Census Shows 10 Per Cent of Population Is Christian.

Jerusalem, Palestine.-Palestine has a total population of 757,182, according to the figures of the recent census Washington.—Texas led the country This figure equals approximately the population of the city of Boston. Ten per cent of the people in Palestine are given as Christians, 11 per cent as Jews and 70 per cent as Mohammedans. The figures for Christians and Jews are regarded here as about correct, but there was such strong oppo sition to the census on the part of the Mohammedans that their number, it is believed, is considerably under-

In two cities only is there a pre-ponderant Jewish population—Jerusa-lem and Tiberias. In the former city, out of a total of 62,000, 84,000 are Hebrews and the rest are about equally divided between Christians and Moammedans.

It is interesting to note that Bethlehem is the only town in the land in which Christians predominate. Here there are 5,838 of this fuith, with 818 Mohammedans and two Jews.

Nazareth has a population of 7,424. of which nearly two-thirds are Christian, one-third Moslem and only 53

The principal seaport, Jaffa, has about 47,000 people, of whom there are 20,000 each of Jews and Mohammedans and about 7,000 Christians. The other large centers of population are very largely Mohammedan

The Palestine Weekly, a Zionist organ, declares that according to Roman figures this country has supported a population of 7,000,000, but when one considers that the area of Palestine is about equal to that of Vermont and that it has about an equal amount of arable land one questions seriously whether, with the highest development of her natural resources, it will be possible for Palestine ever to support 45,000,000 a greatly augmented population. Ver-58,800,000 mont in 1920 counted 852,428 people 148,400,000 within the state.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The annual High School picnic was held at Oceanside last Saturday. Nine cars and two Ford trucks carried the crowd to the picnic grounds. Not a lunch but a good wholesome din ner, showed the good judgment of the eats committee.

The day was spent in hiking over the hills and up and down the beach. When the time came for going home the wish was expressed "That once a year would come oftener.
