

FIFTH ANNUAL FAIR STARTS HERE TODAY

Today will see the opening of the fifth annual Tillamook county fair. Yesterday was a day of preparation, and the bulk of the entries were made at that time. The sound of the summer and saw gave one the impression of the building of a town over night or, when a mining town was hastily ushered into existence. Backster stands, restaurants, and outside exhibitors in hastily constructed sheds, were in evidence; and here and there, short time resident tents were being up. Cattle were brought in to their stalls, and autos raced about the grounds, hither and thither, and fair officials and workmen were kept on the jump all day long.

Prominent in tent space is the big enclosure of the local automobile show, put on by The Sunset garage, Dodge-Buick; Tillamook garage, Ford Lincoln; Bryson-Link Motor Co., Chevrolet.

The Boy Scouts have a space in the south part of the grounds dotted with tents. Their city will be policed by Scouts, day and night.

The main pavilion is filling up rapidly. Two of the county's best granges will exhibit products from the farms of their respective localities. They are: Nestucca Valley grange, Miss Fannie Smith, Master, and Mrs. McPherson, secretary. Pleasant Valley grange, R. O. Richards, Master, Mrs. Ruth Desmond, secretary. These exhibits will attract special attention, and should be carefully looked over by visitors.

The Tillamook Holstein association has a booth in the east part of the grounds which will be presided over by the Schild sisters. It will be headquarters for the Holstein breeders, and its walls are covered with animal pictures and other advertising matter, calling attention to the breed.

Herman Thun of Blaine brought in his herd of five Herefords, Monday, consisting of one bull, two cows and two calves. The exhibition of Herefords is something new here.

The Tillamook Jersey calf club was busy yesterday bringing in calves for exhibition, and have a good big space, which is well filled.

The kids will have new clean sand to play in, in the center of the grounds.

There will be a free exhibition by Cortello's Flying circus at 11 a. m. today. At 10 a. m. the judging of live stock will take place. 7 p. m. Cortello's Flying circus; 7:30, free moving pictures. Music every afternoon and evening by McGhee's orchestra.

The Fair is on. A rousing attendance is looked for today.

CAPT. EARL SNODGRASS WEDS.

Supposed to be a confirmed bachelor, and without giving his friends in either Tillamook or at Bay City so much as a hint of his intent to commit matrimony, Earl departed for Portland the middle of last week, ostensibly on business. But on Monday last he drove in to town with a bride, who formerly was Miss Lillian Bennett of Portland. The wedding ceremony was performed at the home of the bride, by Rev. Dorris of a Portland Congregational church on the 7th inst. The newly weds are spending their honeymoon at Bayocean. Capt. Snodgrass is owner of the Rustler, which plys between Bay City and Bayocean.

STILL IS CAPTURED ON WILSON RIVER

The recent foggy weather was unpropitious for moonlight on the Wilson, and the best the Sheriff and a deputy could do was to make it moonshine on the Wilson. Monday night about 14 miles up that fine fishing stream, arrived at the home of Mrs. Hill, and in a near by, secluded glen, they found an illicit liquor still that was still warm; also mash and liquor, the later being ready to assuage the craving of the fellow who owes his stomach a grudge. Arnold Kinney and Glenn Breneman, were arrested as being the main push, but it is possible that two women who are living at the Hill home may be implicated in the matter also.

TWO DROWN AT NEAH-KAH-NIE LAKE

Mrs. Irene May Pashek aged 25, and her son Neill, 4 years, were drowned in Neah-kah-nie lake after 4 p. m. Thursday last. The twain were not missed until the next morning, when search was made, after finding articles of clothing near the lake. The lake was dragged and both bodies recovered. The theory is that in walking along the narrow path at the edge of the lake, the child fell into the water, and that mother instinct caused the woman to attempt a rescue with the result that both were drowned. The walk is only 13 inches wide at the point where the bodies were found.

The mother and son who were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hunt of Nehalem, left the home of her parents to call on a friend. The route taken home led by the lake.

Mrs. Pashek is divorced, her former husband living in Portland. She also is a resident of that city. Other relatives are Francis Hunt and Vivian Hunt of Nehalem, including A. G. Hunt and wife, parents, who also live in Nehalem.

COUNTY JAIL INMATES ATTEMPT TO SAW OUT

Armed with a case knife which had been converted into a hacksaw, one of the burglars arrested last week named Bouch and his companions, attempted to cut one of the steel bars at a window. Concealed just outside, a deputy sheriff stood and heard the squeaky noise of the saw; and later a boy, aged about eight years old, came around the court house corner with something wrapped up in paper, and was in the act of handing the parcel inside the jail window, when the deputy seized him and took four hack saws away from the messenger, who had been called to the window by Bouch and given a half dollar and asked to get the hacks at a local hardware store. The boy did not realize that he had done any thing illegal, and after telling him to keep away from the jail windows in the future, he was released. The deputies later searched the jail and found the knife hacksaw. While the inmates did not know it, a man has been watching from the outside for some time past, and knew pretty well what was going on. The jail break was a dismal failure.

THIRTY THREE INDICTMENTS

The grand jury for the September term of Circuit court in this county returned a total of thirty three indictments in state cases, which it is believed is the largest number ever returned in this county at any previous session of that body in the history of the county.

Automobiles driven by Capt. Dodge and young Magarrel, collided at the Lamar corner Thursday morning. The Dodge machine was damaged to some extent, but no one was hurt in either car.

GET WHEELER MAN WITH WET GOODS

In the heart of the hillside city of Wheeler, in the dead hours of the night, when owls hooted dismally in the background of that busy burg, and tom cats fought valiantly yet noisily on the water front, three deputies sheriff heeled with the paraphernalia of war, and a rarin' to go, raided a bootlegger roost presided over by one, Oscar Gilfillian, and got the "wet goods on him." Oscar was brought down to the county seat where the mill of the law grinds slowly but surely, and exceedingly fine. Charges of unlawful possession and sale of liquor were filed, and Mr. Gilfillian dug up cash bail to the tune of $750, and will later be an object of investigation by the grand jury, and thus the fine income grows by leaps and bounds.

BARN BURNED WITH HEAVY LOSS

The largest stock barn in Tillamook county on the Daniels estate, one mile below Cloverdale, was totally destroyed at 8:30 on Sunday of last week. The fire originated from spontaneous combustion. The barn cost about $7,000, and contained hay worth $3500. Total loss $10,350. There was $2000 insurance on the barn and $2200 on the hay, amounting to about half of the value of the property and feed. The place was occupied by Joe Rust, who is in charge.

LAST HALF OF 1922 TAXES

The last half of 1922 taxes will be delinquent October 5th. After that date interest penalties will be added to all taxes due the county. Many people are now paying the last half of their taxes, and the tax collector will be busy from now on to the last day of grace.

THREE RIVERS MEN FOUND 'MOONING'

The moonshine business originated down in Kentucky, and since has spread over a large territory, embracing almost, if not every state in the union. Take the profit out of it and nobody would care to make it. But the profit lures, and men take chances, and get in jail and have their autos confiscated and pay stiff fines. Still others try it, and all eventually wind up in jail. Away up in a canyon on Three Rivers, less than half a mile from the mail highway, is the home of Jos. Autermaier, a well-to-do rancher, whose two sons bought a 35 gallon copper still, and went into the moonshine game, with a zeal worthy of a better cause. Forty two gallons of liquor and 350 gallons of mash reposed in the still house Sunday morning last, when the boys came out prepared to run off another batch of the stuff that kicks like a sawed off shot-gun loaded with lead sinkers. Just as the boys were singing an old country folk song, and shooting a few yodels into the canyon sides, secure in their belief that Justice was taking a nap down at the county seat, 28 miles away, Sheriff John Aschim and J. C. Holden, appeared and arrested the sons. And the yodel subsided into a long drawn gasp of surprise. Alas, the still would no longer chortle; the mashy smell would n time evaporate, and 42 gallons of moonshine would go down the sewer at Tillamook.

Saturday night, Leslie Lucas drove Aschim and J. C. Holden up to the vicinity, and they hunted for the still that they believed still stood somewhere. They found it, and stayed in the brush all night. When the boys came out, they nabbed them. The elder Auftemair put up $750 in cash for the appearance of the boys before the grand jury which re-convened, Wednesday.

COW WAS TOO LIFE LIKE

At the Holstein picnic at Cloverdale last week, there was displayed a paper mache picture of a model Holstein cow on the grounds. A little child of Dolph Tinnerstet, thinking the cow a real one, walked up to the pseudo dairy animal and attempted to milk her, and thus furnished the crowd with a good hearty laugh. The constructors of the cow should take that as a real compliment to their splendid work. This episode reminds of the painter who painted grapes so naturally that the birds came to eat them.

FREE FAIR GROUND PICTURES

To night will be given the picture taken from the story that originally appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, entitled: "The Canyon of The Fools," a feature picture, which should please all who see it. It is full of thrills from start to finish, and has action in plenty. It will be followed by "Skylarking," one of Mack Sennett's always laughable comedies. Remember, this show is on the Fair Grounds and is free to the public who attend the Fair.

Wm. Hare and family returned recently from Montesano, where they visited Louie Anderson and family, Geo. Tinnerstet, Louie Nelson, and other former Tillamook people.
