"NO MORE WAR"

Not long ago a poster bearing the words "No More War" was noticed hanging in the window of a rural house. It was put there no doubt with the spirit of helping to bring public sentiment against waging wars as was witnessed from 1914 to 1918 in Europe.

The idea is excellent but whoever conceived it put the cart before the horse. War will not be stopped simply by hanging out posters and singing anthems of peace. There are deep underlying causes that must be stamped out before a period of eternal peace prevails throughout the world.

The human race is ruled by many complex emotions and natures, and until the natural emotions of the race are changed war will be a scourge to the world. Only by the abolishment of such human frailties as dishonesty, selfishness and greed will the result hoped for by the pacifists be attained.
