

ABOUT THE TOWN

A telephone message was received in this city Wednesday last from Dr. Thomas Ross, a member of the state fish commission in which he stated that Netarts bay would hereafter be closed to commercial fishermen as to clams and crabs. Tourists and home guard people, however, will be allowed to take a reasonable number of both kinds of shell fish for immediate consumption. Dr. Ross further stated that clams would no longer be allowed for bait for commercial fishermen. The taboo applies only to Netarts bay and Oceanside, and was influenced no doubt by a resolution sent in to the state body by the new game club in this county, whose headquarters are in this city.
