POLITICAL WINDUP DUE

(Continued from page 1) when timber affairs are talked about, still quite a bit of suspicion is directed against any one connected with the timber business.

A. G. Beals has just returned from a tour of this senatorial district and brings back a very favorable report as to his candidacy for joint senator. He states that the only opposition he finds is from the timber interests.

He expressed himself as being very much surprised at this opposition, as industry is a great industry in this district, and it is far from his intention if he were to be elected to the state legislature, to do anything other than further this great industry in every honorable way. He states, however, that if the opposition is due to the fact that he favors a just and equitable distribution of the tax burden in this county he has no apologies to make.

Mr. Beals has served three terms in the legislature and was the author of and introduced the measure known as The Beals Timber Assessment Bill. This bill provided that the owners of timberland be required to furnish a cruise or list of their timber as a basis for taxation.

The farmer under the existing law is compelled to furnish such a list, subjecting his property to taxation, even to the chickens and dog upon the farm. He says, therefore, that he sees no reason why the existing law as applied to farmers should not be applied to timberlands.

His bill passed the house with only three dissenting votes and was beaten in the senate, due to vigorous opposition by a powerful timber lobby, by only two votes. The Oregonian in summing up the legislation for the 1909 session of the legislature editorially said, "the Beals Assessment Bill was one of the seven most meritorious measures introduced at that session of the Legislature."

Mr. Beals states, that had this bill, that was beaten by so small a margin, been enacted into law, hundreds of thousands of dollars would have been saved the state that have been spent for timber cruises.

Tillamook county alone has expended $100,000.00 in procuring cruises, could, in the judgment of Mr. Beals, be avoided, had this bill been enacted into law.

The Headlight wishes to say, that in view of the fact that Mr. Beals has resided in this county for over thirty-three years and has every dollar he has in the world invested here, no one need have any fears that he will not at all times work for the best interests and upbuilding of the county. During this long period of time he has been actively engaged in dairying and lumbering, the two most important industries of the county and this evidence with his sound judgment, splendid business ability, honor and integrity should commend him to the voters of this district.
