NEW POWER PLANT NEARLY COMPLETE

Delays Cause Much Grief To Power Company In Building

BIG DEMAND EXPECTED

Logging Industry May Be Helped More In Future By Electric Power Donkeys

The new plant of the Coast Power company is nearing completion and it is expected to be in shape to again take over the power that is now being furnished by the Whitney company of Garibaldi.

It was expected to have the plant in operation soon after the first of the year but transportation difficulties caused a delay that retarded the work for nearly three months.

The new plant will have a greater capacity than the old one and will be built so that additional equipment can be added at any time it is needed. C. J. Edwards, manager of the company, stated that this week he was unable to say just what demands would be made for electrical power in the near future, but that it appeared that several logging companies were considering the use of electrical power for the operations that now require steam. It is said to have been found more economical to use electricity than it is to use wood, and by so doing the fire hazard is lessened.

It is reported that the Coast Power company is negotiating for the several small power plants supplying the northern part of the county with a view to using them as auxiliary power plants in case of the failure of the main plant and to help supply the power for their localities.

The Coast Power company intends having an opening day as soon as they get their plant in operation at which time the public will be invited to make an inspection.

Moonshine Plant Flourished In Many Different Localities Before Being Rounded Up

The largest still ever found in Tillamook county was brought to this city yesterday morning by Sheriff Aschim from where it had been taken below Cloverdale.

The contrivance is estimated to have a capacity of about five gallons per hour, and it is very well constructed one.

The still is one that the authorities have been following about the county for some time, but they have never been able to catch it in operation or find anyone with it. Recently, however, the sheriff decided that it should be brought out of hiding and accordingly had it hauled to town by truck yesterday. It is said that at one time this still was operated near Sandlake.

CLEAN UP WEEK IS APRIL 9 TO 14

Cutting Grass, Painting Is Included In Plans To Beautify City

DUMP GROUND IS FREE

Civic Organizations Are Expected To Take Part In Vigorous Cleaning Campaign

April 9 to 14 has been proclaimed as Clean Up Week for the city of Tillamook by Mayor J. M. Smith and plans are being laid for the scavenging of the town by various organizations in the city.

The Mayor's proclamation mentions cutting grass on vacant lots and along the sidewalks, repairing the sidewalks and fences, painting up and in other ways making the city look better after removing a year's accumulation of trash and filth. The tourist season is expected to start early this year and it is hoped by interested ones that the local pride can be aroused enough to put on a better appearance for the coming summer.

The city dump ground, about three miles from town, is at the disposal of anyone wishing to rid their buildings or yards of trash, on condition that no refuse of a perishable nature be put there. Last year some person dumped the carcasses of calves in the city dump and it necessitated the work of several men to remove them. Just what steps will be taken during the campaign by the various organizations about the city is not yet known but they will doubtless assist in making the city cleaner.

A vigorous Clean Up campaign entered into by everyone in the city would surely make this a better town to live in and talk about.

Flames Barely Allow The Workmen Time To Escape In Sudden Fire Last Night

Reports were received from Wheeler last night that the mill there belonging to Solon Schiffman had caught fire about 6 o'clock and had burned to the ground. The mill, which has been operated during the last few years by a number of different owners was cutting cedar at the time of the fire, it is said. The cause of the fire is not known but the report stated that the men were about to quit work when the fire started and that they barely escaped the flames themselves, so fast did the fire travel.

SENIORS PRESENT HIGH SCHOOL PLAY

"When a Feller Needs a Friend" is the title of the class play which will be presented Friday evening, April thirteenth.

The senior cast has already been selected and has been working under the direction of the class advisor, Mrs. Heyd.

The play is a modern comedy, setting forth the adventures of two soldiers, just returned from "Over There", who find their old jobs taken and no new ones opening up. There are several comedy parts, which give exceptionally good opportunity for display of talent along the line best suited to young actors. The cast is well chosen and it is believed that it will be even more successful than the last Dramatic Club performance, "Professor Pep".

The proceeds go to pay for the usual Senior expenses connected with commencement such as invitations, etc. The balance, in accordance with the custom established by the T.H.S. classes in the past, will be donated to purchasing some thing which can be left to the high school as a memorial.

ENCAMPMENT DATE TO BE MOVED AHEAD

Some time ago it was announced that the annual encampment of the Oregon National Guard would probably be held beginning the 8th of July. A statement a few days ago from General White indicates that there is an effort being made to change the date to one month earlier. It will be more agreeable for the members of Company K if the encampment will be held in June instead of July, as the hay crop in this county requires all the men that can be obtained during the latter month.

CHEESE MARKET IS REPORTED SLOW

Difficult To Obtain High Prices For Local Dairy

2391 BALES HAY BO'T

Eight Factories Are Now Engaged In Making New Form Of Economical Cheese

Cheese market is reported very slow. The high price this winter and last season were conducive to other associations getting into the cheese game, and large amounts of cheese are now produced in Idaho, Washington and other sections of Oregon. This makes it increasingly difficult to obtain high prices for Tillamook cheese.

One of the largest shipments of hay ever received in Tillamook arrived here Monday night. The regular train and a special freight brought the association a total of twelve cars of hay, two of bulk corn and one of oats. The hay shipments consisted of 2,391 bales, weighing 333,845 lbs. Secretary Haberlach was one of the busiest men in town both Tuesday and Wednesday dividing the hay between the various farmers, many of whom were out of hay. He stated that he divided the 2,391 bales between 151 farmers.

The present weather is bringing out the grass nicely and it is hoped that the hay buying season is about at an end.

Four hundred Loaf cheese are now being made at eight factories. This style of cheese is believed to be the coming cheese, since it gives the consumer the cheese in a very economical manner. There is very little waste in cutting and as the cheese weigh 5 pounds each, it makes a fine family style.
