Commencement exercises for the class of 1923, Tillamook high school, were held in the Christian church Friday evening, May 25. In spite of the inclement weather the seating capacity of the church was taxed.

The following program was rendered: March, Stars and Stripes Forever, McGhee orchestra; Invocation, Rev. W. G. Lienkaemper; vocal solo, (a) The Heart's Springtime, (b) Like a Rosebud, Miss Leora Philippi; Address, Community Problems, Prof. Thomas A. Gentle, Oregon State Normal. Song, One Fleeting Hour, Girls Glee Club; Presentation of Diplomas, H. H. Rosenberg, chairman of Board of Education; Light Cavalry Overture, McGhee orchestra; Benediction, Rev. George Harness.

The auditorium was beautifully decorated by the Juniors and the platform was banked with floral gifts for the graduates. The class was the largest ever graduated from Tillamook high school, numbering thirty-three.

The honor of class valedictorian, which goes to the student earning the highest average for the four years of work was earned by Ramona Halton with 94.85. Salutatorian, Ruth Gould, with 93.5. Highest grades earned during their senior year were Ramona Halton 95.6; Mabel Anderson, 94.2. Greatest number of credits earned, Lillian Groat, with 36 3/4 credits. Noah Richards was awarded the Whitman College scholarship and Glee Rusk the non-conference college scholarship amounting to $140.

The address of the evening was given by Professor Thomas H. Gentle, of the Oregon State Normal. He congratulated the class upon their success and mentioned a few of the many advantages which would come to them as a result of their four years of high school work.

He went on to show that the duty of the community did not end with providing a high school course. The problems of production, distribution, co-operation in community life must be solved. He emphasized especially the necessity that the community provide the right influences and environment for the boys and girls for upon them rest the future solution of the problems which the age is passing on, and the ultimate safety of our government.

Mr. Gentle's address was lightened throughout by a constant play of droll humor which kept the large audience smiling, even as the arguments were driven home.

The case of John Patterson, a business man of this city, charged in January last with unlawful fishing near a dam, on complaint of hatchery superintendent Pollock, came to trial this week. The jury found for the state, but recommended leniency.

Justice Stanley fined Patterson $25 and the costs amounting to $33.50.

TILLAMOOK RESIDENT MEETS OLD FRIENDS

Last Saturday Mr. and Mrs. DeArmond of Corvallis came over to Tillamook in a car to convey their niece, Miss DeArmond, home at the close of the latter's teaching term in the public schools of this place. With them came Mrs. Bettie Cummings of Corvallis. E. H. Stark of this city soon recognized Mrs. Cummings as an old time friend in Illinois and as a relative by marriage whom he had not seen for 43 years. Neither knew the other lived in Oregon, and the meeting was mutually a pleasant one. The party returned to Corvallis Sunday.

SOCIETIES ARE ASKED FOR SCHOOL NAME

The superintendent of schools for this county, G. B. Lamb, has sent out a letter to the several civic and fraternal societies of this city, asking suggestions for a name for the new public school building, now in process of erection. He asks that the suggestions be sent him by the 4th of June, when he will select a name from the number proposed. Tom Coates at a meeting of the fire company, it is understood, will present the name "Joe Champion school." Joe Champion was the first white settler in Tillamook county. He also was Tillamook's first school teacher and its first county clerk and it would seem fit to thus perpetuate his name thinks Mr. Coates.

BAY SHIPPING LOOKS BRIGHTER

The ease with which the Nottingham negotiated the bar and channel of Tillamook bay last week was pleasing to the shipping interests along the bay shore line. Soundings are said to have indicated 22 feet at the entrance of the bay. In times past the depths ranged up to 24 feet but last year there was one spot where there was only 18 feet, but that stretch of channel was made deeper by scouring. It is understood that a survey of the entrance will soon be made by Oregon government engineers, which is an annual feature of that office's work, and if favorable action is taken by the Washington, D. C., board on recommendations for further improvement in deepening to a minimum depth of 24 feet, at low water inside, there should be no trouble for big lumber schooners to go out heavily loaded. At present bar conditions the Nottingham is expected to carry out on her voyage to San Pedro about 1,400,000 feet. There are indications that Tillamook bay will soon come back as a clearing point for lumber cargoes. Coos Bay is booming with shipments, and Yaquina bay is taking on maritime airs since the establishment of the big spruce mill at Toledo. Local boosters clubs should all get busy and use their influence in promoting bay shipping more than ever. It is the right psychological time to start the movement and push it.

FORMER CITY LAWYER IS HURT IN SCUFFLE

Jos. Mannix, formerly an attorney in this city, now of Astoria, was badly hurt in a friendly scuffling match with Chief of Police Carlson on the streets of the above city last week. Mannix had his back broken in two places and it is said that he is paralyzed from the shoulders down, and there are slight chances for his recovery. Mannix had many friends in Tillamook who regret to hear of his misfortune.

OLD RAILROAD GRANT BEING HOMESTEADED

Restoration of the old S. P. company railroad grant from Portland to the state line southward, will furnish 220,569 acres of public land to be homesteaded in Oregon. The dates to permit filing on this land run from June 11, 1923 to the end of the year, depending upon the class of filing to be made. These lands are chiefly in the Roseburg land district, but there are some tracts in the Lakeview and Portland districts. Timber is limited. The late war veterans will have the first choice, and information can be had from the government land office at Portland, Roseburg and Lakeview.

HEAVY TOURIST TRAVEL

Auto tourists are coming through Tillamook quite regularly of late, bound for the beaches of this county. There is much activity at the beach resorts at this time as the summer season will begin the first of the coming June, and many new houses—tent and otherwise—have been completed this spring at the various beaches. It is believed from what beach resort proprietors can find out, that the coming summer will surpass all previous seasons in the number of beach tourists. Times are good all over the state and usually during such times the beaches are well patronized. Tillamook beaches have been well thronged for some years past and are now well advertised and best of all they are popular with all classes of summer visitors.
