GRAND JURY BRINGS 15 INDICTMENTS

The grand jury was discharged from duty this morning after the longest session on record in Tillamook county, returning fifteen indictments.

The part of the investigation that caused the most interest among local people was that of the alleged branding case of Mrs. A. M. Sandish which is supposed to have taken place here last November. It is said that the grand jury was investigating this case for several days and that a large number of witnesses were called. This was given a large amount of publicity by Portland papers after they had received a concocted story from Tillamook regarding the affair. Practically the whole of this story has been nailed as lies and, since the grand jury investigation, it has appeared that that body was unable to get enough evidence or that a crime had been committed to return a true bill. This virtually means that the grand jury believes that the branding did not take place. Evidence was brought up to show that the scars on the woman's breast were S. L. Beals, petty larceny; Ed Marshall, unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor; T. A. Johnston, aiding prisoner to escape; James S. Graham, larceny by bailer and failure to support wife and children; Alfred Alden, threats to kill; O. Hendricks, criminal syndicalism and sabotage; Daniel Peters, grand larceny. Beals plead guilty and the rest were given until Tuesday morning to plead.

Invent physicians confirmed this at the result of acid burns and not burned there by a hot iron as she at first related. It is quite generally thought that the branding scare was brought up either to throw discredit upon some organization or to be used as a club to be held over the heads of persons who were in possession of information of certain indiscretions of Mrs. Standish and some local men. The real facts of the matter may never be known. At least the reputation of the community has been cleared by the refusal of the grand jury to bring an indictment in this case.

The indictments returned are as follows:

William Kennedy came in last Thursday for a short visit returning Monday afternoon to his studies at the Pacific Dental college.

Clay Daniels, of Mohler took his daughter Alice to Portland last week for treatment. Miss Daniels has been ill for some time and her condition has been for a time serious.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy McClelland and Mrs. J. B. Stutz of Mohler were Sunday visitors in the city.

BOND ELECTION CARRIES BY A LARGE MAJORITY

The school election held today from 2 to 7 p. m. resulted favorably for the bond election that is proposed by the School Board. The unofficial vote this evening stood 140 to 22 in favor of the new school building.

The election was to authorize the issue of bonds for the erection of a new $95,000 grade school building on the Stillwell tract that was purchased by the school board some time ago.

The annual stockholders meeting of the Tillamook County Creamery association will be held on Wednesday, February 14, 1923 at the hour of 10:30 a. m. at the association rooms.

The association is now taking contracts on mill run for the next few months on the basis of $31 off the cans. Linsed oil meal $3 per sack or $60 per ton if bought now. Dairymen desiring to contract for above should communicate their wants to be secretary, as prices on these feeds will undoubtedly be higher later on in the season. Other feeds remain unchanged.

The association wishes to report that all of its grass and clover hay has been sold, but that it will have a few cars of clover here in a few days. Alfalfa is still selling at $27 although Portland prices were raised $3 last week. Dairymen will probably gain by buying their hay requirements now, as there will be little to select from in a few weeks. Alfalfa hay coming in has been unusually fine.—Adv.
