PUBLIC SERVICE COM. MEETS AT BAY CITY

The Oregon public service commission held a hearing at Bay City one day last week acting upon a petition by the S. P. Co. to close one or more crossings over the Southern Pacific right of way on Seattle avenue. The commission took testimony in the matter. The city took the position that damage would be done to the town, and the mayor and city council were present in force, and opposed the petition. The highway travel now has to make two crossings of the railway in order to get back on the main highway a block away. It is understood that the theatre and a part of the big hotel are on the road right of way, and if the lower crossings are abandoned as prayed for by the S. P. Co. those buildings would have to be removed. The S. P. in its petition, however, says if the alleged hazardous crossings are abandoned as a highway, it will grant an easement of right of way 27 feet in width on the upper part of its property which would give the state highway room to build to its northern connection without disturbing the buildings.

Engineer Clark of the state highway and assistant attorney general for the highway department were present, also the State public service commission, Paul Ferrins, attorney for the S. P. Co., and district engineer Benjamin for the S. P. Co.

The public service committee took the testimony and will render its decision later.

OLD PIONEERS WILL ATTEND FAIR

B. C. Lamb and wife, who live in Portland most of the time, have formed a habit of spending a few months each summer on their farm out on South Prairie. Mr. Lamb came to Tillamook county in 1866, and settled near his present farm on South Prairie, where he and wife lived for many years prior to their removal to Eugene, a few years ago. For three years past, they have lived in Portland. Mr. Lamb remembers that when he came to Tillamook that in his community there were but 62 voters, and 30 of them were bachelors. He also recalls an incident that occurred at a neighborhood dance. In the Sixties, the ladies wore a dress attachment that was called a train. Mr. Lamb danced with one of the ladies thus attired, and in some manner accidentally stepped on the train of her dress, with the result that several yards of the gown were left on the ball room floor, which made a lasting impression on his mind.

"After using all the language I could then command in apology," stated Mr. Lamb, "I concluded I would quit dancing."

Mr. and Mrs. Lamb are stopping with their son, Geo. B. Lamb, superintendent of schools, and will attend the fair, where they hope to meet a number of old pioneer friends, and others.

The display is in charge of Harry Topping, factory representative. Considerable interest is being taken in this contest, and many inquiries have been made of the representative, who is glad to answer questions as to this tire's merits.

SAYS ORDER UNCONSTITUTIONAL

In the case of the State of Oregon versus Chas. and Emil Wooley and John Patterson jointly on trial for alleged violation of a notice posted by the authority of the Game commission forbidding fishing less than eight hundred feet below a dam across the Trask river below the state hatchery, last Tuesday, Judge Bagley ruled that the authority of the Game commission to enforce rulings of its own under chapter 66 of the state game laws of Oregon for 1921, was unconstitutional, and directed the jury to find for the defendants, who were acquitted. It is evident, that the game laws will have to be reconstructed so as to give power to the commission by statute, and provision made for such cases as above, where the object was to protect fish that were on their way to spawning places up the river.

The Oregonian statement that forty millions has been raised for this work should not relieve of responsibility, as telegrams from headquarters state that this is an absolute minimum, and that twenty millions more is needed seriously.

MRS. C. J. EDWARDS
Vice President.

CITY WATER PIPE ALL LAID

The new pipe for the city water works, which replaces a lot of old pipe, has been laid, and will be left for a time to soak up before the being covered up permanently. Dr. Strickler, head of the state board of health, who was here recently, inspected the reservoir and the improvements at the dam, and expressed himself as being well pleased with conditions. In answer to a question as to whether the creosote which is used to preserve the pipe would be injurious to the users of the water, it is said no fear should be entertained, as there was no danger of sickness from the creosote.

So soon as the pipe is connected up and finally tested, the water will begin to flow through the new system to the city users.

SEVERAL SENTENCED

wife paroled on both sentences, pending good behavior.

Geo. Russell plead guilty to driving an auto while intoxicated; fined $50. The grand jury is still grinding. The trial jury was dismissed for the term on Wednesday last.

Last, but not least, was the talk given by O. M. Plummer, Manager of the Pacific International Livestock Exposition. Mr. Kunze truly said that Mr. Plummer was to well known to need an introduction. He spoke of the Northwestern Holstein tour to Carnation as an event worthy of mention. He spoke in favor of Boy's and Girl's club work, and in contrasting boys and girls of today and the boys and girls of fifty years ago, he said that unlike the later the boy's calf of today did not become dad's cow. In speaking of the Tillamook Valley he stated that the spirit of dairying was born into its citizens and called attention to County Dairy Inspector Dolph Tinnerstet's two year old daughter who endeavored to milk Mr. Meyer's model Holstein cow during Mr. McArthur's talk.

Mr. Plummer's talk brought the meeting to an end. All the members turned homeward declaring that a good time was had by all.

A Monument to Carelessness

Fire Insurance is a great thing. It pays for property destroyed by fire. A home protected from fire is better than a home in ruins.

That is why you should be interested in the double service this agency renders. It provides you with sound insurance and gives you, in addition, every advantage of the fire prevention organization of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company.

This two-fold protection idea will be explained without obligation on your part.

ROLLIE W. WATSON, Agent, Tillamook, Oregon.
