STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC., REQUIRED BY THE ACT OF CONGRESS OF AUGUST 13, 1918.

Of Tillamook Headlight published weekly at Tillamook, Oregon, for April 1, 1923, State of Oregon, County of Tillamook, SS. Before me, a County Clerk in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared Leslie Harrison, who, having been duly sworn according to law, depose and say that he is the Managing Editor of the Tillamook Headlight and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management and circulation of the said newspaper, to-wit: 1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor and business managers are: Publisher, Headlight Publishing Company, Tillamook, Oregon; Editor, None; Managing Editor, Leslie Harrison, Tillamook, Oregon; Business Managers, None. 2. That the owners are: Give names and addresses of individual owners, or if a corporation, give its name and the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of stock, or of more of the total amount of stock. Headlight Publishing Company, Tillamook, Oregon. Helen Harrison, Tillamook, Oregon; Leslie Harrison, Tillamook, Oregon. 3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: C. Baker, Tillamook, Oregon. 4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders, and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company, but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that said two paragraphs contain statements indicating all such full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders own their stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner, and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest, direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities, than as so stated by him. (Signed) LESLIE HARRISON, Managing Editor. Sworn to and subscribed before me this 3rd day of April, 1923. H. S. BRIMHALL, County Clerk. (Seal) By Edna L. Mills, Deputy

SELF-HYPNOTISM

Alfred Manning decided to commit suicide. He was 64, discouraged, tired of life. Friends found him dead on his knees by the bed. One end of a handkerchief was looped loosely about his neck. The other end was tied to a bedpost. This happened in London, England. Physicians, called to examine the dead man, said there were no signs of strangulation—on the outside of his neck or otherwise. The coroner's jury, after hearing the doctors, returned a verdict that Manning while attempting to strangle himself, died by auto-suggestion. In other words, he hypnotized himself into believing that he was dead. His heart, responding to his brain-stopped beating. There seems to be an evidence of such cases lately in the news—illuminating the power of mind over matter, and especially the control of the body by imagination. A person goes to a doctor, feeling out of sorts, or with a peculiar pain. If the doctor finds a fatal quality, the patient often begins to get worse, rapidly. A great feeling of relief and a rapid recovery often follow when the doctor says "Nothing to be alarmed about. I've treated lots of similar cases. They recover quickly to treatment, are easily cured." When we are ill, generally, it is well to remember that "wonder" is not of the imagination, which irresponsibly has creative powers as well as the power of self-destruction. Troubles are more easily met and conquered when we "keep our heads"—check our imaginative fancies, and rally our will power to a resolution that all will come out well in the end.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

It is sometimes said that everybody's business is nobody's business. Something is about to occur that is everybody's business in reality and it should by all means be attended to. That is the Clean Up Week, April 9 to 14. It is no need for us to comment greatly on the clean up idea. Civilization has now progressed to such a degree that people realize the value of sanitation and cleanliness. What we intend to do is to remind the people of Tillamook that dirt is present and that it should be got rid of. All of next week has been set aside for that purpose, in an effort to help people in this work. Don't forget, rain or shine, relieve your back yards, alleys and other places of the accumulated dirt. Other people will thank more of us and we will think more of ourselves.

Our excellent spell of weather has disappeared. Very likely, though it will not stray far and will wander back before long.

Automobile dealers predict that this next season will be the greatest one in automotive history for the sale of cars. From the way the season is starting out we are lead to believe so ourselves.

From Exchanges

Communities grow in proportion to the support given them by their residents. You cannot boost your city by trading elsewhere or placing business in other localities that could be placed at home.

People who try to save pennies oftentimes lose dollars. The home merchant is generally honest and offers honest values for your money. He can't afford to be otherwise. He depends for his living upon the community and must give the community what it wants at a fair price. When you are tempted to trade outside and purchase "just as good merchandise at greatly reduced prices" you should think twice before buying if you are "strung" by your home merchant he will no doubt be glad to make an adjustment. The out-of-town merchant is not personally interested in you. He is intent on selling you this once and probably does not expect to sell you again. He does not have to take care in preserving your good will.

More than owing it to your community to trade at home, thus keeping your money at home, you should give the home merchant first opportunity to serve you, from a sound economic standpoint.—Folk County Itemizer.

There is a possibility that the Coast Power company will extend their line from Brighton to Nehalem. At present Wheeler and Nehalem are securing power from the Wheeler Lumber company, the franchise in that being held by the Nehalem Electric & Power company. Twenty-five horse service is maintained and the quantity of power is equal to the demand in any locality. The mill company are willing to continue supplying power while operating and if need be shut down to install a water wheel and supply line to the mill at a very low rate. Some method of saving the heavy consumer and have a lower rate should be about in effect soon. If the company that holds the franchise is no longer willing to supply the power, the city should buy the equipment from the mill company and distribute it to the users. Those desiring to use small motors can now receive simple power to operate them. The coming of an outside company might be a good thing for the community and a progressive step, but if the present company wishes to continue the business it has the first call and being the most important industry in the town should receive every dollar that the community can spend with it.—Wheeler Reporter.

In the near future "blazing" day will be announced in this city. When read your names, everyone should have the right to know the name of the person who has been elected. We have the "new" list, but we have not yet received the names of the new members. We will be glad to receive them. We will be glad to receive them. We will be glad to receive them.

Members of the American Legion post of Multnomah, Clatsop, Columbia, Tillamook, Yamhill, Washington and Clatskanie counties will meet in Portland on April 14 for the 32nd and 33rd of a series of district conferences now being held, so Harry N. Nelson state agent of the Legion announced.—McMinnville News-Reporter.

No one need ask the Pendleton East Oregonian to suppress news, the editor of that newspaper told his brethren of the fourth estate at Eugene Friday. "We have made a practice of printing law violations and the influence of no person is sufficient to deter us in any case," he declared. "But what if the aged mother of a young man who has violated the law is sick and the story might kill her, wouldn't you keep it out of the paper?" Elbert Bede of the Cottage Grove Sentinel, asked Mr. Aldrich. "We would not," quickly answered Mr. Aldrich. "If relatives did not want the young man's mother to see it they should keep the paper from her, yes, even if it was our own brother." When Mr. Aldrich pronounced that the rule of his paper, it was a pronouncement of an obligation every publisher owes the public he serves. The newspaper that fails to fulfil this obligation lacks courage and needs a stay to its backbone.—Sheridan Sun.
