Organization of a new medical school at the University of Chicago has been begun.

Washington, D. C., has been chosen for the summer meeting of the National Education Association. The meeting will be held June 29 to July 5. Delinquency in studies decreased 60 per cent last year at Lawrence College, Appleton, Wis. It is believed by the college authorities that the improvement was largely the result of freshman courses in how to study.

Vocations schools in several Michigan cities have assisted the State organization of parent-teacher associations by printing without charge its monthly bulletin for distribution in their respective districts.

Travel by teachers is encouraged by the board of education of Tulsa, Okla. Every third summer any teacher who spends the vacation time in travel is paid full salary at the same rate per month as in the regular school term. One of every ten members of the faculty of the Pennsylvania State College is devoting virtually his entire time to research work. Thirty men and one woman are investigating problems on agricultural and industrial conditions in Pennsylvania.

Correspondence courses in radio reception and transmission are offered by the engineering extension department of the Pennsylvania State College. More students have enrolled in the radio courses than in any of the other correspondence courses offered by the department.

Kentucky now has a State director of music. The creation of this office by the State superintendent of public instruction is the result of the action of the 1922 legislature, which passed a bill giving music a place in the course of study for all Kentucky schools.

Girl Scout leaders are trained in regular courses at about 90 institutions for higher education in 27 states. More than half of these courses are given by instructors under the supervision of the education department of the Girl Scouts (Inc.) and the rest by regular faculty members or by representatives of local Girl Scout troops. In the courses offered by the Girl Scouts the classes are conducted, as far as possible, in the form of scout-troop meetings.

BONUS QUESTIONS ANSWERED

An Oregon ex-service man asks that the following questions regarding the benefits under the Oregon Soldiers' Bonus Law be replied to through this newspaper:

- 1. If I filed my application for the cash bonus on or before December 31, 1923, but have not taken the cash bonus, can I change it to the loan? YES, you can change it to the loan by writing to the Bonus Commission at Salem, saying you want to change to the loan.
2. If I filed my application before December 31, 1923, and elected to take the loan, can I change it to the cash bonus and how long have I to make the change? YES, you can change to the cash bonus at any time. The law does not say when the change must be made, but the initial application has to have been filed on or before December 31, 1923, in order to make this kind of a change. (Note: The legislature can amend the law and set a date when the cash bonus will have to be accepted or refused.)
3. If I filed my application for the cash bonus on or before December 31, 1923, and subsequently changed to the loan, when must I file my loan application? YES, you can file your loan application at any time up to and including June 30, 1927.
4. If I filed my initial application for the loan after December 31, 1923, and decided to change to the cash bonus, could I do so? NO. You did not file on or before December 31, 1923, consequently you are only entitled to the loan benefits of the law.

5. If I file my initial application for the cash bonus after December 31, 1923, and it was rejected on account of the date it was received, could I have it changed to a loan? YES, by writing a letter to the Bonus Commission requesting the change be made to a loan. In this event you would have until June 30, 1927, to file the loan application, or it could be filed before that date, but not after.

LEGION AFTER ILLITERACY

Reduction of illiteracy in America will be discussed for the first time as a subject at a national conference of representatives of educational movements, to be held in Washington, January 11-14. The American Legion will be one of the principal bodies participating, and one of three sponsoring organizations.

On previous occasions, regional conferences on the illiteracy problem have been held throughout the nation, but heretofore no attempt has been made to consider its aspect as affecting civil welfare. In order that the proposed discussion may be representative, the National Education Association, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and the American Legion, co-operating with the United States Bureau of Education, will join in settling on definite steps to stamp out inability to read and write the English language in all sections of the nation.

The sessions of the conference will be held in the auditorium of the Department of the Interior building. Speakers at the general sessions of the conference will include Dr. John J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education; National Commander John R. Quinn of the American Legion; Miss Olive R. Jones president of the National Education Association; and Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. In addition to these speakers, a number of highly specialized workers and known authorities on educational subjects will address various group-meetings.

In different group-meetings, organization, management and financing of movements for eradication of illiteracy will be discussed. The teaching staff and training of instructors for an organized campaign among illiterates will be taken up by another group. Questions of publicity for such a campaign will be considered separately, as will recommendations for State action.

"The part of the American Legion in such a conference is in accord with the announced principles of the organization," declared Garland W. Powell, the Legion director of Americanism, in speaking of what the legion hoped to accomplish by the movement.

"According to the legion's viewpoint, education is the keynote of American citizenship. Findings of the war, out of which the legion was born, showed an alarming condition of illiteracy in all sections. When the census-takers of 1920 reported that nearly 5,000,000 men and women were unable to read and write, the citizens began to realize what the soldiers had learned, when comrades at their side had to be taught the meaning of the simple commands 'forward' and 'halt.'

"United States stands eleventh in illiteracy among the enlightened nations of the world, yet we speak of it as a nation of enlightenment and progress. If nearly twenty-five per cent of the men drafted for the world war could neither read nor write, as war records show, we can take from those figures that there are four times the illiterates in the nation as reported by the federal census."

By action of the last three annual conventions of the American Legion, the veterans' program of education has become one of its prime movements. Promulgation of this has been carried on through the American Commission, of which Mr. Powell is head, and he claims an important part for the commission's work in recent educational development of the nation.

American Legion workers have already taken the lead in work among illiterates in many communities. One example of this is the work of O. L. Brodenhamer, past department commander of the legion in Arkansas who directed establishment of Legion schools for those unable to read and write. Mr. Brodenhamer headed one of the first regional conferences of illiterates held in the South. In Oklahoma, where the "Jones plan" for volunteer teachers was established under direction of the American Legion's state Americanism Commission, hundreds of men and women were given the opportunity to learn to read and write the English language.

POPULATION IS LARGER

In the local office, about 100 call boxes, and about 100 families getting mail from the general delivery. With a conservative average of four people to each family the number of people residing here can be approximately arrived at.

The Tillamook postoffice has three regular clerks besides a substitute clerk and the postmaster. A rural mail carrier works on a large route circling the city. The possibilities are good that a mail delivery will be instituted in case a change in the train schedule can be arranged so as to get the mail to this city earlier in the evening.

STOP PEACOCKING SIR, AND PUSH

"One minute essays on health by Dr. H. L. Babb"

Uncle Ben Says:

"The feller who slings mud, Nephew, very seldom comes into court with clean hands."

Some men when they reach a certain stage of success, think they have arrived, and begin peacocking. But there is always another step ahead, and with health every man, no matter how far he may have climbed, had better stop peacocking and push.

Health and push go together and there's a way to health that is good—the chiropractic way. It restores the nerve balance of the body and helps to equalize the strength of every link in the chain of health.

Chiropractic spinal adjustments have restored health to sufferers from diseases of the eyes, ears, nose, throat, lungs, heart, stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and lower organs.

These Things Mean Motor Car Value
Improvements in the New Hupmobile Assure Still Longer Life, Still Finer Reliability
The improvements in the new Hupmobile illustrate how this car has earned, through 15 years of intensive chassis development, the reputation of being a fine car at a low price.
Certain details make the new car more beautiful, more smart and dashing, than ever—but the most extensive betterments are in the vital units, such as the motor, the clutch, the transmission.
Hupmobile engineers have in this new Hupmobile given most thought now—always to the things that: for still longer life, still more consistent and brilliant performance, still greater power and smoothness.
You will quickly note the sensation of coasting or cutting—an effect produced by perfect balance of the motor, the heavier and counter balanced crankshaft; the 20 per cent larger bearing area; the light weight alloy pistons, the increased power.
Note the still greater ease with which this Hupmobile responds to its control. Note, too, that the new two-plate clutch affords silent gear changes at all speeds.
The new Hupmobile is even quicker on the trigger than any Hupmobile before it. It is like a panther in traffic, skimming smoothly, slowly along when you must, leaping forward like a flash when the way is clear.
Easy-riding as the Hupmobile has always been, this new Hupmobile—in front and rear alike—outdoes all of its predecessors, in bump-absorbent spring action and restful riding.
Comfortable as the Hupmobile has always been, this new Hupmobile is more roomy and affords greater convenience to driver and passengers alike.
These are the high points of new Hupmobile performance—a positive promise to the public from the Hupp Motor Car Corporation which fifteen minutes' experience will prove to your delight and satisfaction.
