born maidens ought to take courage and propose to a bunch of the ever eager, but bashful boys. In this way the county could make a better showing in the matrimonial line.

AMERICAN CHARITY ALONE CAN SAVE

German Children Facing Starvation; Oregon Is Raising $100,000 to Help Them.

The very latest official word from headquarters of the American Committee for Relief of German Children, of which Major-General Allen, commander of the American troops on the Rhine during occupational days, is national director...

Economic breakdown, valueless money and other things combine to make of this situation one of the most appalling in the world's history. Babies as innocent of wrongdoing as any ever born are going to die for lack of food unless America saves them.

"Oregon will do its share, which has been placed at $100,000," said Robert H. Strong, of the firm of Strong & MacNaughton, Portland, who was state director for the Hoover food relief campaign for Europe here in 1921...

"Word is reaching our headquarters, 715 Corbett building, that the whole state is aroused; that our people everywhere are deeply affected by the sad conditions with which German children are faced, and that they are ready to respond with their money to alleviate this terrible suffering. All possible speed should be made in this work and we are organizing in every section of Oregon to that end. I appeal on behalf of the innocent ones for hearty co-operation, for prompt and liberal response in money to the cry for aid that has gone up."

SITUATION IS PITIABLE Oregon Methodist Bishop Appeals for Aid for Starving German Children. Bishop W. O. Shepard of Oregon, with headquarters in Portland, is a keen sympathizer with and supporter of the efforts now in progress throughout the state and nation to collect a fund of money for the relief of starving German children...

"I can readily appreciate the situation in Germany," said Bishop Shepard. "With others, I made quite a study of conditions in Europe, including Germany, in 1920. It was then apparent that just such a situation as now exists would develop. That millions in Germany and elsewhere would enter the winter without sufficient food was news that did not surprise me at all. It is a pitiable situation, one which deserves deep sympathy and response from those who are able to help, for it should never be that little ones who have had no possible connection with what has happened over there should suffer thus. They are paying a terrible penalty for something they knew nothing of. It all goes to show how terrible is war."

BOOTLEGGER CASTLES VS. POOR MAN' SHACK

The dispatches tell of two home-steeders up in Eastern Oregon, who caught with stills, were given terms of imprisonment running from one year in one case, to two years in another case, in the state prison. The homes of these men are "shacks," while the home of the big wholesale moonshiner is his "castle." It makes a big difference who the moonshiner is. The state agent recently made a raid on a moonshine party in one of the small homes of Portland, and there went up a howl like that of a coyote afflicted with the mauge. The state agent had to return the whiskey to the big-bug in Portland, and was severely censured by the Portland press for his insolence in breaking up a select party of grandees in their innocent pastime of breaking the law. This fellow had lots of money. The poor home-steeders of Eastern Oregon had no assets in sight, and hence got the limit. The moral is that if you are rich you are exempt from the operations of the law. If poor, may the God of Jacob and Isaac help you, no one else will.

RIVERS ARE RAISED BY HEAVY RAINS

The late heavy rains, hurled inland by gusty southwest winds, have raised the rivers of this county almost to a flood stage. The rains have been accompanied by quite a high temperature, springlike in its character. The records of the weather-man at Portland, show that we are still quite a bit behind in rainfall for the year just past, and the rain-god seems to be making a good start in 1924. Previous to the late rains the rivers were quite low in this county, so low in fact, as to cause comment from old timers, who say such conditions are unusual at this time of the year.
