday morning he caught a strange pigeon on a window sill in the third story of the court house, which proved to be a lost carrier bird, which bore the name of R. T. Gwilyn Seattle, engraved on an aluminum band on one leg, and the number "Seattle 909-21." On the other leg, Gwilyn is one of the best known pigeon racers on the coast, and his bird, thinks Mr. Coates, was probably on a homing trip from San Francisco, when lost, and came here for food, which he states they will do when weak and hungry. Just why it came to the only room occupied by a pigeon racer in this county is one of the things that may be credited either to the wings of chance or the uncanny perception of a bird "that knew." Mr. Coates will write to the owner about the pretty little prisoner which is just now enjoying his hospitality.

ELECTION DAY FOR PRIMARIES DRAWING NEAR

THREE SEPARATE BALLOTS TO BE USED NEXT FRIDAY, THIRTY POLLING PLACES IN THE COUNTY OF TILLAMOOK.

May 19th is primary day. If you wish to vote, remember the day. If you are not duly registered in the precinct and county where you wish to vote, and have resided 30 days in the precinct, and 60 days in the state state, next preceding the day of primary election, you can register at the polls by swearing in your vote with the assistance of two freeholders.

Persons wishing to make a change of politics may do so on election day, and will be given the ticket of their choice by the judges.

In voting, be sure to mark an X between the number and name of the candidate for whom you wish to vote. Should you write in a name, be sure to place an X between the number and name to be voted for, as otherwise the vote will go your candidate no good.

There are three separate and distinct elections to occur at the coming primary. First, the general primary nominating election; secondly, an election for the recall of Fred A. Williams, a member of the public service commission of the county; thirdly, for the recall of Fred A. Williams, a member of the same board.

In this county candidates will be voted for as follows: Circuit judge, joint with Washington county; one representative in the state legislature; one county commissioner. Then there will be the regular state nominations also.

There are thirty polling places in the county, and the ballot boxes for the coming election will be sent out by the sheriff next week, while the clerk is looking after the ballots. The ballots for the county will be smaller this year on account of the fact that there are so few county officers to be nominated.

EARL A. MERRILL ARRESTED AND ADJUDGED INSANE

Earl A. Merrill, aged about 25 years, and recently from Portland, was picked up on the streets here this week by Marshal White and locked up on a charge of annoying the girls on the streets. Sheriff Aschim having recognized Merrill as an old offender in Portland, and of unsavory reputation, haled him before the county judge who had him examined by Dr. Boies as to his sanity. The doctor pronounced Merrill criminally insane, and the authorities at the Oregon Insane Asylum were notified to come and get him. It appears that Merrill has been in that institution before, and is a sex pervert.

WILL ENTERTAIN GUILD

Mrs. Frank Heyd will entertain the Ladies guild of the Presbyterian church, May 16th, with Mrs. L. Wallace as assisting hostess.

HIT BY CABLE MAN STILL LIVES

Hit by a heavy steel cable at the base of ear, and rendered unconscious for hours. Hugh Wallace an employee of the Jenk & Alley sawmill and logging camp at Beldonia, in this city with fair chances for recovery. Wallace was operating a steel cable 400 feet in length, when it snapped under strain, and one of the ends struck him at the base of his ear. It was first thought that Wallace was dead, but it is now thought that he will recover, as there was no fracture of the skull. His escape is attributed to the fact that he was leaning sideways when the blow came, as otherwise it is feared his neck would have been broken. The accident occurred Sunday last about noon. Wallace is a son of Bud. Wallace of Hemlock.

OLD TIMER REVISITS FRIENDS IN TILLAMOOK

Christopher Mills for many years a resident of this county, and a homesteader in the Beaver section nearly thirty years ago, spent two or three days in Tillamook and elsewhere in the county last week. For several years past he has lived in California, Ohio and West Virginia, but about a year ago, came back to Oregon, and now resides in Salem.

At one time Mr. Mills was in business in this city, but has not been here before his recent visit for 11 years, and expressed astonishment at the growth of the city, which was a mere village when he came to the county. Mr. Mills is 75 years of age, and served in the Civil War. He witnessed the hanging of Mrs. Surratt and the other men in the conspiracy to kill President Lincoln, and was a guard at the national prison at Washington for some time during the war. He was present at the surrender of Gen. Lee at Appomattoch court house, at the close of the Civil war, and is a survivor of the fast thinning legion of the G. A. R. Through the courtesy of the Headlight, he asks to be kindly remembered to his old friends in this county whom it will be impossible to see on this visit.

HENRY DUNSTAN RE-VISITS TILLAMOOK, $6 AND WELL

Henry Dunstan, who used to live out at Hemlock, this county, several years ago, and who is now a resident of Portland, was in town on business last Saturday. His son, John Dunstan, who died here some years ago, was quite a prominent man in the county at one time. Henry Dunstan is 86 years of age, and his wife is 82, and both read ordinary print without glasses. Mr. Dunstan was born in England during the reign of King William, and just before Queen Victoria ascended the throne—to be exact, in 1836. His parents emigrated to the United States when he was 4 years old, and he has been an American 84 years. Mr. and Mrs. Dunstan have been married 60 years, which by the way is some marital record, and both are in very good health at this time.

TILLAMOOK HOLSTEIN MAKES 27 POUNDS BUTTER IN 27 DAYS

R. W. Watson of Tillamook, Oregon, has one of his purebred registered Holsteins listed with a creditable record in the latest official bulletin from the office of Malcolm H. Gardner, Delavan, Wisconsin, Superintendent of Advanced Registry of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. This cow, Canary Fobes May De Khol, at the age of seven years, produced 581.6 lbs of milk and 21.755 lbs of butter fat in seven days, equivalent to 27.2 pounds of butter. The Champion Holstein for Oregon in the Full Aged class for seven days production is Stanhope Belle Johanna, whose record of 559.7 lbs of milk and 27.361 lbs of butter fat, equivalent to 34.2 pounds of butter, surpasses all others, according to the records of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. This record production was made at the H. G. Mullenhoff Farm, Gresham, Oregon.

How Will They Vote?

A compilation of the registered voters in this county shows that out of a total of 4870 persons there are 2128 males and 1742 females. The registration along party lines is 1544 republicans, 954 democrats, 58 prohibitionists, 106 socialists and miscellaneous, 268.

WORLD RECORD NOW MADE BY DANIELS' COW

TILLAMOOK JERSEY DEMONSTRATES REMARKABLE FEAT NEVER BEFORE EQUALED—ENTITLED TO GOLD MEDAL.

The senior two-year old Jersey cow, St. Maves Pretty Lady, not content with producing 824 pounds of butterfat and thereby annexing the title of champion butterfat cow of her class in the world, last Wednesday dropped a fine bull calf which entitles her to the further distinction of being the only cow of her class in the world to carry a living calf during her butterfat test, and then successfully drop it. No other cow in the world in her class has ever equalled this feat, and the owner, Lester Daniels of the Daniels Jersey Farm of this county, is elated and justly so.

The butterfat record of St. Maves Pretty Lady entitles the winner to a gold medal, and the American Jersey Cattle Club should feel proud of the record of this little Jersey cow, away out in Oregon, where nutritious grass and equable climate conspire to make champions.

Jersey breeders all over the world will soon know of this additional feat of the Oregon senior two-year old, and Mr. Daniels is due for congratulations from various parts of the world.

The champion's dam, Olga Lad's Dewbell, recently finished a yearly butterfat test of 633 pounds, and also dropped a fine bull calf, for good measure. This proves that the family of Jerseys to which the champion belongs is not only one of fat producers, but also is one of dependable and prolific breeders, two qualities that make for top-notchers, and which stamps the family as one of the best in the world of the breed.

COUNTY CLERK AND SHERIFF PREPARING FOR PRIMARIES

The biennial primaries are close at hand, occurring as they will on the 19th of the present month. Clerk Brimhall has completed the list of judges and clerks of election, and the sheriff will look after the voting booths in each precinct. The ticket will soon be completed and then placed in the hands of the printer, when every thing will be ready for the coming event. The triangular fight in this county for representative in the legislature is beginning to warm up, and also the contest for commissioner, but most of the county officers this year are exempt from the worry of election, as their terms continue through this year. Judge Bagley, for Circuit Judge, will succeed himself as he has no opposition in either county.

THE TOURIST CAFE IS NOW SPICK AND SPAN AND WHITE

The Tourist Cafe has been re-arranged, re-painted and enlarged and is now one of the neatest restaurants in the county. The kitchen arrangements are up-to-date and quick and satisfactory service is afforded by the proprietor and assistants. The cafe was closed for about two weeks, but is now open and catering to the public as before with added facilities for pleasing.

ODD FELLOWS HOLD CO. CONVENTION SATURDAY

The Odd Fellows of this county held their annual convention in this city last Saturday at the hall of the local subordinate lodge. Lodges in Cloverdale, Tillamook, Beaver, Bay City and Wheeler were represented, and addresses were made by a number of the lodgemen of the county, including the past masters of the grand lodge of the state, namely, Thos. Ryan, now a candidate for state treasurer, and P. M. Nelson of McMinnville. A banquet was held at 7 o'clock Saturday night which was an enjoyable affair, replete with fraternal and social good will and cheerful culinary suggestion. The ladies of the Rebekah lodge personally saw to it that good entables were not lacking, and this annual event passed as one of the sunny spots of the year in county Odd Fellowship.

E. W. Stanley who has been seriously ill for some time past was able to be up to the court house Wednesday last.
