seemed to be the correct concentrated weight thereof or the weight ascertained by placing the two wheels of any one axle on a platform scale at approximately the center of the platform of such scale in such position that the other wheels of the vehicle do not bear upon the platform of the scales, shall be deemed to be the correct concentrated weight bearing on the surface of the ground at contact with the wheels of such axle as placed upon the scales.

Section 31 Fixing Minimum Thickness of Solid Tires and Prohibiting Metal Coming in Contact With Surface of Highways.—No vehicle equipped with solid tires shall be operated, driven or moved over or upon any of the highways of this state having upon the wheels thereof any tire of a less thickness of solid rubber, or other equally elastic material, or when said vehicle is in motion, insure composition, than will at all times, and maintain a cushion of elastic material between the surface of the highway and every metal part of every wheel of such vehicle. The thickness of such elastic cushion shall be determined by the concentrated weight bearing on the surface of the road at contact with the wheels of any one axle of such vehicle but in no case shall such thickness of elastic material be less than shown in the following schedules:

(a) When concentrated weight is sixty-five hundred (6,500) pounds or less, one (1) inch.

(b) When the concentrated weight pounds and not over eleven thousand is over sixty-five hundred (6,500) (11,000) pounds, one and one-quarter (1 1/4) inches.

(c) When the concentrated weight is over eleven thousand (11,000) pounds, one and one-half (1 1/2) inches. (Laws 1921, Special Session, Chap. 8, Sec. 6)

Section 33 Limiting the Combined Weight of anything Moving over the Highways of the State.—No vehicle, motor vehicle, motor truck, device or thing having a combined weight in excess of twenty-two thousand (22,000) pounds at contact of the rough wheels of any such vehicle with the surface of the highway, or a combined weight of more than seventeen thousand six hundred (17,600) pounds at contact of the two wheels of any one axle of any such vehicle, or of a combined weight of more than twenty-two thousand (22,000) pounds of a device not equipped with wheels, shall not be moved over or upon any highway of this state without the written permission of the state highway commission if a state highway, or of the state highway commission and the county court of the county in which such road is located of a county road. (Laws 1921, Special Session, Chap. 8, Sec. 7.)

Section 34. Use of sleds on Highways Prohibited.—It shall be unlawful to move over or upon any of the highways of this state without having first obtained permission for such movement as and in the manner provided in section 36 of this act for obtaining special permission for the use of said roads in special cases, any sled or other device not moving on wheels.

Section 34-A. Use of Metal Tires Prohibited under Certain Conditions.—No motor vehicle equipped with metal tires and having a combined weight in excess of seven thousand (7,000) pounds bearing on the surface of the road at contact with the four wheels of such vehicle, or a combined weight in excess of thirty-five hundred (3,500) pounds bearing on the surface of the road at contact with the two wheels of any one axle of said vehicle, shall be operated over or upon any state highway or county road of this state without permission. Such written permission shall be obtained in advance of such movement as and in the manner provided by section thirty-five (35) of this act. (Laws 1921, Special Session, Chap. 8, Sec. 8.)

Section 34-B. Dragging Logs Prohibited.—No logs, poles or piling or other thing shall be dragged upon or over the surface of any state highway or county road, without the written permission of the county court, if a county highway, or of the state highway commission if a state highway. (Laws 1921, Special Session, Chap. 8, Sec. 8.)

Section 34-C. Prohibiting Logs Moving Over the Highways.—No logs or piling shall be moved on or upon the highways of this state without written permission. Such written permission shall be obtained as in the manner provided in section thirty-five (35) of this act. (Laws 1921, Special Session, Chap. 8, Sec. 8.)

Section 34-D. Unsupported Loads.—It shall be unlawful to move over any highway of the state of Oregon any vehicle carrying an overhanging or unsupported load extending beyond the last point of support for a greater distance than that equal to two-thirds of the length of the wheel base of the vehicle carrying said load. (Laws 1921, Special Session, Chap. 8, Sec. 8.)

Section 34-E. Trailers and Semitrailers; Coupling Devices.—All trailers or semitrailers shall be equipped with such an efficient coupling device as will not permit said trailer or semitrailer to swing over three inches either way beyond the track of the vehicle furnishing the motive power when operating on a tangent. The highway commission of their authority to determine as to whether or not any coupling device is efficient. (Laws 1921, Special Session, Chap. 8, Sec. 8.)

Section 35. Highway Commission and County Court May grant Special Permits.—Upon receipt of an application for permission to move over any highways of this state, any vehicle, article, property, or thing having a combined weight in excess of twenty-two thousand (22,000) pounds, the state highway commission, in case of state highways, or the county court, in case of county roads, to whom such application may be made, shall investigate the representations made in said application and, if in the Judgment of said state highway commission, in case of state highways, or of such county court, in case of county roads, the interest of the public will be served by the proposed movement, the state highway commission or such county court as the case may be, may grant written permission for such movement, which shall include such terms, rules, stipulations and conditions as said commission or said court, as the case may be, may deem to be necessary or desirable for the public interest; provided, however, protection of the highways and of the that in every such case the state highway commission or the county court as the case may be, shall require the applicant for such permit to furnish a good and sufficient bond or indemnity for any damage to the highways that may be caused by such movement. Said bond shall be in such amount as the state highway commission or the county court, as the case may be, may deem necessary for the full protection of the public interest and shall be filed with the commission or court, as the case may be, granting the authority or permission, as the case may be. No movement of any such vehicle, device or thing shall begin until said permission has been granted and the required bond has been filed and accepted by the highway commission or the county court, as the case may be. The highway commission or the county court, as the case may be, may in its discretion, appoint one of its officers or agents to be present at and during the movement, but the presence of such officer or agent, or any interference or suggestions offered or made by such agent, shall not be deemed to be supervision of the movement, or in any manner to relieve the party to whom such permit has been granted, or the sureties on said bond, from sole responsibility for every damage that may be done by such movement; provided, however that if in opinion of said officer or agent of said highway commission or county

CHAIN GROCERY STORE OPENED SATURDAY

The Skaggs grocery store opened last Saturday in the Harrison building on the corner of Third avenue and Third street. The outside of the store is painted blue and white and there is a good window display room. The main store is 35x65 feet and is filled with all sorts of groceries and household supplies. The warehouse is 40x65, and is being piled high with carloads of goods with additions daily. F. O. Burns is the manager, with Sydney Baker and Lee Cooper as salesmen. Mr. Burns reports a good day on Saturday last and an increasing trade. "We buy by the carload, and in large quantities, and keep down the overhead and are thus able to divide profits with the customer," said Mr. Burns, "and that's why Skaggs has so many stores."

GERMAN EXCHANGE OFFERED FOR SALE

Postmaster W. C. Foster stated this week that the United States had resumed money order relations with Germany, and that any one desiring to send money to that country may do so at the local post office.

Money order business between this country and Germany was closed at the beginning of the late war and has never been re-opened until recently, when the Tillamook office received orders from Postmaster general stating that orders could now be written on German postoffices. The offices in this country will be supplied with special tables relative to money values in Germany, and a colonial exchange over there will determine the number of German marks one may receive in exchange for an American dollar.

The slump of the German mark in value, as measured in American money, is tremendous and when a German citizen gets the value of an American dollar in marks, he has a veritable bale of the old country currency on hand.

W. C. T. U. HOLDS MEETING

Last Tuesday the W. C. T. U. met at the Christian church. There was a large attendance. A very interesting discussion followed on the subject: "The best thing I know about our city government." The next meeting will be held November 13 when Mrs. G. E. Hart will be the leader.

aroused a great deal of resentment in many parts of the state among sportsmen. Walter B. Honeyman, a well known Portland dealer in sporting goods, claims that the shortening of the season was "an outrage and an injustice." I. N. Fleischer, chairman of the game commission, stated that Honeyman's charges were "unjust and uncalled for," and said that he issued the order to close upon the advice of the attorney general. The case of Walter Winslow of Marion county, contending for an open season from September 10 to October 31, was upheld by a Marion county court, but is now on appeal to the supreme court of the state. The Marion county Mr. Winslow, is a brother of Attorney George Winslow of this city.

Gold Medal Cannery selects Gold Seal Boots! This is the one Gold Seal—round and gold colored—not rightfully used by any other organization. FOUR first awards at world's fairs—St. Louis, Portland, Seattle and San Francisco—have come to the Union Fishermen's Cooperative Packing Company of Astoria, Oregon, for the excellence of its canned salmon. This cannery buys Gold Seal Boots for all its employees. A logical choice—for Gold Seals are made of the best pure para* rubber blended with strong woven textiles. They are guaranteed to stay free from cracks. These champion water-resisters are favorites throughout the Northwest—from the camps of the Coeur d'Alenes to the canneries and mines of Alaska. Broad of instep, they insure foot comfort and ease of action. Good Pacific Coast stores can fit you with them. You will also appreciate Gold Seal Oiled Clothing. We are the only and original Goodyear Rubber Company. Portland and San Francisco. *Para rubber is the finest raw rubber from tropical forests and plantations—never used or worked before. Goodyear Gold Seal Rubber Footwear. Authorized since the 19's to use the name of Charles Goodyear, inventor of vulcanizing.
