More water to your cows when they want it means more milk More water to your cows when they want it means more milk. The proper way to get results from your cows is to have water before them at all times. Installing sanitary drinking cups not only increases your milk yield but eliminates lots of extra labor. It is a guaranteed fact that you get your money back on an increase in milk in 10 months, besides the saving of labor and inconvenience of having to run the cows out in bad weather.

In the past 20 months I have installed 750 cups and ont one of these could be bought from the user for the money it took to place them in the barn.
