

Why Pay More?

We cheerfully admit that ordinarily it is extremely hard to buy a good servicable Boy's Suit at a reasonable price. Mr. Pennington has spent the last month in all the big markets on this coast and we are happy to say that today our Boys' Clothing Department represents the best values to be had and all at the new lower price levels.

PENNINGTON'S
"The Quality Store"
TILLAMOOK, OREGON

A proposal that the American Legion be given the sacred trust of caring for graves of Confederate veterans in the South has been made to General Julian S. Carr, Durham, N. C., commander of the United Confederate Veterans. National headquarters of the Legion, sponsoring the move, has also made the same request of the Grand Army of the Republic.
"We see your ranks growing very thin, and while there are a few of you yet with the living, the Legion has an ambition to prove its fidelity to you all by accepting as a sacred trust the privilege of caring for and decorating all of the graves of America's heroic dead, who fought on both sides of that struggle resulting in the re-birth of our nation," the Legion's request reads.
The Legion asks that it be allowed to assume its trust on the coming Memorial day, and adds: "An exchange of our flags over the graves of your and our dead and a similar decoration for each and all throughout America will be binding and indisputable evidence of the unity of our country for ever."

An ex-soldier living in Mississippi, becoming the proud father of triplets, all girls, asked the American Legion to suggest names for them. On his assertion that he was a "good hand at poker" and therefore willing to "take a chance on your pick," it was suggested, that the "three queens" be named Annie, Maude and Kate.
One half of the A. E. F. in France drank a glass of beer in a Coblenz cafe about a month ago, American Legion men have informed their back-home buddies. The other half who stayed back in Paris, was a Quartermaster Corps sergeant. The A. E. F. will soon be reduced to just one of the pair.
While a forest fire was sweeping down upon the sick and wounded ex-soldiers confined in a Lakewood, N. J., hospital, American Legion men rescued their invalid comrades and parked them in an open field. Then they saved the hospital from destruction.
More than 21,000 ex-soldiers asked the American Legion of Minnesota to adjust their claims against the Government during 1921. Of these claims, 42 per cent. were for disability, compensation, vocational training and medical treatment.
While examining an ex-soldier to find out why he could not hear, an Indianapolis doctor found a wad of paper in the doughboy's right ear. he reported to the American Legion. The man declared he had inserted the wad while going overseas in 1917, to keep from getting sea-sick.

To combat the robbery of Franklin, Tenn., residence, members of the American Legion have formed a vigilante community. They have captured three burglars thus far.
"The opinion of expatriate Americans is not needed nor wanted on this question," Rep. A. B. Rossdale, New York, has replied to the statements of Lady Ailor, member of the English Parliament, that adjusted compensation for American service men is all wrong.
Following indorsement of the movement by an American Legion post at Schenectady, N. Y., which terms the ex-president a "disabled veteran of the world war," service men of the Empire State have contributed a large sum to the Woodrow Wilson foundation.
Eighteen Frenchmen were digging in a German cemetery this spring for ammunition concealed by Germans contrary to terms of the armistice. They found it unexpectedly, according to what Enrico Piana, Italian consul, told the American Legion at Los Angeles, Cal. Five are still alive.

Commander Hanford McNider of the American Legion has received 700 invitations to date to speak in as many communities on Memorial Day. He will accept the invitation of the St. Paul, Minn., Memorial Day Association.
An automobile run of 1,000 miles with a 25 cent repair bill is a record made by Nicholas Farnis who made the trip to Newburg, N. Y. to attend an American Legion meeting. His 25 cent repairs were made to his wooden leg, damaged when it slipped off the foot-brake.
The United States good roads association, in convention assembled, have adopted resolutions introduced by the American Legion, providing preferential employment of ex-soldiers in federal, state and county highway construction.

CAPITAL AND OPPORTUNITIES
THE finest opportunity in the world means nothing to you if you can't take advantage of it. And so often that is contingent on capital.
For the average person the easiest way to acquire that capital is through a Savings Account at a bank. For these funds are safe while accumulating, and draw semi-annual interest. The First National offers the facilities of its Savings Department to would-be capitalists.
