

RIGHT VOTE IS CAST AT TUESDAY ELECTION

The election passed off quietly in this county, with about a 35 percent turnout. General Apathy was in the saddle.

The day was too fine for many of the farmers to leave their work, and others evidently did not consider the election of sufficient importance.

There were but two measures on the ballot, the income tax referendum, and the local one mill tax proposition to raise money for doing the initial work of improving the new county fair grounds. The vote on the late income tax received 695 votes, and 766 votes were cast against it. The county fair tax received 831 votes, with 576 negative votes. The majority for the county tax being 255.

The vote was canvassed Wednesday night by the board, and the election is now a closed incident.

The one mill tax was the main issue, so far as interest was concerned. Nehalem, Rockaway, Union, Wheeler, Little Nestucca, Cloverdale, Brighton, and Blaine gave majorities against the one mill tax measure, and Garibaldi voted for fair improvement.

Over in Netarts precinct the issue was, shall stock run at large? The voters decided that they should not, by a vote of 11 to 1.

A total of 1461 votes were cast during the election which was about 35 percent of the registered vote of the county.

Tillamook and central Tillamook precincts gave good majorities for the mill tax measure.

It is too early to give an idea of the improvements which the county court may conclude to make, as it will have to meet and decide, probably, in a few days.

Ira G. Lance, president of the fair board, while pleased with the outcome of the vote on the one mill tax, had no statement to make as to any tentative plans of the board, but believed that the buildings on the new grounds would be built under one roof, and modeled after the Pacific International stock show, at Portland.

The Headlight recently predicted a majority of 400 votes for the fair ground tax, while the actual majority was 255.

J. H. ELLISON

J. H. Ellison died at his home in his home in this city November 3, after a protracted illness, aged 79 years, 9 months and 20 days. He was born in Miller county, Missouri, December 23, 1843. Deceased is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ellen Ellison, and one daughter, Mrs. E. A. Wright of San Jose, California.

The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Harry Tucker of Albany, on last Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Christian church. Interment followed in the Odd Fellows cemetery, under the auspices of the local Odd Fellow lodge. The funeral was largely attended, and numbered a few old pioneers, but many of their descendants, and other friends and acquaintances.

J. H. Ellison was well and favorably known. He came to Tillamook in 1875, and settled on the Charley Kunze place, later removing to Tillamook, where he resided for 47 years prior to his death.

Deceased was one of the early Odd Fellows of this city, and county. He remembered that when he first came here there were but two post offices in the county. One at Tillamook, and the other at South Prairie. In the Seventies, Mr. Ellison used to pack goods over the trails to the early settlements on the Nestucca river. He even packed knocked-down stoves on his ponies over the narrow roads ways hewn out by the settlers. He used to relate that he had a pony that knew more about negotiating difficult trails than a man. For many years he and his widow were the only survivors of the old married pioneer

LIBRARY NOTES

(Contributed to the Headlight)

The librarian reports a circulation of 1607 items for October which means many books to handle every day. In addition to the special cards issued to school children, 50 names were added to the register for October. The desk work is necessary, often almost the whole evening is given to assisting patrons of the library in search for special material for some subject being studied. This really makes a library valuable to a community and it is a source of great regret to board that funds do not permit enlargement of the reference collection to meet the growing needs. The fiction readers are keeping a fair collection by their rentals; some late titles being added this month; but there is lack of fund for children and Christmas book.

A very valuable magazine for the parent is 'Child Welfare.' There are many books in the library on children's care and suggested reading and as it is not possible to make any display for 'good book week' the next best will be for parents to read these and get one of the free 'book shelf' for boys and girls' to guide in the selection when gift shopping if buying a Christmas book.

SPECIAL ELECTIONS TO BE THIS MONTH

Taking advantage of the enactment of a law by the last legislature which provides for the cutting up of communities into small road districts, with power to vote special road taxes in each district, independent of the annual county levies, a number of communities in this county are advertising special elections for the purpose of voting road taxes within their districts for improvement of by roads out to the main travelled highways.

Road district No. 13 will vote on the matter of a special road tax on November 10, the amount to be voted not to exceed 10 mills. The money is wanted for road improvement in 1924, and the road meeting will be held in the school house in district No. 38.

District No. 3 will meet to vote a special tax not to exceed $27,000 to be levied for expenditure on roads during the coming year.

Road district No. 19 will also meet to vote a special road tax not to exceed $28,000 for improvement of roads in that district during 1924.

STOCK FEED YIELDS 50 TONS TO ACRE

At the Anderson grocery last Saturday was displayed a number of Danish Sudstrup mangels raised by Sam Blaser out south of town on black Tillamook river soil. Some of the mangels weighed as high as 26 1-2 pounds, and attracted considerable attention on account of their size. These mangels are said to be fine cow feed, and seem to be relished by the animals. It is estimated by Mr. Blaser that this variety of stock feed will go fifty tons to the acre, and that they will materially increase the production of milk, and also save grain feeds to a considerable extent. From the samples seen, it is believed that the soil of Tillamook river bottoms is just the place for this kind of stock feed.

PAUL ERICKSON

Paul Erickson died in San Diego, California, October 24th, 1923, after a short illness. His remains were forwarded to this city for burial. Funeral services occurred in Henkle's chapel last Friday, Rev. Anderson of the Presbyterian church officiating. Interment followed in the Odd Fellows cemetery.

Deceased is survived by his widow, Mrs. Helen Erickson, and a son and a daughter. Eric Erickson, the son, lives on Wilson river ranch with his mother and Mrs. Elikabeth Rapp, the daughter, resides in Seattle, Wash.

Paul Erickson was born in Sweden, February 4th, 1860, and came to the United States in 1883. Previous to his death, he had been a resident of Tillamook county for 34 years, and was well and favorably known.

Sam Vierick is seriously ill at his home in this city, and Masons and Odd Fellows are alternating in assisting during his illness.
