PAYS BETTER TO KEEP OUR MONEY AT HOME

From authoritative sources comes the information that within the last two years nearly $150,000 has been sent out of this city in exchange for more or less worthless stocks. This figure included, in all probability, only a fraction of the actual amount that is spent for this class of security. It is also a well known fact that only a small percentage of the money spent for such stocks is ever returned; most of it is evaporated by the selling concern.

While we are considering the loss to the individual through his purchasing this "wildcat" paper, let us also delve into the loss to the community. The amount mentioned in the first part of this article would build five medium sized, modern business buildings; fifty first class residences; three excellent school buildings; many blocks of city pavement; and several miles of paved highway. It would go a long way toward the improvement of a port for Tillamook bay. These items show only a part of the loss to the community when its money is spent improving some other part of the world or feathering the nests of some stock sellers.

NOW IS THE TIME TO GET BEHIND AND PUSH

The call that is to be made on the people of this city to assist in raising $5,000 to outfit the state armory scheduled for erection within the next few weeks, should not be disregarded by all right thinking citizens. It is true that we were under the impression that the money matters of the armory were settled when the county court appropriated $10,000 and the city donated a block for a site. We can hardly be blamed for feeling somewhat disappointed that the amount raised was not enough to satisfy the demands; but the armory is a necessity and an immediate one. Quibbling over the subject will not help it in the slightest.

If the people of this city get behind the movement to put up a good substantial, well outfitted building, they will always be proud of it. If they fail to give the project their full support they will be ashamed of the result.

At the present time the National Guard unit that is located here brings in about $15,000 per year, an income equal to that of an industry capitalized at $75,000. This is all "new money;" all from outside sources. What the income could be increased to by conventions and the like is a matter of conjecture, but a little calculation will reveal that a state armory would, without doubt, be a very successful financial undertaking for the community.

From Exchanges

Mrs. Jack Kidder and son left for their home at Garibaldi, Oregon on Wednesday. — Troutdale correspondent in Gresham Outlook.

Every little while we are told that the way to build a city is to unite with Marshfield. Just why people insist in saying that, is more than we can understand. We have as yet to hear of a single logical plan where, under one government, save possibly that of an increased population sufficient to settle up solidly both with business and residence properties all that section lying between the two cities. Then it would be necessary to unite, but not until then. It is not necessary for us to view a landslide of proof in the form of public sentiment to jar us off dead center, but it is quite necessary to advance a single logical reason for such action at this time.—Coos Bay Harbor.

President Harding has been invited to visit Coos Bay on his western trip. A letter has been sent him by the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce through Senator McNary inviting the president to come to Coos Bay on the Fourth of July or at any other time that he might set. He is assured in the letter that there will be no ceremonies to bother him, that he can put in his time playing golf on the new country club course and have a nice quiet rest. It is also suggested to him that he would have an opportunity to see the harbor on which the government is to about spend more than $3,000,000.—Coquille Valley Sentinel.

Some persons are mighty small—some are smaller than others, and about the smallest things on the face of this old globe is the individual that deliberately goes about the city and robs flower beds, destroying the beauties of a home that the owner has spent much time and money to cultivate. And there are people who do this very thing—right in Roseburg.—Roseburg News Review.

Persons who have witnessed the outcome of many jury trials will be inclined to agree with Judge Simpson of Vancouver when he says the system has not proven an unqualified success and there might be an improvement by substituting three judges who would render verdicts according to law and facts without decisions being influenced by emotion.—Hillsboro Independent.

The 25 year ago department of the Oregonian last week might have been only five years ago, for it told of employers promising the men who enlisted for the Spanish war that their positions would be open when they returned. Later editions may tell whether the promises met the fate of many of those made in 1917.—Hillsboro Independent.

Now is the season when stray chickens may cause the estrangement of hitherto perfectly good neighbors. If you have chickens be sure that they don't impose on the neighbor's garden and destroy it, for if they do you can hardly blame the neighbors for destroying the chickens.—McMinnville Telephone Register.

August Boquist of Tillamook spent the week-end visiting with friends at the home of Mrs. Anna Jones.—McMinnville Telephone Register.

Kester and Loraine Ohtloff of Tillamook are visiting with their father John Ohtloff and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Kester.—Saver items in Polk County Itemizer.

Prof. S. S. Duncan, county school superintendent was in Tillamook Friday and Saturday as one of the lecturers before a teachers' institute. At the morning session Mr. Duncan had for his subject: "Personal Touch" and in afternoon he spoke on the "Development and Control of Personality." Both addresses were well received by the assembled teachers. Mr. Duncan is at home before an assemblage of teachers for he has been in school work a long time and is deeply interested in all its various phases. Among the other lecturers were: State Supt. Churchill of Salem, President Landers of the State Normal at Monmouth; Dr. Richardson of the Extension Department of the University of Oregon. The institute was well attended and 70 per cent of the county teachers were present.—McMinnville News-Reporter.

J. G. Kennedy of Tillamook, father of Charles Kennedy, proprietor of the Riverside Meat Market of Sheridan, stopped here Tuesday as he was on his way to Portland to meet his brother George, of Pasadena, Cal. The meeting of the brothers in Portland is of unusual interest for it will be the first time they have seen each other in 30 years. George is on his way to Tillamook for a visit of two weeks.—Sheridan Sun.

The feed stores report the best business of the year, with the Tillamook dairymen buying heavily. The necessity of the Tillamook dairymen are under of buying so much feed is said to show a great contrast with the possibilities of this valley for dairying. Remarked one feed store man of Sheridan one day this week: "If we had the Tillamook association in this valley with its natural advantages the dairymen here would make dollars where the Tillamook dairymen make cents."—Sheridan Sun.

C. W. Barrick, attorney of Tillamook and prominently identified with the Knights of Pythias, stopped in Sheridan Tuesday morning as he was returning home from Dallas. He had gone to the Polk county seat for a conclave of the Pythians Monday night. By virtue of succession, Mr. Barrick will become head of the order in Oregon next year, and he is now making trips about the state to become better acquainted in the various camps. He was accompanied by John Bozarth of Bay City.—Sheridan Sun.

LIBRARY NOTES

At the regular meeting of the board the librarian's report for April was 1348 books and 30 magazines.

So much interest is shown in the house plan books that a few additions will be made. A second copy of Garden Guide has also been added as it has such high recommendations from those being fortunate in procuring it. The secretary also had the pleasure of notifying the board that $25 had been placed to their credit by the Monday Musical club.

Mrs. Carrol gave the library a box of fiction, many of the titles being the standard works that are kept in circulation from year to year.

Several recent publications have been added to rental selection.

THE BOHUNKS AND THE BEAR

Working on the railroad between Tillamook and Portland some time ago, was a gang of Bohunks, who had a camp near the road. Bears were in evidence about the camp, and frequently came around the tents at night. One of the Bohunks thought out a scheme to catch one of the bears and constructed a novel trap. He took an old hardwood keg, and drove a lot of nails in it on either side and then placed some honey at the end of the keg, and calmly awaited developments. The next morning there was much jabbering in a foreign tongue, which when translated into "United States" meant that the keg was not set. The Bohunks began searching and finally ran upon a bear whose head tightly clung to the keg. The bear was about played out, but was still making spasmodic efforts to get his head past the obstructing nails. Arming themselves with axes clubs and other weapons, the Bohunks attacked the practically helpless bear and soon had bear steak broiling for dinner. A weakness for honey has proven the downfall of many a member of the bear family.

LILLIAN TINGLE, SAYS

In Answer to an enquiry regarding diet:

"Then probably you could use more milk to advantage. You mention only two quarts daily for two children and two adults, one of whom is trying to gain weight. The children would do well to have a quart or nearly a quart each, and you should have a pint at least for yourself and from a pint to a quart (according to his special needs and his assimilation) for your husband. Then with the increase of milk you can easily cut down your meat and egg bill.

"A good rule to remember is that for every extra half pint of milk used in the daily diet the other protein foods, such as meat, eggs, fish, cheese, may be reduced by two ounces without any dietetic loss. Milk is usually the least expensive and the most easily served and assimilated of all the protein foods."

Mechanics: "How many miles have you run on this oil?" Car Owners: "About six hundred." Mechanic: "It's pretty thin. You've got to damage your motor with oil like that. We'll fill with Sunoco this time. It'll keep its body and you'll notice the difference in the power you get."

Don't make a mistake

You own a car. The most important thing for you to know about that car is—"what is my oil doing?" And if most car owners knew, they'd be amazed.

The safest thing for you to do is to fill your crank-case now with

SUNOCO THE DISTILLED OIL

For the same reason that you use distilled water when you want pure water—you should use distilled oil.

Sunoco is the only oil which is made in six types—and all wholly distilled; it's pure. It gives more perfect lubrication. It prolongs the life of your motor. It gives greater power—because it makes an almost perfect piston ring seal.

Ask any Sunoco dealer for booklet, "What's Happening Inside Your Motor?"
