Recommendation Made To Governor-elect That Coast Plan Be Put on Road Commission

Last Sunday evening there was a road meeting at the Imperial hotel in Portland participated in by delegates from the coast counties of Oregon for the purpose of strengthening the support of the Roosevelt highway.

At the meeting a resolution was passed asking Governor-elect Pierce to appoint some resident of the coast counties on the state highway association. No name was submitted to Mr. Pierce at this time but it is understood that either Charles Hall of Ashford or B. F. Jones of Newport, who is known as the "Father of the Roosevelt Highway," will be mentioned later to Mr. Pierce. A. W. Norblad of Astoria was chairman of the meeting, which consisted of representatives from Columbia, Clatsop, Tillamook, Lincoln, Polk, Lane, Douglas and Coos counties. There was no representation from Curry county. Mrs. Fred Assenheimer of Eugene was secretary of the delegation.

Other road matters beside the Roosevelt highway were discussed by every member present and a resolution was drawn memorializing congress to take favorable action in matching the $2,500,000 appropriated some time ago by the Oregon legislature. Several members of the present legislature who were present pledged their support to a bill to renew the validity of the old appropriation that has been passed by this state. This measure expires next February 1, and it will be necessary to have it renewed in the coming session.

SPECIAL ELECTION TO VOTE FUND FOR ARMORY BUILDING

TAXPAYERS WILL DECIDE MATTER ON MONDAY DECEMBER 1

PLANNED TO ERECT $40,000 BUILDING

Election To Be Handled Without Cost To City; Mayor Has Guaranteed Expenses

December 15 is the day set for the special election to determine whether or not Tillamook city will appropriate all of Block 1, Maple Grove addition for the purposes of erecting an armory building there.

This property is some that was taken over by the city on account of the owners letting it go on account of street assessments, and as the sale of such property is not very satisfactory, city officials wish to lay it aside for the armory site. The armory will be state property, built under cooperation of the county and state. The next session of the legislature will be asked for funds to finance the building.

It is planned to erect a $40,000 building which will serve as a home for Company "K" as well as all other veterans' organizations here and their auxiliaries. This building will also be available for all kinds of meetings and conventions. It is recognized by many cities that the bringing of conventions to the town is a very lucrative proposition, and it is expected that the armory here will more than pay for itself in a few years.

The election on the 18th is being handled without any expense to the taxpayers at large. The election board has agreed to work free of charge, and local printers and publishers are handling the necessary legal and printing free for the good of the cause. Mayor Moulton personally guaranteed the expenses of the election so as to protect the taxpayers.

SOCIETY CIRCUS DUE WEEK FROM WEDNESDAY

A society circus, given under the auspices of the Kensington Club will be given at the Masonic hall on December 6. The proceeds of the entertainment will go to the Masonic home at Forest Grove.

PORTLAND TEAM WINS FROM T. H. S.

The game between Tillamook High School and the Hill Military Academy, played at Portland November 17, was a defeat for Tillamook—19 to 14. The football boys stayed in Portland long enough to see the game between O. A. C. and U. of O. This report was very interesting. The coach said the U. of O. outplayed the O. A. C. in every way. One defect in the O. A. C. line up was that their offensive was spread too much. The boys will play a game in Tillamook, November 24, with Camas, Washington. This is the first time a team from another state has ever been brought to Tillamook.

"Professor Pepp" a three act farce will be given by the High School Dramatic Club in the gymnasium December 8. This play is given for the benefit of the annual and is one of the best plays ever put on by the club. The characters are unusually well chosen, especially Professor Pepp, who is a nervous old man just back from Russia where he was initiated by the Russian Redeemers.

The manual training is progressing very nicely in their work this year. The work this semester is as follows: The first five weeks were given to mechanical drawing, in order to make the boys familiar with the things they wish to make. Before beginning the work on wood, they were instructed in the use of machinery to avoid any danger of injury. The lumber is sold to the boys at cost. A new way is provided to avoid any mistakes in book-keeping. This is the issuance of cards that are bought at the office and each charge is punched, thus avoiding these mistakes. A short period is given each day is given to the review of mathematics used in the figuring of lumber. The tools are taken care of in a new way in order to avoid the leaving of tools on benches. This is done by having drawers with numbers to correspond with those of each table. This method is followed for those tools which are used quite often. Other tools are checked off and the student is responsible until their return. A few of the things that are being made are: rowboats, cedar chests, stands and library tables.

The L. D. Club met Nov. 17th at the home of Mrs. Steinback with Mrs. Styles assisting hostess. Rosenberg, Mrs. J. H. Rosenberg and four guests, Mrs. Allen, Bennett, Mrs. Drew and Mrs. Spear. The afternoon was enjoyably spent, and much work was accomplished. Delightful refreshments were served. Light refreshments were served. The class meets each Monday evening. The next social night will be Dec. 18.

The confiscation of a five gallon keg containing liquor in a house near the Ackley bridge on Wilson river resulted in the arrests of Floyd Wolfe, Louis Elliott and Charles Cater on the 17th. All three pled guilty and were fined each $100 and costs in justice court.

This game attracted much interest on account of the reputation of the Camas aggregation and the fact that this team is the first from outside of Oregon to play here. The two teams were considered very evenly matched.

FIRE DESTROYS NEHALEM HOME

NEHALEM, Nov. 22—A fire which occurred about 11 o'clock Sunday night, destroyed the house of Elmer O. Storm at upper Nehalem. The house and contents were a total loss. Mr. and Mrs. Storm had retired early and were awakened by the smoke, and were barely able to escape through a window with their two year old child. It is not known how the fire started but presumably from the kitchen flue as that part of the roof was falling in when they awoke gasping for breath from the dense smoke. A small amount of insurance was carried, but the loss falls quite heavy as the Storms had recently purchased the property.

Nehalem Local News

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Travis and Mrs. W. G. McGhee were Nehalem visitors last week.
At the annual budget meeting last week it was decided to build a play shed for pupils of the public schools. But the matter must first be submitted to the approval of the patrons.
Mrs. A. J. Effenberger and daughter, who have been visiting her sister and other relatives for the past week returned to her home at Buick last Saturday.
Mrs. Hoffman of Portland is the guest of her brother, Andrew Klein, and family.
Miss Myrtle McDonough, who has been attending a business college at Astoria for some months, is visiting her mother, Mrs. E. A. Crawford. She will remain at home until after Thanksgiving.

Mrs. C. A. Norton of Hamburg, California, is the guest of her husband, Mrs. C. A. Erickson this week.
E. B. Gresham came down from his logging camp at Buick for a few days last week to try his skill at duck hunting. Bert likes to mix play with work that dullness may not occur.

Henry Stasseck and family have recently moved to Nehalem from Seaside, and will occupy Mrs. E. M. Thompson's house this winter.
Just after the news of the disastrous defeat of the Republican candidates in the recent election, and while the smoke of battle hung in the air, we learned that an enterprising photographer from the county seat was seen making a snap shot of one of the road crews in this end of the county with road master John Carroll in action at its head. Betting is even as to whether the picture was made to prove to the incoming administration that there ever was such an animal as a republican (not written with a capital letter this year) road crew at work, or whether some one wanted to preserve the classic features of the genial John.

The old boilers carried about 150 pounds of steam while the new one will develop 200, with a special arrangement to superheat the steam 100 degrees, adding 15 percent to efficiency.
The expenditure of $100,000 is necessary to rebuild the plant, which is being constructed by O. D. DePew of Seattle. $50,000 more is being spent to make outside improvements in the power system. This includes a carload of copper wire that has recently been stretched between this city and Garibaldi, and three new transformers installed at that place.
The construction of the new boiler is expected to prevent the nuisance of the cinders that have drifted over the city from the stack of the power company's plant, as all fuel will be completely consumed within the boilers.

Col. John A. Leader, former commandant of the Officer's Training Camp at the University of Oregon, Mrs. Leader and their three sons will sail for England from St. John, New Brunswick, on Dec. 10, planning to make their home there permanently. Col. Leader came to Oregon when America entered the war. An officers' training camp was established at the University and a man was detailed as commandant who had had overseas experience. Through arrangements by the State Department and the British War Office, Col. Leader, who had been incapacitated for further service in November, 1916, after severe fighting on the Somme, where he commanded the Sixteenth Royal Irish Rifles, came to Oregon.

Miss Esther Earl spent Friday evening with Florence Krebs.
Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson are visiting at the home of E. N. Large. They intend to make this their temporary home.
With the opportunity to represent the West against Penn. State at Pasadena hanging in the balance, the University of Oregon eleven will clash with the University of Washington at Seattle, Thanksgiving day. Oregon is now tied with the University of California for first honors in the Pacific coast conference, having gone through the season without a conference defeat. In view of the fact that California has decreed she will not accept, if chosen, the invitation to represent the west in the annual inter-sectional classic on New Year's day, an Oregon victory against Washington will put the former in line for selection.

FORMER COMMANDANT AT EUGENE GOES TO ENGLAND

Col. John A. ## MUCH SICKNESS REPORTED

Some peculiar malady has been current for the past few days about Tillamook, and has claimed a large percentage of the people here as its victims. The sickness does not seem to be serious but consists mostly of stomach and intestinal trouble. Local physicians are unable to account for the sickness, though several theories are advanced.
The complaint has interfered greatly with business about the city since it started.
Lyle E. Loree of Warren county, Pa., and Mary C. Fuqua of Tillamook were married by Rev. A. A. McRae at his home last Saturday. Miss Fuqua was a clerk at Smith's Variety store for some time and is well known here. The couple left Saturday to make their home in Pennsylvania.

NEW STRUCTURE OF COAST POWER SOON COMPLETED

PRACTICALLY ALL OF FORMER EQUIPMENT HAS BEEN REMOVED

$100,000 WILL BE SUM EXPENDED

The Very Latest In Boiler and Machinery Equipment To Be Installed

The frame work of the first part of the 60x80 building that will house the new electric plant of the Coast Power company is near completion. This section will house the turbines and the boiler room will be under way very soon.
The building is of heavy construction and will be roofed and sided with corrugated iron, with every precaution made to make it fire-proof. Practically all the old equipment has been removed and the 100,000 brick that will go into the foundations of the new boilers will be laid about the first of next month, according to C. J. Edwards, manager for the company.
A new boiler unit known as the Stirling Water tube boiler will be installed but the turbines and switchboard that has been in use will be used. Arrangements have been made to install an extra turbine unit within the next few months. With the equipment the company now has it will be possible to develop about 3200 kilowatts, or over three times the power developed before. The addition of another power unit will raise that figure to about 5000 kilowatts.

The old boilers carried about 150 pounds of steam while the new one will develop 200, with a special arrangement to superheat the steam 100 degrees, adding 15 percent to efficiency.
The expenditure of $100,000 is necessary to rebuild the plant, which is being constructed by O. D. DePew of Seattle. $50,000 more is being spent to make outside improvements in the power system.
