

TO MAKE MAN BOSS OF HOME

Daring Emancipators Seek to Charter Society for Regulating the Household.

RUN IT ON MASCULINE BASIS

Promulgates Bill of Rights for Husbands and Declares for Divers and Sundry Reforms—Regulates Visits of Wife's Relations.

New York.—If they never do another thing in their lives, the names of Edward Bonns of 424 East Eighty-fourth street, William R. Ferguson of 23 West Seventy-seventh street, and Hugh J. Connelly of the Knickerbocker building are likely to be remembered forever as among the foremost emancipators of the married man. Messrs. Ferguson, Bonns and Connelly have collaborated in the promulgation of a bill of rights for married men that seeks to revolutionize the oldest traditions of household management by making the husband the judge and jury not only in the matter of his own life, but also the undisputed boss as to the conduct and habits of his wife, even to the determination of the question whether the wife should have her hair bobbed and also how long or short her skirts should be.

"Brothers Under the Skin." The three men, heretofore unknown to fame, have organized what they call the "Association of Brothers Under the Skin." The association filed an application with Justice Marsh of the Supreme court for a certificate of incorporation. The trio, who said their headquarters were at 1537 Third avenue, also filed a list of the association's objects, as follows:

"To establish, maintain and operate the household primarily as a masculine institution.

"To protect the husband from the performance of any and all household duties, such as sweeping, marketing, cooking, washing dishes and nursing the kitchen or furnace fires.

"To prevent any purchases by the wife, whether for cash or credit, except after consultation with the husband and with his consent.

"To prevent the entrance into the home of mothers-in-law and all relatives on the wife's side, except upon written permit signed by an officer of the association, which permit shall not be issued for use on Saturdays, Sundays or holidays.

"To prevent the delivery into the home of all so-called 'delicacies' and to compel the serving of regular food, home cooked.

"To prevent any reference, however much justified, by the wife to any past faults or deficiencies of the husband.

"To establish the right of the husband to absent himself from the home for a specified number of evenings each month to attend business, lodge and club meetings, and to establish his right to return therefrom at any reasonable hour—to be fixed solely by himself.

"To develop 'cave man' methods for the better discipline of jealous, nagging or unreasonable wives.

"To establish the exclusive right of husband to determine the brevity of the back hair and the length of the wife's skirts.

"To compel the wife to share in the troubles as well as the pleasures of married life, and to establish the fact that the wife's place is at home and that her duty is to co-operate to make the home happy."

RUSS TO BANK IN SWEDEN

Soviet Government Attempts to Establish Guaranteed Bank Connections.

Stockholm.—A new Russian effort to establish closer financial and commercial relations with Sweden is seen in the arrival in Stockholm of Aron Scheinman, head of the Russian State bank.

Mr. Scheinman has declared the bank which he heads may place its foreign assets and clearing funds in Swedish banks, providing a safeguarding agreement can be arranged between the two countries. He has come here, he says, to enlarge the financial co-operation between Russia and Sweden. He considers Sweden one of the safest countries for the deposit of money, owing to its independent position and its well-ordered conditions.

The Russian State bank, declares Mr. Scheinman, has acquired 30,000,000 gold rubles ($12,540,000), and the end of the present year will add 50,000,000 to the total figure.

ARID AREAS RECLAIMED

Government Bureau Adds 1,675,000 Acres in 20 Years.

Annual Report Gives Result of Twenty Years of Operation of Reclamation Act—Government Investment $135,000,000.

Washington.—A 20-year review of government reclamation work is contained in the annual report for the fiscal year ended last June of Director Arthur P. Davis of the United States reclamation service of the Department of the Interior, as the 17th day of June, 1922, marked the completion of 20 years of operation of the national reclamation act.

The investment of the government during this period has been in round numbers $135,000,000, which has accomplished the construction of works by which about 1,675,000 acres of former arid land in the West has been furnished with a complete water supply and about 1,100,000 additional acres in private projects has received a supplemental supply. On government projects the area comprises 31,492 farms, at an average area per farm of about fifty-three acres, supplying more than 30,000 families.

With the investment mentioned the service has excavated more than 200,000,000 cubic yards of earth and rock, of which about 14,000,000 cubic yards have been placed in dams. Canals aggregating more than 13,000 miles have been built, including 27 miles of tunnels and 135 miles of flumes. Structures of all kinds and sizes, to the number of 110,000, have been erected in connection with the work.

Some of the large projects constructed are the Roosevelt dam in Arizona, which is 200 feet high; the Arrowrock dam in Idaho, 840 feet high; Elephant Butte dam in New Mexico, 290 feet high, and the Pathfinder and Shoshone dam in Wyoming, 218 and 228 feet high, respectively.

Reclamation work also included the erection of many other dams, canals and tunnels, flumes, drains, power plants, transmission and telephone lines, roads, railroads, pumping plants and a variety of other classes of incidental work.

From an agricultural standpoint, the report said, the reclamation service has added another state to the Union, equal in value of its agricultural products to that of the state of West Virginia or the combined values of the crops of Vermont and Connecticut. The value of crops raised on farms on government projects in 1921 amounted to $49,020,300, exclusive of about $45,000,000 additional raised on private projects which were furnished water from works erected by the service.

Belli & Bros., and will be shipped to Pompeii, Italy, within a few days. It cost $3,700 and was made on the order of an orphan asylum in New York of which Caruso was a generous benefactor.

The candle will be placed in the Church of Our Lady of Pompeii, where Caruso last worshipped. It is intended to last 18 centuries, burning, at the suggestion of Cardinal Vanutelli, 24 hours on each All Souls' day, which falls on November 2.

Gets Rough With Deer's Ribs in Half-Mile Race

Monticello, N. Y.—Tales of hunters who have had remarkable adventures in the wilds of Sullivan county are drifting in.

There is the story of Leo Nester. Leo runs a boarding house south of here and does not get much time to hunt deer. When he saw one loping across his front lawn he was pretty sore, because he'd just soiled the lawn. He got a hammer and chased the deer for half a mile, running neck and neck with it the first quarter and then pinning its ribs with a hammer.

WIRE CAGE FOR $5,000 TREE

New Jersey Farmer Sold Freak Branch Which Bore New Variety of Fruit.

BOUGHT BY NURSERY FIRM

Owner Was Paid $1,000 and Will Get Two Cents for Each Bud That Is Developed—Will Be Subjected to Exhaustive Tests.

Ferrell, N. J.—A wire cage has been constructed around the "$5,000 apple tree" in the orchard of Lewis Mood, a farmer living at Ferrell, in South Harrison township, Gloucester county. Mood recently sold a branch from this particular tree, producing an entirely new variety of apple, to one of the big nursery firms of the country for what is said to be a record-breaking price for this fruit.

The public will have to wait two years or more before it can learn very much about the Mood apple, as it is being guarded with the greatest secrecy, indicated by the erection of the stout wire cage entirely around the tree. All that is known so far is that it is a red apple of exceptional size and sweetness. There is no other apple just like it in this country, so far as horticultural experts have been able to determine.

To Be Tested. This new variety will be subjected to the most exhaustive tests under various climatic and soil conditions throughout the United States, before the nursery firm which has bought it is willing to place it upon the market. Orchard science as applied through top budding will make it possible to produce the new fruit in quantities large enough for experimental purposes within a year or two.

The new apple is purely an accident of nature, being a freak from one of the ordinary orchard varieties. Mood noticed several years ago that one of the branches of a particular tree in his orchard was bearing an apple that was different, both in color and flavor from the fruit from other limbs on the same tree. He watched this apple carefully for several seasons. He took off some buds and started other trees. The big red Mood apples were in such demand among his customers that last season he sold $75 worth of apples from the original tree alone.

Nursery Men Interested. A representative of a nursery company learned that the Jersey farmer had an apple that was attracting attention and he called to see Mood. "I had thought of trying to put out this new apple myself," said Mood in talking of his "find." "I put a stake on the apple that I thought would keep those fellows from pestering me about selling. They got the head of the company here to look over the apple and to see the tree and we came to terms."

Just what those terms are are set forth in a bill of sale and a surveyor's record of the exact location of the tree, which have been filed in the Gloucester county clerk's office at Woodbury. Even the particular branch of the tree is designated in this unusual record.

According to the agreement on file which is corroborated by Mood in personal conversation, he has received $1,000 in cash and is to get $4,000 in "royalties" at the rate of two cents for each bud that is taken from the original branch or any trees developed from it. These buds will be crafted upon stock to produce trees of the new variety. "Five thousand dollars seems like a big price for an apple," remarked one well informed nurseryman regarding Mood's sale, "but in these days a new apple of exceptional quality, color and size is worth a small fortune to any one who has the courage and organization to introduce it to the nation."

Black Bass Goes Hunting and Catches a Blackbird

Lake Wales, Fla.—Black bass in the vicinity of Lake Wales have become exceedingly voracious, says Milton Henry, farmer, living near here. Henry advises all women with feathers on their hats to keep away from a large lake that constitutes a part of his farm. He declares this story to be true:

While plowing out sweet potatoes a few days ago he heard the cries of a bird and considerable splashing in the water near shore. His quick attention revealed that a black bass had leaped from the water and grabbed a blackbird sitting on a reed bent just over the lake's surface. The bird had been dragged into the water and was struck at by the fish several times before Henry waded to its rescue. The bird later died and the farmer exhibited it to his friends to substantiate the story.
