The season for vacations is upon us once again.
The business, and to phone, has produced an extra strain.
A fellow's got to get away to rest while, you know, so the most important question is, where's he going?
With Europe shot to pieces and her economy gone to smash—besides, the rumors didn't leave an overplus of cash. There ain't the old industryments for to break the ocean's foam, an' it really ain't desirable to go so far from home. The question grows perplexin' as they often will, ye know,—the hour keeps drawin' nigher, but—where are you goin' to go.

Well—there's the Rocky Mountains, fairy-ladders to the skies—or, the Northern Lakes is callin' from a perfect Paradise.
You can rest in Eden's Garden on our whole Atlantic coast—or journey to the Sunny South, the land I love the most. Go where the Old Pacific cools the California Belle—or, drift around the Yellowstone, where heaven flirts with hell. Yosemite, the fairyland, or Florida, the Queen or up among the Catskills to a place you've never seen. You can tackle Arizona where the canyon splits the earth,—and none of them will cost ye more'n a tenth of what it's worth. Huh,—talk about reactions! It drives me to despair, when I think about the idiots that's allers askin'
"Where?"

Every now an' then we hark back to the old copy book and remember the lines on the top. What forgets "Example is Better Than Precept" which means "Teach by deed" things, not by sayin' things. Here's a whole bunch of us gettin' as wise as old teaching the young what to do, telling them all sorts of things they don't believe because they see we're not carryin' them out ourselves. The reason we don't carry them out is because we've grown old and that's the greatest crime of all. Every man seems to wish he would start out in life with the knowledge and experience of age in child life but we can drag back the simplicity an' truth of child life in the middle age. Mohamet can always go to the mountain.

CHURCH ROBBERS
The world, the flesh, and the devil are constantly having accusations at the church, but they do not point you to the real robbers. Would a man rob God? No. But a Robber, hypocrite, and heretic would. They are robbing the church every day.
They are using two great methods.
First: They are sending their agents, their rationalists and Bolshevick heretics into the church.
Of course they have to profess themselves and sing their own songs in order to get in. Then when they enter the church their obligations being not to the church but to the premeditated conspirators against the church. There isn't a heretic in the church today who isn't the conscious or unconscious agent of the conspirators who are using a rob the church of her influence and power.
Here is not an intellectual evidence; it is an evidence of heart degeneracy, and is absolute proof of the total depravity of mankind.
These agents inside of the church preach their false doctrines not because they believe them, but because they are part of a conspiracy to de-
