PREVENT DISEASE, SAYS VETERINARIAN

Foot and Mouth Disease Effects Several Kinds of Animals

WATCH PACKING STRAW

Control is Had by Means of Slaughter of Animals in Other States Effected by Disease

County veterinarian, Dr. J. N. ... gave out the following inter- view this week, when asked, concern- ing the nature and effects of the "hoof and mouth" disease which just now is such alarming aspects in our sis- ter state of California:

"The foot and mouth disease affects cattle, horses, sheep, hogs, and goats, and also human beings. The cause of the disease is not definitely known. It is supposedly produced by a germ so small that it cannot be seen with the aid of a high power microscope. The disease manifests itself by the development of sores on feet, in the mouth, and sometimes on the udders. These sores first appear as small blis- ters, which rupture, and form large ulcers or sores."

The disease is accompanied by a se- vere fever, loss of appetite condition. The disease is spread in a great many ways; the most common carriers are infected animals, such as cats, dogs, birds, and also by human beings. The virus from infected premises are also very dangerous. The present outbreak in California was supposedly started by feeding garbage from sea-going vessels. This garbage became infected with a food gathered in foreign ports."

Extreme care should be used in the disposal of hay or straw used in packing of materials shipped into the county by merchants and grocers. If anybody is uncertain as to the danger connected with such materials, the county veterinarian would con- sider it a favor to be consulted.

This disease does not have a very high mortality rate, except in cer- tain outbreaks; the mortality running from three to forty per cent. The disease is not so much from the animals die, as it is from the effects on a great number of animals infected. The disease spreads very rapidly, and its course in about three weeks; at the end of that time the animal is in such a condition that it is no longer fit for dairy purposes."

This is why the policy of slaugh- ter has been adopted by the U. S. government, and it is due to this policy that the country has been free of this disease, since 1916."

UNION ELECTION TICKET NAMES ABE LINCOLN

M. Austin of this city brought this office the other day a scrap- book kept by his mother, which con- tained among other selections of poetry and prose, current sixty years ago, a ticket that was voted in Ore- gon, November 8, 1864. The ballot was entitled: "Union Election Ticket: president, Abraham Lincoln of Illinois; for vice president, Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee. Electors for the state of Oregon: Geo. Woods, Clatsop county; H. N. George, Linn county; J. F. Gezeley, Douglass coun- ty."

This ticket was set up by A. M. Austin's father, Carnellius Austin, of Portland, who was by trade a printer, and who worked on vari- ous papers of that city. When this ticket was published, the printer was work- ing for the Portland Times, from which the ticket was clipped by Mr. Austin's mother, who preserved it in a scrap- book, now the property of A. M. Aus- tin of this city. The paper is a bright yellow, and both the paper and the ink thereon, is well preserved. It is much prized by the owner as a relic of the time when the "Great Emancipator" was a candidate for president. The mother is dead, and Carnellius Austin, the father, died in Salem, Oregon, on Monday, March 10, 1924, aged nearly ninety years.

DAIRYMEN RAISE FUND TO FIGHT MARGARINE

Tillamook County Said to be First to Take Definite Action on Sale of Oleo

At a meeting held in this city last Wednesday which was largely attend- ed, sponsored by the Tillamook County Cow Testing association, the com- mittee appointed by the association reported that the dairymen of the county had raised a fund of $1200 to be sent to the Oregon Dairy Pure Products association to be used in fighting the sale of oleomargarine and other butter substitutes in this state. Resolutions from all the cattle as- sociations of this county were read, asking that the cheese factory rep- resentatives and directors donate Tillamook's quota for the above pur- pose in the coming campaign. This was considered the best way to raise the money.

Chester A. Mulkey, chairman of the Oregon Pure Dairy Food Products association was present at the meet- ing, and made a talk to the dairymen and cattle club men present. He told of the coming campaign, which he said would be an exciting one, as the oleo people were not asleep. Refer- ring to this county, he said:

"Tillamook county has been the first county in the state to take defi- nite action against the sale of oleo- margarine products in this state. And if it shall be the first county to raise its quota for the state fund to oppose the sale of oleo in Oregon, it will have earned a notoriety worth while; tak- ing into consideration the fact that heretofore, Tillamook county has been looked upon as one of the best patrons of oleomargarine butter substitutes in the state; and notwithstanding the further fact that Tillamook county is regarded as one of the foremost dairy counties in the northwest, not only in the matter of dairy production, but in the high class of its dairy stock."

TEACHERS' MEETING ON AT CLOVERDALE

A teachers' institute will be held at Cloverdale next Saturday. President J. S. Landers of the State Normal school, and assistant state Superin- tendent of schools, W. M. Smith of Salem are scheduled to address the institute during its session. A large attendance of teachers is expected, and an interesting time is looked for by teachers in the south end of the county.

JOHNSON VS. BERNIS HAS BEEN REVERSED

The civil suit of E. and Harry John- son against John Bernis, and the lat- ter's brothers, Martin and William, in the latter part of 1922, in which Judge Bagley gave a decision for the Bernis on an interpretation of the law involved in the case, has just been decided on appeal to the Supreme court of the state, in favor of the John- sons, over-ruling Judge Bagley. Botts & Winslow, were attorneys for the John- sons, and were notified of the deci- sion last Wednesday, but had not at that time, received a copy of the decision. The case attracted consider- able interest at the time, owing to the peculiar interests involved in the suit which was for the recovery of cer- tain moneys paid on a farm purchased from the Bernis by the Johnsons.

MUST DISPLAY SIGNS REGARDING NATIVITY

There is much inquiry on the part of aliens, or unnaturalized persons in this county, concerning the provisions of the new alien law passed by the last legislature. The law provides that when the applicant gets his license, if he be an alien, he must sign a clause in the license which makes it obligatory on his part to display in the window or other public place in any hotel, lodging house, dance hall, store or pool room, etc., setting forth the nativity of the proprietor and of his help, before he begins business. This also applies to those who are al- ready in business who are aliens.

NEW WATER SYSTEM READY BY JULY FIRST

New Main to Enter City at East Side, Asserts Commissioner

Increased Flow of Water from Killam Creek Expected to Lower Insurance Rates

At a meeting of the Tillamook city water commission the latter part of last week, it was definitely decided to extend the 18-inch steel pipe line, now connected up with the reservoir a distance of two miles from the in- take, on to this city, a distance of four miles, from where it connects with the two mile installation made last year.

The members of the water com- mission will go up to the reservoir to look over the matter of providing for the enlarged pipe, and will take mea- surements, to be followed by a sur- vey of the new line, after which actual construction will begin. It is believed that under average weather conditions, the new 18-inch pipe can be laid and made ready for service by July first, or not later than August first.

"There is a strong likelihood," states Elmer Hoag, superintendent of the water company, "that the new (Continued on page 2)

WANT ROAD OUTLET, SAY HOMESTEADERS

Stanley Coates, county surveyor, put in several days recently survey- ing out a county road from the mouth of Testament creek to the Hibbs place, on the Big Nestucca river. Most of the people up there are homesteaders, who wanted the county to make a survey, so that they might do enough work on the new road to give them an outlet to another road that leads from the road just surveyed to McMinnville.

Mr. Coates states that the "Woods or rather, the mountains, up on the headwaters of the Nestucca, are full of homesteaders and settlers, who have taken up railroad land design- ated for that purpose by the govern- ment." The land mentioned is a part of the old railroad land grant taken away from the S. P. company and originally got from the old O. & C. railroad.

JERSEY CATTLE CLUB HOLDS BIG SESSION

Favorite Subject of Tillamook Dairy- men at Present, Oleo, is Again Discussed

The county Jersey Cattle club held an interesting session at Fairview grange hall the latter part of last week. There was a large attendance, and a good business and social meet- ing resulted. Wm. Maxwell was chairman of the meeting.

Chester Mulkey, president of the Oregon Jersey cattle club was pres- ent, as also was Ivan Laughary, ex- secretary of the state club. Mr. Mulkey talked on the menace of oleo products to the Oregon dairyman, in part, as follows:

"The oleomargarine manufacturers claim that the expulsion of their products will throttle Oregon industries. But the facts are that there is only one oleo factory in the state of Ore- gon, and that employs not over twen- ty-five men, with an approximate in- vestment of $25,000 in the plant. On the other hand, the dairy industry in this state, which seeks protection of state legislation, represents 25,000 dairy farms and 25,000 employees, with a total annual income of $20,000,000."

The speaker further said: "Twenty cents spent for real cow butter buys more of the elements (Continued on page 5)

FIRE IN CHIMNEY BRINGS OUT ENGINE

A chimney fire at Kasper Zweifel's residence at Eighth street and First avenue, brought out the fire com- pany at about three o'clock last Sat- urday. The fire was communicated by the fire to the wall paper in a room through which the chimney passed, and had started quite a little blaze when discovered. Neighbors had succeeded in getting it under control when the fire engine arrived, and the fire boys completed the work. The damage, however, was slight.

COUNTY HI SCHOOLS WILL BE INSPECTED

W. M. Smith of Salem, assistant state Superintendent of schools, was here yesterday and today engaged in visiting the several county high schools of the county with county Superintendent George B. Lamb. It is expected that the work in this county will be covered during the two days allotted, states Superintendent Lamb.

TWO NEW DIRECTORS WITH ASSOCIATION

Meeting of Cheese People Wednesday, With All Directors There

JOHN SCHILD RESIGNS

Organization Urges Dairymen to Take Every Precaution Against Cattle Disease

A meeting of the directors of the Tillamook county creamery associa- tion was held at the association rooms on April 2nd, when were pres- ent the entire twenty-five directors.

Report of Inspector Christensen showed 5101 triplets and 28,192 loaf inspected. Of these, 23 triplets and 153 loaf were seconds.

Report of Deputy and Food Com- missioner Tinnerstett showed 78 in- spections—11 factories and 67 dairies; 42 herds tested for tuberculosis; none not tested.

Resignation of John Schild as director was read and accepted. Mo- tion made and carried, "That this association does hereby extend to John Schild sympathies of these directors on account of his illness."

J. J. Rupp and James Williams were sworn in as new directors.

The following resolution was adopt- ed: "That this association recommend to the dairymen of Tillamook county, that in view of the foot and mouth disease being prevalent in California, that all precautions possible be taken to the ends that said disease be not (Continued on page 7)

POLK COUNTY SHERIFF MAKES HAUL AT DANCE

Sheriff Orr and four deputies, hear- ing that moonshine was shining like a full moon over at the dances at New Grand Ronde, between Tillamook and Sheridan, swooped down upon a crowd-hop at the latter place on the last day of blustering March; and nabbed five young bucks of that sec- tion, with vials of moonshine in their hip-pockets, and took them to Dallas, where a waiting justice of the peace imposed fines all the way from $10 simoleons up to $75. One of the bunch, a Grand Ronde Indian, had not the value of the fine in coin of the realm, and while his white brethren paid their fines and departed wiser and sadder, the Indian is laying out his sentence in the solitude of the Polk county jail, and wondering why it is that a white can raise the price of his fine, when an Indian cannot.

BRIDGE CONTRACTS ARE LET BY COUNTY

Overhead Crossing at Wheeler and New Bridge over Foley to be Built

The county court at 10 a. m. last Wednesday opened bids previously ad- vertised for, concerning the construc- tion of the overhead crossing at Wheeler, and for the building of a new bridge at the Carr place on the Miami road.

The overhead crossing at Wheeler, which connects the city of Wheeler and the Roosevelt highway with the dyke road leading from Nehalem, was awarded to Wood & Steinbach of this city for $10,598. That being the low- est bid. Other bidders were $14,200, $12,848, and $14,200. Woods & Stein- bach are residents of this city and county.

The contract for the building of the high trestle over the Foley, at the Carr place, which has become unfit on account of its age, and which will be over 100 feet in height, was let to Mallory & Savery of Cloverdale for $1,344, with other bids running as high as $1,685.

The building of the overhead, de- scription of which has before appear- ed in these columns, will connect Ne- halem up with the beach road section of the Roosevelt highway, and materi- ally lessen the mileage from Tilla- mook to Nehalem and to Seaside and Astoria, at the same time avoiding the hill road up the Miami valley and over the mountain to Mohler. But be- fore this route is available for travel, the mile stretch of uncompleted Roosevelt highway between Jetty creek and Brighton will have to be completed, which it is believed will be done this summer.

Both contracts were given to Tilla- mook county men, who were the low- est bidders.

It is understood that the successful bidders for the two pieces of county work will begin building activities at once.

BARVIEW PIONEER IN EIGHTIETH YEAR

L. C. Smith of Barview last week celebrated his eightieth birthday. Mr. Smith was a sea captain at one time and sailed schooners over the Tilla- mook bar along the coast. At present he has about 300 acres of land ad- joining Barview, and has a handsome home on the beach at that place.

TRASK ROAD SURVEY WILL BEGIN AT ONCE

Earl Hobbs, the man who has been selected by the counties of Washing- ton, Yamhill and Tillamook to make a survey of the proposed "short-cut" route from Cherry Grove to Tilla- mook, was in the city last Wednes- day, in conference with the Tillamook county court. It is understood that Mr. Hobbs with a force of assistants, will begin the work of the Trask sur- vey at once, beginning at Cherry Grove and coming westward. It is believed that the work will be completed at the end of three months from the time of beginning. While born and reared in Washington county, Mr. Hobbs, who was accompanied by his wife, confessed that he had never seen the Pacific ocean, and that on this occasion he proposed to go over and take a view of it.

HOLSTEIN CHAMPION IS OREGON OWNED

Oregon's new champion Holstein cow for the production of butter in ten months as a senior two-year-old is Josephine Segis Walker Sass of the A. J. Evers herd at Forest Grove. Her record, as announced by the ad- vanced registry department of the Holstein-Friesian association of America, is 14,835.5 pounds milk and 467.6 pounds butterfat—equal to 598.2 pounds butter.

As a consequence of this record she displaces the former state leader in this class, Enid Gold Dust Crown 2d of the J. A. Lindow herd at Portland, who a short time previously complet- ed a record of 12,830.5 pounds milk and 569.5 pounds butter.

NEW FAIR GROUNDS WILL BE PREPARED

Portland Architect Inspects Place With View of Preparing Plans

FUNDS THO'T ENOUGH

Planned to Have Whole of Exhibits Under One Roof, as at Pacific-International

George B. Lamb of the fair board stated this week that the matter of getting the new fair grounds in shape for the fair this fall is being pushed along as fast as possible, and that there is a very good present outlook in that direction.

Fred J. Webber, the architect, of Portland was here Monday and looked over the grounds and made himself familiar with the wants of the fair board regarding the buildings which will be put up this year. In a short time it is believed that he will have the plans for the buildings to be con- structed this year in the hands of the fair board, when bids will be ad- vertised for the erection and comple- tion of the buildings. Mr. Webber, the architect, is the person who designed the Pacific International Live Stock building in North Portland, and the Tillamook county fair buildings will be largely patterned after the Inter- national buildings, but of course on a much smaller scale; but the whole of the buildings and sheds will be under one roof.

It is planned to build such buildings this year as will answer for the coming fair, and Mr. Lamb says the construction will be held within the amount of the sum appropriated by the special tax for that purpose last year, and other buildings will not be considered this year.

He thinks there will be sufficient funds available to construct needed buildings this year, and that the board will be able to hold a good fair this fall on its own ground, and on be made in the future, so that the ground that is paid for. Additions can whole of the divisions will come under one roof, as above stated.

The fair grounds will be enclosed with the Page field fence, which is 48 inches in height, with one wire on the bottom and two on the top, making it practically six feet high. The old upright plank fence system will not be used.

A race track, circular in form and compassing an entire distance of one-half mile, will be got in readiness for the races this fall. A dirt track will be used this year. The track will be completed when more money is avail- able for the purpose.

TRASK SURVEY COST BORN BY COUNTIES

A meeting was held in Portland on the 28th inst. concerning the Trask river route from Portland to Tilla- mook. There were present from Tilla- mook county commissioners Alley and Richards, and Kewanis representa- tives, H. H. Rosenberg, R. B. Miller C. I. Clough and H. T. Botts.

The state commission was asked previously to make a survey of the new route, but refused. At this meet- ing which was also attended by coun- ty officials from Washington and Yam- hill counties, and club representatives from Hillsboro and Forest Grove, it was decided that the three counties would jointly stand the expense of the Trask river route survey.

It was decided that Earl Hobbs of Hillsboro be employed to make the survey, getting started as early as possible this year. Just as soon as possible the engineer will begin the work on what will be the shortest route from the metropolis of Oregon to the great Roosevelt highway, and Tillamook will be the connecting point.

E. M. Condit has recovered from a severe attack of the flu, and is able to be about again.
