

CUPID IS A BUSY LAD

Cupid, that sly little imp, is quite busy over in this section, and is doing some heart shooting that has resulted in a number of marriage licenses, and marriages the past few days. From the clerk's journal we take the following hymeneal activities:

Lloyd and Olla L. Kinnamon were married on the 12 inst. by Rev. W. C. Woodruff, pastor of the T. B. church.

Rudolph Zweifel and Barbara Zweifel were married on the 15th inst. by Rev. W. G. Lienkaemper, pastor of the Reformed church in this city.

Alvin Blum and Audra C. Rowland were given a license to wed on the 22nd inst.

FRANK HEYD

Frank Heyd was born April 26, 1877 near Kirksville, Mo., and died at Tillamook, Oregon, January 23, 1924 at the age of 46 years 8 months and 28 days.

He attended the rural schools and the state normal school at Kirksville, Mo., from which institution he graduated in 1902. After teaching a year he attended the University of Missouri, lacking only a few hours of graduation when he was forced to leave because of failing health in 1904. He spent about four and a half years with a portrait company, traveling over many states. On February 4, 1909 he was united in marriage to Fredericka Altheide of Evansville, Ind.

Shortly after he worked with the International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, Pa., with headquarters at East St. Louis, Ill. He remained with them until 1910, when he resigned and came to Portland, Oregon, where he took up cabinet work and later carpentry. After working about two years in Portland he was sent to Tillamook, Oregon in 1912 to work on the Tillamook County bank building, and after a time was made foreman of the job, which he carried to completion. From that time on he was actively identified with the building industry of Tillamook. Many buildings of all kinds in the county and the city testify to his industry. Among these are many of the larger concrete buildings in Tillamook.

In early manhood he joined the Presbyterian church of Kirksville, Mo. A few years later he was elected and ordained ruling elder of that congregation.

About 1905 he was raised to master mason in a Kirksville Lodge of A. F. and A. M. After moving to Tillamook, he transferred his membership to the local lodge. Here he became an active worker and served his time as Worshipful Master of the local lodge. He also served as Worthy Patron of the local Eastern Star. He took the degrees of the Royal Arch Masons at Tillamook and the Council degrees under Washington Council of Portland. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias of Tillamook.

The principles and ideals which inspired his membership in church and lodge formed the woof and warp of his being. They determined his actions and dealings with his fellow men. His was a life of service and he leaves a host of friends who though they miss him will be inspired by his lofty idealism.

Besides his widow, Fredericka Heyd, he leaves of immediate relatives an aged father Jacob Heyd of Kirksville, Mo., one sister, Mrs. Homer V. Propst of Kirksville, Mo., and two brothers, Ora Heyd of Kirksville, Mo., and J. W. Heyd of Tillamook, Oregon.—Contributed.

PYTHIAN LODGE INSTALLED BY G. C.

Grand Chancellor of the Oregon Pythians, Claude M. Barrick, performed the rite of installation for the newly elected officers of Marathon Lodge, last Monday night at the hall of that order. It is not often, that two grand lodge heads in the same town or city perform similar installation work in their own lodges during the same week. In fact, the writer never heard of a like occurrence in the history of fraternal or other orders. There was a large attendance of members of the order on the occasion. The list of those inducted into office follows:

C. C. Louis M. Andrews; John Zeller, V. C.; George Harness, Prelate; Paul Disney, M. of W; Carl Wilhelm, M. at A; C. H. Coe, K of R.; M. T. Oathout, M. of F.

K. K. K. NOTABLES VISIT HERE

Fred L. Gifford, Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan of Oregon, and wife, accompanied by Tom Akers, the new editor of the Western American, the official Klan paper of this state, were in the city Wednesday night, with headquarters at the Tillamook hotel. Mr. Akers assumes editorial control of the above paper this week, and is said to be an able newspaper man. Lem Devers, the founder and former editor of the paper, has sold out his interests in the American to accept management of a daily in one of the southern states. A large number of the Tillamook clan welcomed the visitors.

E. E. Montague of Lebanon, a public accountant, is putting in a new system of book county book keeping in the office of the county clerk, which is being installed by Clerk Bidmihal.

Harry Ramage, a prescription druggist at Lamar's drug store, and wife spent a couple of days in Portland this week. Mrs. Ramage will visit in Portland for a few days after Mr. Ramage's return home.

MAJOR MAYO COMING

naturally should excite interest.

But the real object of the invitation, likely is in the nature of a social "get acquainted with each other" occasion. The club has been active in the work of aiding bay improvement, and in view of channel possibilities, probably wishes its social good will for the man who may have the above work in charge. Just what the Major will talk about, may later be revealed, but his entertainment, in any event is good propaganda work.

GUARD COMPANY WINS GAME

In a basketball game between Company K of this city and the Cloverdale Bearcats Wednesday evening at the school gymnasium the soldiers won over their opponents 25-16. The guardsmen have not always been so fortunate in their basketball games this season.

SEEN ON THE STREETS

H. A. Bell of Nehalem, transacted business in this city Wednesday.

Max Crandall, the well known public accountant, was in the city this week, on business. Mr. Crandall is one of the best known public accountants in the state, and his home is at Hillsboro.

Raymond Johnson, a brother of Mrs. G. A. Reesher of this city, who has been visiting in Tillamook for a month past at the Reesher home, left last Wednesday for his home town in Kansas, with an excellent impression of Tillamook county and people. Mr. Johnson made the trip out here by automobile, and has seen every place of interest in the county since he came.

Many changes in business in Tillamook have occurred thus far this winter, and new faces are becoming common in the business places of the city. Among the latest changes is that of new proprietors of the Star restaurant, which was purchased recently from Mrs. George Hodges. The new owners come from Portland, and recently were in business in Camas, Wash. The Hodges are now in Burns, where Mr. Hodges has an interest in the electric light plant of that growing Inland Empire city.

COMPANY K WINS CUP

the success of Company K Sunday morning, and forgot to butter his toast for breakfast, and we have it that he danced the Highland fling, and nearly upset the breakfast table.

Asked about the contributing causes to the splendid record made by his company, Capt. Shearer swelled all up, and yelled:

"Contributing —" The boys did it themselves! They deserve all the credit! The officers don't claim anything along the line. It was a victory by the boys and for the boys. We take a back seat!"

Let us have a word, Captain. Company K is composed of the best material in Tillamook county. Many of its privates are Tillamook business men—men of education and pride, and besides the whole company is an organization of morally clean, upstanding men, full of patriotism and community, and state and national pride, and their hearts are in the work, and that's why they won out.

Simple enough, when you know the facts. And we might add that few companies in the state if any, are the equal of the Tillamook company physically.

While General Geo. A. White, commander of the Oregon units, has no pets in his organization, we believe that down in his heart, he has a mighty warm feeling for company K, and why shouldn't he? The boys made good.

Part of this picture was filmed at Cape Mears, in Tillamook county.—Adv.
