THE MOTH IN THE CANDLE

The moth usually hovers about the candle until it gets singed. R. E. Miller of Garibaldi was picked up and arraigned before the Justice of the peace on a charge of possession of liquor. He plead not guilty, and a trial resulted in his conviction.

While his attorneys were perfecting an appeal, Miller changed his mind and plead guilty. He was fined $150 and the costs of the trial. He was paroled on agreement to pay $25 per month until the score was wiped out, but defaulted after the first payment, and faded away like the fog before a sunburst. Last summer he was again picked up for violation of the terms of his parole. He was given more time to fulfill his obligations, but again vanished into the night. Again he was ordered into custody. While a deputy sheriff was waiting for him to appear from a bedroom, whither he went to change his clothes,

Miller evaporated through the bedroom window. The other day it became known that he was lingering about Garibaldi, and waiting until after high twelve the same deputy grabbed him in bed at home. Now, the violator is in the county jail, where he probably will stay until he serves the fine out. He still owes about 80 days imprisonment.

FINED FOR CONTEMPT

The New Hupmobile
Hupmobile Open Models Can Give You
Real Closed-Car Comfort

Here, at last, is an open car with storm curtain equipment that can quickly transform it into a snug, trim and thoroughly protected closed car.

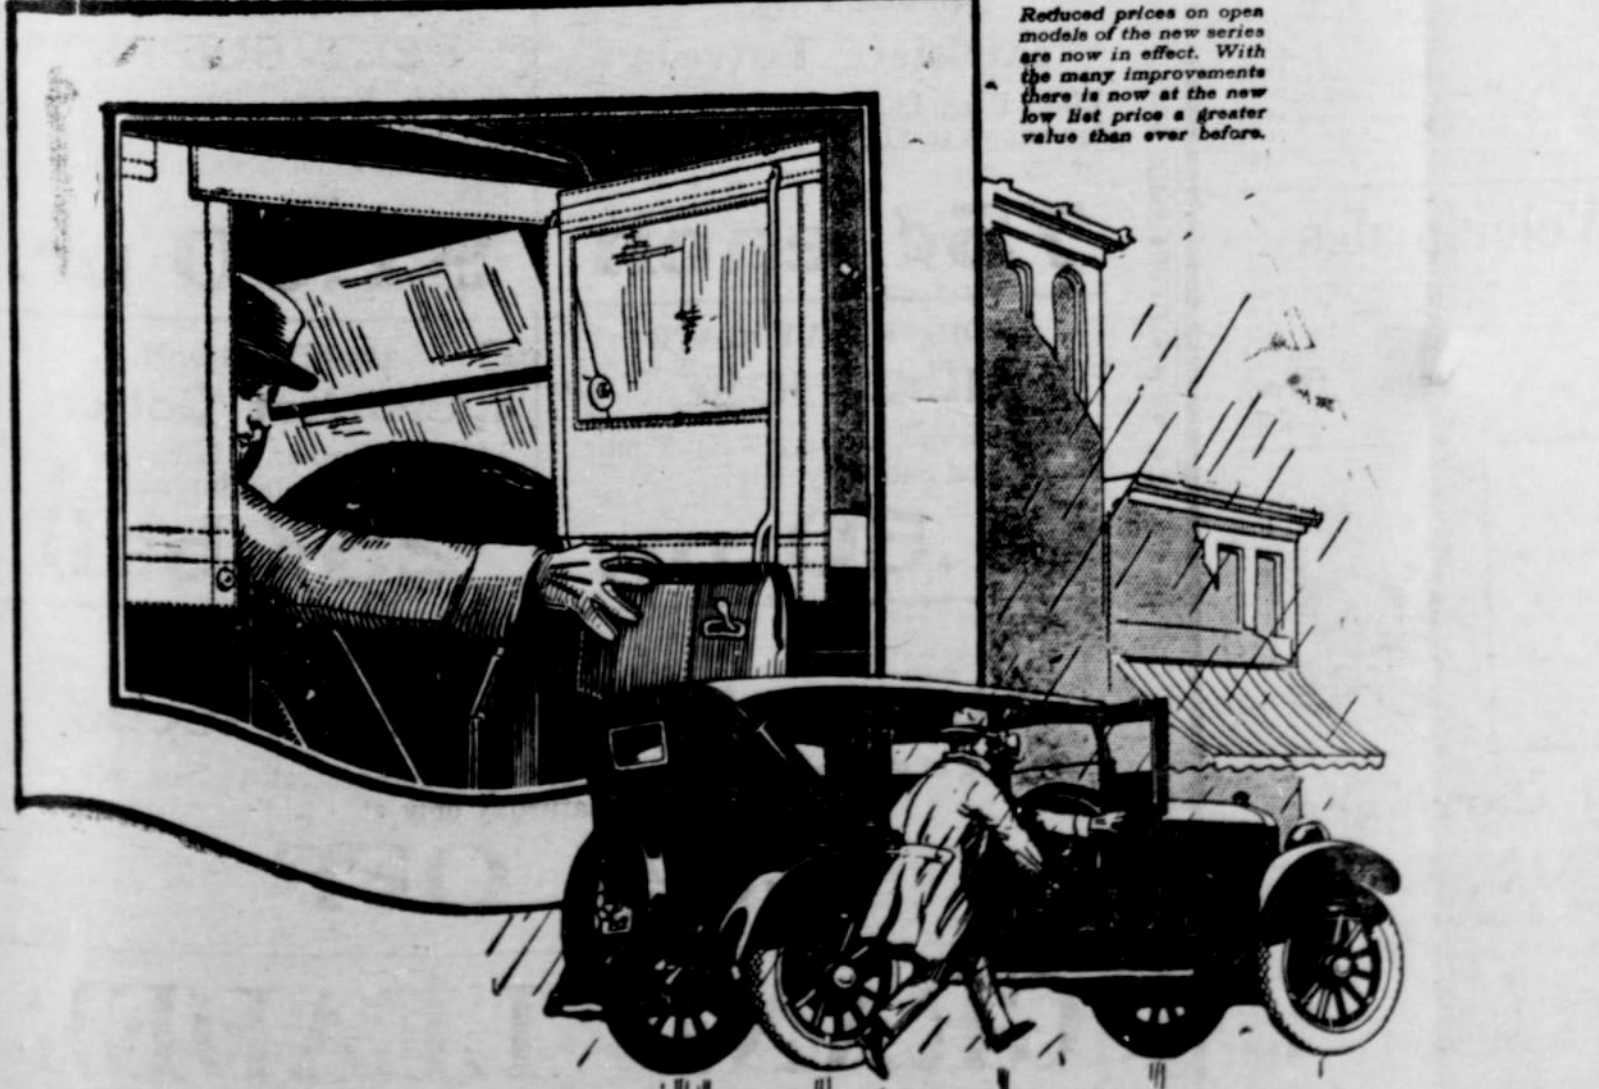

This immensely popular and exclusive feature of the new series Hupmobile touring car and roadster is one of the many reasons for the extraordinary success of these models.

By the application of an original principle of design these curtains not only assure the owner the comfort of closed car protection from rain, wind and cold, but they guarantee him at all times a clear vision and a trimness that hitherto it has not been possible to secure.

These curtains do far more than open with the doors. The secret of their comfort and convenience is the fact that they are metal-framed, stowed flat, never rolled and are handled always in individual flat units.

Thus the curtain lights are never scratched or broken. They are kept flat by the frame—no wrinkling when stored, no sag when in use. Individual units are slipped easily and quickly into and out of their envelope compartment at the back of the front seat.

The curtains can be attached without the necessity of anyone leaving the car and in a fraction of the time ordinarily required for the adjustment of side curtains. Nothing has ever been devised to approach them in their effectiveness, their simplicity and the ease and speed with which they can be installed.

Reduced prices on open models of the new series are now in effect. With the many improvements there is now at the new low list price a greater value than ever before.
